Little Politics.
A Real King.
A Rich City.
Pulling a Coolidge.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

(Copyright. 1928.)

DR. WORK, who knows this country well, says Hoover will break the solid South, carrying several states there. Mr. Raskob says the Democrats will carry Pennsylvania. You will know in a few weeks.

Wall Street bets even that Gov. Smith will carry New York. Recently the "Street" bet 2 to 1 on Smith. What changed Wall Street's mind is not known. Perhaps Hoover backers have more money to bet, and are betting it.

MEANWHILE Gov. Smith's influence in his own state is proved by the Democratic convention marking time awaiting Gov. Smith's arrival yesterday morning to tell them whom to nominate for governor, United States senator, etc.

Anybody he suggests will be nominated.

Mayor Walker, of New York, it is suggested, will be nominated for the Senate. His election would raise the Senate's average in certain directions.

NEXT Sunday 1,000 Chicago churches will pray for divine guidance in the coming election.

Chicago Church Federation is worrying about the local election.

Results, doubtless, will show whether or not Providence refuses to interfere in political matters, as some of the churches refuse.

KING ZOGU, of Albania, pulled down the flag of the republic and made himself king. A stalwart Albanian of the old kind that used to chase travelers with bear hounds, Zogu has modern ways, with a neat little moustache, clipped on both sides in the modern fashion, and more medals than Marshal Foch ever had.

Some asked, Will Zogu be a real king? But no more doubt. On Sunday he arrested 200 conspirators against his throne, hanged 11 and will probably hang more.

YOU understand how New York City can supply rich patronage to several generations of active politicians when you consider that city's wealth.

This year taxable values are increased by one billion four hundred and ninety-one millions of dollars.

Taxable property, a year ago, was taxed at sixteen billion, one hundred and fifty-three millions. This year the figure is raised to eighteen billion four hundred and forty-eight millions. Those are large figures, and will be bigger.

If the 1928 assessment figure included properties exempt from taxation for various reasons the total would be three billions more.

Much of the exempt property is church property. If Mayor Walker's suggestion about taxing certain church properties were carried out city income would be even bigger.

GREAT is the power of silence. The German proverb has it, "Talking is silver, silence is gold."

Will Rogers, praising Herbert Hoover, for paying no attention to Democratic attacks, says, "'Herb' won't answer. He is pulling a Coolidge, and is getting the Democrats' goat." You may not know that "to pull a Coolidge" means to say little.

EIGHT thousand bankers in Philadelphia discussing national welfare and possibilities of increasing bank dividends warn against inflation, say brokers' loans are too high and the Federal Reserve should "act as a brake on speculation."

The Federal Reserve has done fairly well. It hasn't diminished speculation any, but banks are able to charge 10 per cent for call loans, yesterday's rate, on absolutely good security, and 7½ per cent for first class commercial loans.

That provides a good imitation of a pawnshop and a banker's happy hunting ground.

WILL our bankers explain how other countries manage? This country, gigantically rich, was able to lend five thousand million dollars to France. France, after a long war is poor, her money worth only 20 cents on the dollar.

But in yesterday's New York Times you read, "The Paris money market has grown tighter on the approach of month end payments. Call money rates remain at 2¾ per cent.

"Outside discounts steadied during the week from 3¼ to 3⅜ per cent. Nevertheless, the money market is considered generally satisfactory."

NO WONDER.

MR. DE VALERA, leader of irreconcilable Irish Republicans, warns us that Britain is arming Irish ports to fight the United States. Those ports will be used by Britain as a base for attack on American commerce.

That's important news, especially as there isn't much American commerce afloat. Hardly enough, as the late Frank Munsey said, "to grease a fly's ear."

GEDEMMORE SALSI

IRWIN, Pa.,
Oct. 2, 1928.

Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Gentlemen:

I should like to advertise myself in marriage. Please publish the following:

Gedemmore Salsi, 23, will marry any penniless man. He need have no more earthly riches than the clothes he has on. Besides that, he may be homely, squint-eyed, or have a wooden leg—for all she cares!

However, he must possess the following qualities:

1—He must be a genius or a genius type.

2—He must be highly educated.

3—He must have progressive political opinions.

Very Truly Yours,

(Miss) GEDEMMORE SALSI,
R. D. 4, Box 19, Irwin, Pa.

PADLOCKS PUT ON 11

Eleven wet spots in the city and county were made dry today when Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker signed decrees of permanent injunction because the places have been violating the national prohibition act.

United States Marshal J. C. McGregor is directed to padlock the places for one year. In some of the decrees it was stipulated that the owners may ask for modification by placing bond of $1,000 against further violations.

The following are the places padlocked with the names of proprietors:

Saloon, 5409 Second avenue, Pittsburgh, Martin Yasko.

Saloon, 311 Electric avenue, East Pittsburgh, Thomas Worrall.

Royal vs. Threes Wins $200 Pot; Thugs Get It

CHARLEROI, Pa., Oct. 2.—Jesus Zanstill, 30, a Mexican coal miner, of Gallatin, held a royal flush agaist three aces in a poker game at Gallatin.

He won $200 and while going home with his winnings was waylaid by three masked men who took him to a spot near Charleroi where he was beaten and robbed. He was found unconscious near the interurban car line.

At the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital it was said he had suffered a fractured skull.

YANK HITTERS MAY WIN FLAG

By DAVIS J. WALSH.
International News Service.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—If the current array of New York Yankees finish a distant second to the St. Louis Cardinals from the important angle of defense—and no one figures to get out a petition against that idea—the Yanks must be conceded the putt in considering the even more important matter of attack.

They clearly are entitled to the break in this respect, even though their superiority is arrived at through the somewhat fallible system of league-to-league comparisons. This can be done to more equitable effect in the present instance because pitching in the National and American Leagues this year has achieved a reasonable parallel.

Therefore, if one club hits for a team average of .295 in the American League and the other for .282 in the National, the assumption is that it is prone to hit the baseball more frequently; also more forcibly, considering the fact that its extra bases total 820 to 761 for the Cardinals. In line with this general data on attack, it may be mentioned that the Yanks have scored 87 more runs and have made 62 more hits than the Cardinals. So much for generalization.

SHOCK HITTERS

Becoming specific, we turn to the shock hitters of the two outfits: Ruth, Gehrig, Meusel and Lazzeri, of the Yankes, and Hafey, Bottomley, Harper and Frisch, of the Cardinals. They are the men who will drive in the runs or else there is a vague likelihood that there will be none.

The important factor here is what kind of an average these quartets may strike in a concerted way. Individuals, for instance, can and do go wrong in the big series. It is far less likely that four men will fail at one and the same time.

The figures I will quote have been culled from a full season's play and, therefore, give the Yanks none the worst of the breaks, since they couldn't hit a horse with a whip during August and early September. However, this isn't been on the ascendent during recent weeks and should be almost early September. Their hitting has normal for the series.

Therefore, judged purely as one set of hitters against another, the Ruth-Gehrig-Lazzeri-Meusel combination might seem to have more than a little on Bottomley, Hafey,

SMITH PUTS ROOSEVELT IN RACE

By RAMOND I. BORST.
International News Service.

CONVENTION HALL, ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 2.—Franklin D. Roosevelt was unanimously nominated for the governorship of New York by the Democratic state convention here today.

Roosevelt's name was the only one to go before the convention, and there was not one dissenting voice.

After Mayor Jimmy Walker, of New York, had placed Roosevelt's name before the convention, after ex-Mayor George B. Lunn, of Schenectady, himself an aspirant, had seconded it, Chairman Oliver Cabana, of Buffalo, remarked:

NAMED BY ACCLAMATION

"There being no other names placed in nomination, all those in favor of the nomination of Franklin D. Roosevelt will say aye."

A great roar of ayes rolled up to him.

There wasn't even a roll call of the counties. It was by acclamation.

Gov. Al Smith wanted Roosevelt

'Fuelless' Inventor Jailed

Accused of flourishing a revolver and of chasing his mother into the street, Lester J. Hendershot, of West Elizabeth, inventor of the so-called "fuelless motor," was lodged in the county jail shortly before noon today. He was arrested last night.

Hendershot is said to have been sought for the last two months on charges of passing worthless checks. According to Constable W. V. Valenson, of West Elizabeth, Hendershot was abusing his mother, Mrs. Effie Hendershot, of Fourth street, West Elizabeth. When Hendershot was arrested he had a revolver, the constable stated.

The charge of passing worthless checks was preferred several weeks ago by a Tarentum woman. County detectives today will investigate those charges while the constable presses the charges of pointing fire arms and disorderly conduct.

Free Man In Aldine Holdup

Fred West, 20, of Fairmont, W. Va., held in jail since January 7 in connection with the holdup of the Aldine Theater last December, when $2,400 was taken, was released today when, after a rehearing, Judge Elder W. Marshall ordered the jury to bring in a verdict of acquittal.

Following trial in January, West was found guilty of the robbery of Gerald Murphy, assistant manager of the theater. He submitted an alibi, attested to by his sweetheart, Marie Bowers, that he was in Fairmont at the time the robbery had taken place.

James P. Passafeume, attorney for West, asked for a new trial and secured it, alleging that the so-called confession submitted at the previous trial was secured by coercion and was unsigned.

SMITH AT HOOVER'S HEELS

The total of straw ballots in the canvass of Pennsylvania by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph passes the 60,000 mark, with Herbert Hoover leading Gov. Alfred E. Smith by 11,633 votes.

The Democratic candidate is clinging more closely to the heels of the former Secretary of Commerce than any Democratic candidate for president in the history of the Keystone state.

The Pennsylvania poll was originated in Allegheny county, which has been half canvassed. This week ballots will be mailed to voters of Allegheny county to complete its quota.

The standing at present in the Pennsylvania poll, which is conducted in connection with the canvass of the United States by the Hearst papers, is as follows: Hoover 35,943, including 28,540 men and 7,403 women; Smith, 24,310, including 18,639 men and 5,671 women.

This vote in 1924 was divided as follows: Coolidge 41,625, including 32,938 men and 8,687 women; Davis 6,490, including 5,438 men and 1,052 women; LaFollette 3,858, not voting 8,280.

They 'Elope' to Rome!

GENE AND POLLY

Spontaneously the Tunney-Lauder nuptials take on the atmosphere of an elopement—and the whole, wide world looks on, avidly. Elaborate preparations for this and that are in the discard, tossed there by Gene, the former champion fighter, and Polly, girl heiress and former Pittsburgher, after a midnight rendezvous at which clandestine words were whispered through a liner's porthole. And so from Naples they rushed today to Rome and they plan to be married early tomorrow in Italy's civil ceremony. Pretty pictures of a dreamy, romantic marriage in fair Sorrento have faded!

GENE AND POLLY IN ROME, WILL BE WED TOMORROW

International News Service.

ROME, Oct. 2.—The marriage of Gene Tunney, former heavyweight champion, and Miss Josephine (Polly) Lauder, $50,000,000 American heiress, which was to have taken place this afternoon, was suddenly postponed until tomorrow.

It is understood there will be a double ceremony—one civil and the other religious—at the Hotel de Russie tomorrow morning.

Announcement that the nuptials had been put over was made late this afternoon by James Mahany, Tunney's secretary. He said the definite hour had not yet been set.

Tunney went to Naples to greet his fiancee when she arrived on the Italian liner Saturnia. They motored to Rome while the other members of the Lauder party came by rail.

Their arrival was followed by many rumors of wedding plans. One report was they were to be married at the chapel of the American College; another was that they would be married in the Church of Santa Susanna.

It is understood that the marriage ceremony will be simple and informal and that it will be attended by only the immediate friends and relatives of the couple. There will probably be fewer than 20 persons present.

7 NAMED FOR BUS FARE QUIZ

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

George P. Kountz, president of the Allied Boards of Trade, has appointed a committee of seven to investigate all phases of the rapid transit situation in Pittsburgh, including the 25-cent bus fare and one-man street cars.

C. V. Shoup was named chairman. The other members are W. G. Negley, A. C. MacCumbee, Robert K. Cochrane, William B. Hodby, Dr. A. L. Lewin and Albert O. Horner.

Mr. Kountz and Harry Bastow, secretary of the organization, will be ex-officio members.

The date for the first meeting of the committee has not been set.

In addition to the members named, each of the 48 component bodies of the allied boards will be asked to designate one representative to serve on the central body.

TO SCAN SALARIES

The salaries paid to officials of the Pittsburgh Railways Company as well as the contracts between the street car lines and the Duquesne Light Company for power will be included in the survey.

Meanwhile, a study of the bus company's affairs shows that the importance of a reasonable basis for figuring the depreciation of busses can be seen in the fact that the reserve for this purpose set aside by the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company in 1927 was far greater than its net income for the year.

That equipment eventually wears out and must be replaced is a recognized factor in all types of business. The Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company sets aside an amount equal to one-fourth the value of its buses to provide for this each year.

The setting of a proper basis for depreciation is a difficult task in bus operation, but in other cities a much lower rate is used.

The Fifth Avenue Coach Company has been operating motor buses for over 20 years and has had the greatest experience of any operator. It depreciates on an estimated life of six years.

DEPRECIATION SEEN

The reserve for depreciation charged from earnings by the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company in 1927 was $62,848. This left net earnings of $44,957.

If a six-year basis for depreciation had been used the earnings would have been increased by about 50 per cent.

This would have further swollen the return on the investment. Yesterday The Sun-Telegraph pointed out that the return was 12.49 per cent in 1927. The lower basis for depreciation would increase the return to about 18 per cent.

In Detroit a 10-year basis for depreciation is used. This is also true in Philadelphia.

These other cities are charging only a 10-cent bus fare while 25 cents is being charged here.

The Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company is paying the city nothing for the use of its streets. The Detroit Motor Bus Company pays over $100,000 a year to the city and in most other localities the bus companies pay a special municipal tax.

May Parole Grafting Police

William A. Horne, former chief of police of Monessen, and Walter Wyatt and Joseph Machnally, constables of that city, now serving time in Atlanta penitentiary on a charge of violating the prohibition law by receiving protection money from bootleggers, today were recommended for paroles by the United States Parole Board, according to word received here from Washington.

The men were sentenced for a year and a day and their terms expire in February, 1929.

SQUIRE CALLED OVER $250

The grand jury probe instigated by charges of former Police Magistrate John J. Verona that police were protecting vice, has broken the city's borders and is extending into the county.

Justice of the Peace John F. Smith, of Beadling, was brought from his cell in the county jail shortly after 2 o'clock today to tell the grand jury what he knows about the illicit liquor trade and its supplementary rackets.

Michael Shulan, of Mollenauer, and Frank Ritts, county detective, shortly after noon were called and testified.

The North Side contributed one witness during the afternoon in Mrs. Martha Kenney, of 922 Western avenue, a proprietor of a soft drink stand. She went before the jury at 2 o'clock. Subpenas were issued also for Martin Simon, 2251 East street; Pearl Feskern, 1900 East Ohio street; Andrew Pablea, 1011 East Ohio street, and F. C. Roehler, 1700 Lowrie street.

Prior to the interrogation of Mrs. Kenny, Patrick Coyne, of 3731 Second avenue, was taken in for questioning. Apparently reticent, he was taken to county detective headquarters where, detectives hope, he will speak more freely.

Smith, it was alleged, had accepted an initial payment of $50 at the time of the man's arrest. The prisoner, Michael Shulan, was in prison two days when he told county detectives the story. The sleuths urged Shulan to give Smith the $250 in marked money, which he is said to have done.

He was the third witness of the day. Mrs. Elizabeth Foster, 87, of 2312 Brownsville road, was the first.

The fragile, white-haired octogenarian, dignified and protesting that the day was inclement for her to be brought to the court house, was in the grand jury room but a brief period.

Following her was Paul Stupewski, 2310 Brownsville road, an occupant of a house owned by Mrs. Foster. He, too, spent but a short time there before he was excused.

Others summoned to testify were Catherine Damas, 1215 Wylie avenue; Roy Anderson, agent of an express company, East Liberty, and Michael Sessa, 7029 Frankstown avenue, and County Detective Robert L. McMillen.

French Birth Rate, Despite Talk, Unchanged

PARIS, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—There were 10,000 more deaths in France for the spring of 1928 than for the same three months of 1927.

The birth rate, subject of so much speculation and agitation here, remained roughly the same with 190,437 living babies for the second three months of 1928 against 190,616 for 1927. Six hundred more babies under the age of 1 year and over.

Births exceeded deaths in 1928 by 22,001 and by 32,400 in the same period of 1927, according to official statistics. Divorces were stationary, but in 1928 there were 6,000 more marriages than in 1927

MONTANA INDIANS

BOY, 10, COLLAPSES FROM RUM; ARREST 2

A 10-year-old boy collapsed in a South Side street last night from the effects of drinking moonshine whisky, according to South Side police. A short time later two men were arrested on charges of selling the liquor to the lad.

The youth is Patsy Capozzoli, 10, of 710 Sarah street. He will face Tony Hernandez, 28, of 714 Mint way, and Andrew Dobano, 37, of 2813 Carey way, in Morals Court. The Capozzoli youth collapsed in Eighth street at Mint way.

ROOSEVELT FOR GOVERNOR

named, and that was enough for the delegates.

For Governor—Franklin D. Roosevelt.

For Lieutenant Governor—Col. H. H. Lehmann.

For State Comptroller—Morris S. Tremaine.

For Associate Judge, Court of Appeals—Leonard C. Crouch.

The entire ticket was nominated virtually by acclamation. No other names were presented, and there were no roll calls. The ticket was satisfactory to Gov. Al Smith and the leaders, and the delegates swallowed it whole and with enthusiasm.

Senator Copeland and Comptroller Tremaine were given renomination.

Mr. Roosevelt was drafted for the gubernatorial nomination by party leaders after repeated refusals to accept the post.

At a conference, which began last midnight, it was announced by Gov. Smith that Mr. Roosevelt had finally withdrawn his declination and would accept the nomination. The remainder of the slate was quickly decided upon and all nominations were made by acclamation when the convention reassembled for its concluding session.

Gov. Smith, after the nominations, said:

"The convention had the consent of Mr. Roosevelt to do what it did. It nominated him and he will run."

MERCER COUNTY'S LAST BREWERY GOES UNDER

MERCER, Pa., Oct. 2—Mercer county's last brewery went out of existence today. A court order was handed down dissolving the company on petition of officers of Sharon. It was organized in 1900 and had been in business continually since.

The Atlantic coast high remained nearly stationary during the last 24 hours, increasing in pressure; while the Plains states low diminished in intensity, and formed into a rather weak disturbance with its center over Arkansas. Lowest barometer is 29.80 inches at Fort Smith. The slight fall in pressure over the Ohio Valley states caused general cloudiness over that section with scattered light showers.

The temperature is from 8 to 20 degrees higher than yesterday over the Ohio Valley and the Lower Mississippi Valley, but over the central plains and the Upper Mississippi Valley there was a marked drop. There are no freezing temperatures in the country this morning, but heavy frost occurred at Charles City, Iowa.

Work Halts Religious Attack

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—Chairman Work, of the Republican National Committee, made public late last night the text of a telegram he sent on September 29 to Oliver D. Street, national committeeman for Alabama, in which he expressed disapproval of Street's issuance of a circular attacking Gov. Alfred E. Smith, Democratic nominee, because of his membership in the Roman Catholic church.

The telegram was not made public until after Chairman Work had been informed that Street had been quoted as denying that he had received such a message.

Chairman Work in his telegram said he had received a circular, supposedly written by Street and having as its subject: "Gov. Smith's membership in the Roman Catholic Church and its proper place as an issue in the campaign."

The Republican national chairman declared that he "regretted exceedingly" that the religious issue should be dragged into the campaign and called Street's attention to a letter written by Chairman Work to all national committeemen, which said:

"The campaign policy we propose to follow will be informative and constructive only. The promptings of the conscience and personal liberty within the law are not proper subjects for political debate."

Girl Wooed In 5 Cities Sues

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—Stephen Schwartz, a development engineer, was charged with proposing and promising marriage a half-dozen times and failing to carry out his promises in a $75,000 damage suit filed here by Miss Kathleen Lynch.

The declaration stated that Schwartz proposed and re-proposed to her in Chicago, New York, London, Paris, Brussels and on the high seas. The first offer of marriage was made September 4, 1927. Last July 16, Miss Lynch charged, Schwartz "wholly refused and discharged her from performance of her promise."

YANK HITTERS HAVE EDGE

Harper and Frisch. This quartet averaged .314 against National League pitching; the rival big four hit their kind of pitching for .341. Even a difference in pitching, that might be construed as markedly in favor of American League hitters, wouldn't account for the above discrepancy. The dynamiters of the Yankee attack unquestionably have an edge here over those of the Cardinals.

LEAD DISTANCE HITTING

That they lead in distance hitting, too, can't be denied. There is no Ruth or even 'a half-Ruth in the Cardinal batting order. Jim Bottomley hit 31 home runs to Ruth's 54 over the regular season but the comparison isn't even as close as that. Suppose, for example, Ruth got that undeniable break of doing quite a respectable portion of his season's hitting in the small National League parks at Philadelphia, Chicago and Boston. He didn't get the benefit of 77 games at Sportsman's Park, St. Louis, either. So the comparative home run hitting of the Yanks against the cards, 133 to 113, isn't a fair one. Yet it shows the Yanks well in front.

On the basis of quartet against quartet, the Yanks also lead in homers with 102 to 87, in doubles by 146 to 127 and in triples only by one, 38 to 37.

The Cardinals' attack is more diversified, with Frisch batting in third position. Always a dangerous hitter, he can drag a bunt nicely and is by long odds the best base runner on the lot. However, base-stealing, merely as such is seldom more than a negligible factor in world series results, unless the opposing battery work happens to be very rancid, it might be, at that, considering what the Yanks are pleased to call their catching.

NOT UP TO OLD FORM

Still there may be two factors operating against Frisch's bunting and base running. He will run nowhere if he doesn't get on, and the records indicate that he isn't doing this with the frequency of better days. As for his drag bunt, that will be out in those games in which he is forced to bat right handed against Zachary and Heimach.

Having matched first basemen, second basemen, left fielders and right fielders as potential hitters in the Gehrig - Bottomley, Lazzeri-Frisch, Meusel-Hafey and Ruth-Harper analogies—to the general detriment of the Cardinal entries—the comparison can be carried right down the line without affecting the situation greatly. Koenig, for instance, is a far better hitter than Maranville; Robertson and Dugan and High and Holm are about a standoff; so are Wilson and Bengough, who figure to do most, if not all, of the catching; likewise Douthit and Paschal, rival center fielders, when Sherdel and Mitchell work.

However, a St. Louis right-hander would bring on Durst and the Yankee comparison suffers accordingly.

And now that I have removed this terrible weight from the manly bosom, meanwhile proving that the Yanks might be expected to hit harder, farther and maybe more frequently, I feel it incumbent upon me to add: And what of it?

IT ALL EVENS UP

It all evens up when you consider that the Cards have the pitching and the Yankees haven't. Even the weakest of hitting can be made to look good by the opposing defense, which is largely represented by opposing pitching. It will take first-class pitching to cramp the Cardinals' style, and, with Pennock unavailable, the Yanks figure to have all too little of this.

Viewed from the other side of the fence, it seems to me, too, that I have a vague recollection of the Yanks having been kept within somewhat reasonable bounds by Alexander, Sherdel and Haines two years ago.

In brief, good pitching will bother the best of them; indifferent pitching will make the worst hitting look good. What has this last to do with the Cardinals? Only this: It figures to make their good hitting look better.

Reigh Count Saved in Fire

International News Service.

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—Race horses valued in the hundreds of thousands of dollars were dead today as the result of a fire which last night destroyed the stables of John D. Hertz, on Leona Farms, near Gary, Ill., 38 miles northwest of Chicago.

Mr. Hertz is president of the Yellow Cab Company, at present involved in a local taxicab "war" with a rival company. Two yellow cab garages were mysteriously bombed Sunday night.

The disastrous fire, according to Mr. Hertz, was started by someone who smashed a steel gate in an outside fence.

Reigh Count, Kentucky derby winner and rated as the year's champion of the American turf, was heroically saved by a stable boy. Reigh Count's stable mate, Anita Peabody, winner of the Belmont Futurity of 1927, was also saved.

The horses burned to death included Leonarett, Sandal Fane, Insulla, Black Servant (a filly by Sir Gallahad), St. Lucy (filly from mare Luena), Protection and Varnish.

Leonarett was named for Leona Hertz and was being groomed for next year's Kentucky Derby.

EXPLOSION

A watchman had inspected the stables a few minutes before the fire was discovered and reported everything in order. Extra precautions had been ordered, according to Supt. Arthur Naylor, because of the attacks on the Yellow Cab garages in Chicago.

Three minutes after the watchman made his report, Mr. Naylor said, he and his 10-year-old daughter heard an explosion and the child cried:

"Reigh Count's stable is on fire!"

They raced toward the barn, Naylor said. Flames were spurting from both sides of the frame structure.

But before they reached it, little Jimmy Allen, stable boy, dashed into the flames and smoke. He felt his way to Reigh Count's stall, tore the halter from the animal's head and then, leaping on his bare back, rode him through the smoke to safety.

Meantime, Naylor and other attaches of the stables had led Anita Peabody from the flaming structure.

BUSINESS MEN FLOCK TO HOOVER BANNER

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The Republican effort to line up business men behind Herbert Hoover's candidacy for the presidency has been highly successful while a similar Democratic drive to win support for Gov. Alfred E. Smith has proved abortive, it was announced today at Republican headquarters.

The Democrats drew first blood, it was admitted, through the selection of John J. Raskob, the General Motors executive, as chairman of the Democratic National Committee. His appointment, it was added, set in motion a movement of businessmen to the cause of Gov. Smith.

TIDE TURNS TO HOOVER

The Republican leaders, however, claimed the movement was halted when the business world studied Hoover's pronouncements on the tariff, and his selection of prosperity, economy in government and efficiency in administration as his outstanding issues.

The business tide began to swing toward Hoover, they added, when he gained the public indorsement of some of the most prominent men in American business.

The Hoover converts, so referred to, included Henry Ford, Thomas Edison, J. Leonard Replogle, E. T. Stotesbury, George Eastman, Henry Leland and John Hays Hammond.

"Efforts of Democratic leaders to line up businessmen for their presidential candidate through circular letters have met with unfavorable reactions in some quarters," the Republican National Committee statement said. "Some of the flarebacks have been furnished to the Republican National Committee."

The announcement recited how Julian S. Myrick, member of a New York insurance firm, had answered Democratic appeal by pledging his support to Hoover.

"America and the world would probably be better off had Mr. Hoover been chosen by the Republican party as its nominee for President in 1920 instead of 1928," said Myrick. "However, countries like individuals, make mistakes. Our country now has the opportunity of correcting one, by selecting for its chief executive one of the greatest candidates that has ever been offered to it."

The committee also issued an indorsement of Hoover by W. W. Nichols, internationally prominent engineer, of New Pork. Nichols declared Hoover was better fitted for the presidency than any other candidate in the history of the country.

SOUTHERN TOUR PLANS

Hoover meanwhile continued to work upon correspondence at his headquarters, while holding up his Elizabethton (Tenn.) speech. He concluded the speech last week, but will not give it out to newspapers until Thursday. He delivers it Saturday afternoon at the little town in Northeastern Tennessee.

Hoover will leave for the engagement at 11 o'clock Friday night, reaching Bristol, Va., at 10:48 Saturday for a 10-minute stop. He will detrain at Childers, Tenn., at 11:30 and motor to Elizabethton, where he will lunch, confer with southern leaders and finally speak at 3 o'clock. Following the address, he will board his train to visit the Soldiers' Home on the outskirts of Johnson City, Tenn., and then tour the city. He will leave for home at 7:15, reaching Washington at 8 o'clock Sunday morning.

'Fox's' Plea To Appeal Denied

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—The California State Supreme Court refused today to grant permission to attorneys for William Edward Hickman, "The Fox," condemned to hang for the kidnaping and killing at Los Angeles of Marian Parker, to appeal the case to the United States Supreme Court.

Unless the United States District Court here grants permission for the appeal Hickman will hang at San Quentin prison on October 19.

NORTH SIDERS PRESS DRIVE FOR TOWN HALL

Residents of the North boroughs and of the North Side met last night in the Singer Building, Federal street, and discussed plans to secure the proposed town hall for the Monument Hill site. More than 100 were present. The principal speaker was Attorney William F. Statlander. It was agreed to set up a permanent organization to promote the North Side site.

EVANGELISTIC CHURCH FOR 20,000 SPREADS OVER CARSON ACRE

EAGER CROWDS DRAWN

Again, this year, the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph will bring the world series into the very heart of Pittsburgh. Already all preparations are made to handle a crowd of many thousands in the square before the Sun-Telegraph Building, where Tunnel street crosses Webster avenue and Bigelow boulevard. Workmen have erected a modern scoreboard and benches are to be placed on Gaztte Square, before the Sun-Telegraph Building.

PLAY-BY-PLAY

Play-by-play, just when each play is made, the world series will be enacted, simultaneously with the games themselves, on the giant scoreboard, easily visible from any point in the great space before the Sun-Telegraph Building. In past years, Pittsburgh people have gathered before the same building by thousands to watch the progress of the games. Above is a typical, happy Sun-Telegraph baseball crowd. The scoreboard starts at 1:30 o'clock, Thursday, just as the Cards and Yankees start their first game in New York.

SHOW TOO NAUGHTY, 65 PUT IN JAIL

International News Service.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Mae West, authoress of "Pleasure Man," and the 64 members of the cast and orchestra who were arrested in a spectacular raid at the close of the first night's performance, were released on $500 bail each early today following a hilarious ride to the West Forty-seventh Street Police Station.

They were to be arraigned later today charged with having participated in an indecent play.

Miss West took the police intervention calmly, as she had served a 10-day sentence in the workhouse in April last year for appearing in the play "Sex." The crowds which followed the actors to the police station, however, nearly caused a riot.

Police sat in the audience during the performance last night, but took no action until the show was over. Then Deputy Chief Inspector Bolan and 40 detectives went to the dressing rooms and herded the protesting performers into a police wagon. Miss West, who is appearing in another production, also was brought to the police station.

While the performers were taken to the station in three groups, thousands of theater-goers gathered and created a tremendous uproar. They cheered the actors, who remained quiet.

WOMEN OPEN SMITH DRIVE

The Democratic women of Allegheny county will formally open their Al Smith headquarters this afternoon in the new Hotel Pittsburgher, on Diamond street. The headquarters will be open from now to the close of the campaign and will be in charge of the following committee: Mrs. James Duggan, Mrs. Joseph Arnold, Mrs. J. P. Killeen and Mrs. Charles Wiedemann.

The hostess committee for this afternoon will include:

Mrs. George W. Guthrie, wife of the former Mayor of Pittsburgh; Mrs. Ewing LaPorte, Mrs. C. B. Ellis, Mrs. William S. Moorhead, Mrs. Delmont K. Ferree, Mrs. Charles A. Fagan, Mrs. Carroll Miller, Miss Ida Guffey, Mrs. David L. Lawrence, Mrs. Florence E. Shaw, Mrs. Mary McMahon, Mrs. James P. Kirk, Mrs. J. Howard Devlin, Mrs. J. C. Christe, Mrs. James Houlahen, Mrs. Charles C. Reel, Mrs. Derwood M. Breeding, Mrs. William Seibert, Mrs. E. L. Hicks, Mrs. E. C. Gardner, Mrs. Mary A. Coyne, Mrs. Agnes Joyce, Mrs. Daniel E. Hogan, Mrs. John Weixel, Mrs. William M. Taylor, Mrs. H. B. James, Mrs. Mary M. Tighe, Miss M. M. McElroy, Miss Martha Ross, Miss Pauletta Guffey, Miss Margaret Reardon and Miss Ann Madden.

The Democratic committee of the Nineteenth Ward met last night at the Fourth avenue headquarters. The meeting was presided over by Ward Chairman Thomas H. Hester, and plans for waging the Smith campaign in the ward were outlined.

Tonight a Smith-Robinson mass meeting will be held in the John Morrow School, Twenty-seventh Ward. Ralph E. Smith will preside.

300 Wives Rebel Against Taxes; Hold Rally

CHARLEROI, Pa., Oct. 2.—Roscoe women staged an indignation meeting yesterday protesting the payment of taxes. Only married women attended the meeting but there were more than 300 present.

Tax warrants have been served upon them but they are in a rebellious attitude and refuse to pay.

72, TOO OLD TO WORK, HE STARTS COLLEGE COURSE

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—Having kept the records of tens of thousands of students at the University of Chicago for 35 years, Frederic J. Gurney at the age of 72 has decided to see how the university looks from the classroom. Age compelling his retirement as recorder, he was enrolled today as a student.

"I thought I'd get some of this education I have been watching here ever since the university was established," he said. He plans to "brush" up on foreign languages, which he studied a generation ago at the University of Michigan.

In his first class, beginners' French, most of Gurney's classmates were young enough to be his grandchildren.

Kidnaping Car Being Trailed

International News Service.

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—State's attorney investigators today were on the trail of the man who drove the automobile in which Billy Ranieri, 10, was kidnaped and held for $60,000 ransom.

He is John Rossi, named by Andrew Cappellano, Bourbannais, Ill., truck farmer and little Billy's "jailer," in his latest confession. State's attorney attaches predicted they would have Rossi, as well as Julian Romano, the other man in the kidnap car, in custody before sundown today.

The arrest of Rossi and Romano, it was said, would forge the last 'ink in the chain that will make a "perfect case" against the Mafia extortion ring.

Cappellano was brought to Chicago yesterday from Herrin, Ill. He was arrested there as he fled with his wife and nine children from the "farm" at Bourbannais. His 16-year-old son and daughter, Anna, 13, came with him. His wife and other children remained in Herrin.

In his confession to Assistant State's Attorney Mueller, Cappellano withheld nothing, Mueller said. He detailed everything from the day Billy was brought to his home until the night he was released on the deserted road near Lockport, Ill.

Urge Test to Bar Color Blind Drivers

Tests for color blindness will be given applicants for automobile drivers' licenses if the bill to be presented to Legislature by the State Board of Optometric Examiners is made a law. This was announced last night at the thirty-second annual convention of the Pennsylvania Optometric Association in the William Penn Hotel.

Three hundred delegates were present when the convention opened yesterday. The visitors took a sightseeing tour during the morning. In the afternoon, Charles Lang, assistant city solicitor, made an address of welcome in behalf of the city. Pittsburgh members of the organization expressed their welcome through Dr. Will Pfaff, president of the local group.

1928 PGH. POPULATION PUT AT 673,800

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS,
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Pittsburgh is given a population of 673,800 as of July 1, compared with 594,277 shown by the Federal census of 1920, under the latest estimate announced today by the Bureau of the Census, United States Department of Commerce.

The figures represent a gain for the city of 79,523 over the eight-year period.

Philadelphia recorded an estimated gain of approximately 200,000 during the same period, the estimated July 1 figure being given as 2,064,200, compared with 1,823,799 in 1920.

The bureau's report covered all cities of the country having a population of 30,000 and over, state totals being omitted. Of the 20 cities of Pennsylvania listed in this classification, only one—Erie—failed to receive an estimated gain. It was explained simply that no estimate for the city was made.

In making public the report the bureau stated that the estimates are based, in most cases, on the assumption that the annual increase in population since the census of 1920, has been the same as the annual average increase shown between 1910 and 1920, later state census figures being used whereveer available.

COMPARATIVE TABLE

Following is a table showing figures for the 20 Pennsylvania cities both in 1920 and July 1, 1928:

Allentown	76,051	99,400
Altoona	60,331	69,100
Bethlehem	54,149	67,600
Chester	58,030	74,200
Easton	33,813	38,400
Erie	93,372	......
Harrisburg	75,917	85,900
Hazelton	32,277	38,300

Wilkes-Barre	73,833	91,900
Williamsport	36,198	44,000
York	47,512	49,900

These estimates were made for Ohio and West Virginia:

Ohio—Akron, no estimate; Canton, 116,800; Cincinnati, 413,700; Cleveland, 1,010,300; Columbus, 299,000; Dayton, 184,500; Hamilton, 44,200; Lakewood, 65,000; Lima, 49,700; Lorain, 44,900; Portsmouth, 41,200; Springfield, 73,000; Toledo, 313,200; Youngstown, 174,200.

West Virginia — Charleston, 55,200; Huntington, 68,600; Wheeling, no estimate.

Fliers Fail To Make Record

International News Service.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Oct. 2.—Aviators William P. Brock and Edward Schlee, famous round-the-world fliers, today bemoaned the ill luck that cheated them of a world endurance flight record. They were forced to descend when only six hours from their goal.

Diminishing gasoline supply forced them to land at Rockwell Field last night after they had been in the air for 59 hours and 23 minutes.

The record they sought to surpass is 65 hours and 25 minutes, held by Risticz and Zimmerman, German aviators.

Their flight established a new American endurance record, the best time having been made by Edward A. Stinson and George W. Haldeman at Jacksonville, Fla., when they stayed up 53 hours 36 minutes and 30 seconds.

The fliers were in good physical condition, though weary for lack of sleep after the long aerial grind. They said the Bellanca's motor functioned perfectly.

The aviators, who took off last Saturday morning with 560 gallons of gasoline in their single motored Bellanca monoplane, were unable to explain the gasoline loss, which was discovered two hours before they landed. At the take-off they believed they had a sufficient supply for 80 hours in the air, but when the pressure fell off yesterday afternoon Schlee cut the top from a tank, presumed to be nearly full, and found that the gasoline there was almost exhausted.

Farm Located :-: Where Boy Led Police to End "Kidnap" Manhunt :-: Mystery Clearing

"KIDNAP FARM"

LAD LEADER

Little Billy Ranieri, 10, almost constant companion of police since his release by Chicago extortionists, has ended the manhunt by leading detectives to this farm, where he was imprisoned. Many days were spent trying to locate the farm. Even airplanes were used in the hunt. The boy told of kindnesses of a woman there, identified as the wife of the owner. When the farm was found, no one was there.

"OVER THERE, DAD"

REMEMBERS

Here Billy points out to his father, Frank, things he remembered of the farm. The boy identified the place, but couldn't locate it. The farm is just on the outskirts of Kankakee, Ill.

FOR 13 DAYS HE PLAYED IT

LOCKED IN ROOM

For 13 days, Billy was locked in this room. Here he shows Police Captain John Ryan how he played with the guitar given him to amuse himself. The kidnapers sought $60,000 ransom from the boy's father, Chicago contractor.

SHE WAS DESERTED

"MILLY"

MEASUREMENTS OF SUSPECT ON WAY

County detectives here today are awaiting the arrival of a photograph and Bertillon measurements of John Homa, of Monessen, held by police of Pottsville and believed to answer the description of the man wanted for the slaying of Dr. Henry R. Dapper.

Homa was arrested last month in Detroit with Mrs. Louise Davin, of Monessen, after he had quarreled with the woman and she had informed police he was wanted in Pottsville.

Returned to Pottsville for the robbery of a jewelry store, Homa was sentenced to five years in the Schuylkill County Jail yesterday. The woman was sentenced from six months to three years for receiving stolen goods. Pottsville police say the woman mentioned she knew enough about her companion to send him to the chair.

Knowing that he was from this district and that his description tallied generally with that of the Dapper killer, Pottsville authorities are giving county detectives a chance to identify the man.

FUR SCARFS STOLEN FROM PARKED AUTO

Eight fox fur scarfs valued at $165 were reported stolen from the automobile of Max Azen, of 705 Penn avenue, while it was parked at Fifth avenue and Hooper street, yesterday.

WESTMORELAND GIRL ESCAPES MORGANZA

Police today are searching for Mary Totuk, 17, a brunette, who escaped from the Pennsylvania Training School, at Morganza, yesterday. The girl was committed by Westmoreland county authorities several months ago. Her father is dead and the whereabouts of her mother is unknown. She is described as being 5 feet 1 inch tall, weighing 100 pounds and wearing a yellow dress, black pumps and a wine colored coat.

CARBON MONOXIDE KILLS DOGS IN AUTO

SHARPSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 2.—Two valuable dogs being taken in the rumble seat of an automobile by Samuel Gill to Stoneboro for the annual field trials of the Sharpsville Beagle Club were found dead from carbon monoxide fumes upon arrival there.

Missing Girl May Be Declared Dead

Seven years ago Erna Amelia Sauf, then 17, packed her clothes and left her Miami (Fla.) home because she believed a suitor was disliked by her aunt, Mrs. Minnie K. Fritchie, 1833 Flagler avenue, McKeesport. Mrs. Fritchie, not having heard from the girl since that time, is making an effort to have her declared legally dead, in order to settle her estate. The aunt says her niece had lived with her from the age of 4.

The court has decreed that if Miss Sauf does not appear on or before December 22 to protect her rights, the petition of Mrs. Fritchie will be granted.

JAIL BREAKERS CAPTURED

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Oct. 2.—Two of the four prisoners who escaped from the Greene county jail are behind its bars again today.

John Ledson, of Point Marion, heading for Blacksville, W. Va., asked Constable William Martin for a ride and got it—back to Waynesburg.

John Hardin, 19, another of the quartet, gave himself up this morning.

Harry Swaney, of Point Marion, and Charles Allen are still missing.

The four escaped Monday morning by sawing the bars.

What would happen in your family if you were sick several months?

THAT is a thing that can happen... and does happen. It happens as often to men who think themselves and their families secure as it happens to the less fortunate.

Everyone who supports a home is continually faced with the uncertainty of what may happen... unless he has made ample provisions to meet the emergencies.

A Savings Account is the surest, quickest aid in any of your difficulties. Every man should strive to have enough money in his Savings Account to carry his family along for six months, if all his earnings were cut off.

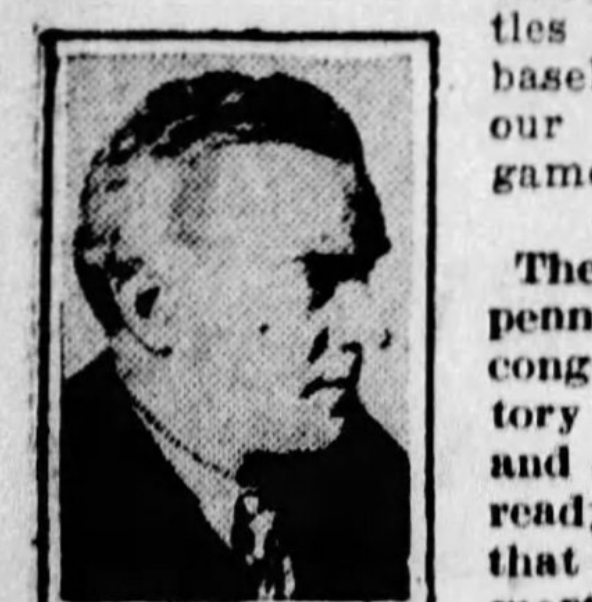
BUGS BAER Says



ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

THE yelling of expatriated lunatics, the smashing of straw hats and the whirling of discontented pop bottles prove that baseball is still our national game.

The greatest pennant races of congested history are over and we are ready to start that happy post-mortem known as the world series.

Mob rule reached its apex last month when 86,000 fans formed the expeditionary forces which watched the Yanks and Athletics struggle in New York.

New York, St. Louis, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh have been tangled up like harness in a runaway.

A ticket to the world series is equivalent to the Congressional Medal of Honor and a diploma from Harvard.

But even if we cannot afford a ticket we can always tune in on the radio and get our rooting fresh from the oven.

But before pickng up your favorite station it is best to close all the windows and stuff cotton in the keyholes.

When a million horsepower yell comes out of that loud speaker how are the neighbors going to know whether Babe Ruth has smashed a homer or your wife has decided to go home to her mother?

And when the lady in the next apartment phones for the police it is very difficult to convince her that it wasn't your husband at al but Senator Jim Reed replying to Curtis.

There hasn't been a gamer struggle in history than Connie Mack and his young fellows' attempt to knock off the Yanks. Connie might have had a chance if he har Boo Boo Hoff in the outfield.

We will not see the Waner brothers in the autumn derby. Pittsburgh will be a deserted village this October, and Chicago must save its peanuts for the football season.

Cleveland, Detroit and Cincinnati look forward to next year, but we must hand credit to the two Boston teams for not disappointing Massachusetts fans.

The Red Sox started in last place and never slumped once. The Braves had to move up to seventh place when the Phillies staged a brilliant losing sprint.

This will be the only week in the year when pedestrians can manufacture their town traffic jams in front of bulletin boards, and chauffeurs must do their chauffing between innings.

This is one event that has no political significance, but it wouldn't surprise us a trifle if Teddy Roosevelt, Jr., bobbed up at second base in a Yank's uniform.

NIGHTS WERE VERY MISERABLE

Suffered with Itchy Scalp. Healed by Cuticura.

"I suffered a long time with an itchy scalp. A rash broke out on my head and my hair fell out and became lifeless. My nights were very miserable on account of the trouble. I tried all kinds of remedies without success. I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and concluded to give it a trial. In six weeks I was completely healed, after using three cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment." (Signed) Miss N. Virginia, Chambersville, Pa.

TWO DAYS LEFT TO TRY FOR FIRST ZAIN PRIZE

INITIAL WEEK'S OFFER TO END TOMORROW

Two days to get in under the wire!

Today and tomorrow to win the first of the six weekly grand prizes of $100 each in the Zain Ad-Test!

To be eligible for the first $100 award your ad must be in the office of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph not later than midnight Wednesday, October 3.

Those received later automatically are entered for the second period, and so on.

Go after that first hundred dollars. You may not only win it but also the grand prize of $1,000 and one of the special prizes. In all $15,000 in cash and merchandise prizes are to be awarded.

CHANCE FOR ALL

You don't have to be an ad writer to get into the game. Professional ad writers and newspaper employes are barred, so that everybody else will have a fair chance.

A few bright ideas about one of the 39 local business concerns that are participating in the test, set down on a sheet of paper, may win you the "wherewithal" to satisfy one of your fondest desires.

Before writing your advertisement for the washing machine made by the Gainaday Electric Company, Jenkins Arcade and 6104 Penn avenue, East End, call at the store of any Gainaday dealer and ask for a demonstration. The sales person will call your attention to selling points which you can use in your ad. Before leaving the store be sure to get a Gainaday folder, which will give you additional valuable information. The Gainaday is the only electric washing machine made in Pittsburgh. It is radically different from any other make of washing machine. Find out what the Gainaday's distinguishing feature is, and emphasize it.

MILLION SALES POINTS

There are said to be a million selling points for the Kelvinator, well-known electrical refrigeration device. Look at one in the display rooms of the Kelvinator-Leonard Corporation, 205 North Highland avenue, or at any Kelvinator dealer's. The air in a Kelvinator is dry, while in an ordinary ice refrigerator it is moist. Moisture carries odors and facilitates the breeding of bacteria. The Kelvinator automatically maintains the temperature between 42 and 48 degrees. If, while buying your Sunday roast, you seek a steak that you would like to serve at your dinner next Wednesday, you can buy it in full assurance that it will stay fresh in your Kelvinator.

In writing your ad about the Potter Title and Mortgage Guarantee Company it might be effective to stress the fact that title insurance is not an experiment. It is a service to the property owner that was established in this country more than 50 years ago. Title insurance with the Potter Title and Mortgage Guarantee Company means that you have the opinion of the company that your title is sound, and with the opinion an agreement to make it good in case it should be mistaken and loss should result in consequence.

POINTERS ON LAUNDRY

Here is something to consider in writing your ad about the United Laundries. In washing clothes they use pure soap in four hot baths of rain-soft water and six hot and cold rinses. The result is that clothes are sweetly clean and delightful to the touch or sight. The cost is moderate. Work is returned in 48 hours to any part of the city.

Study the stores, the products and the advertisements of all the 39 concerns that are participating in the ad-test. A list of them will be found on this page.

Read the rules carefully. Write each ad on a separate sheet of paper, which should be at least as large as a postal card, and preferably commercial letter size. Write your name and address on the back of each sheet, and also on the flap of the envelope in which you enclose your ads. SEND THE ADS TO THE ZAIN AD-WRITING TEST, CARE OF THE PITTSBURGH SUN-TELEGRAPH, PITTSBURGH, PA.

'Retrieved' Marine Joined Navy, Wife Says

After getting her husband out of the Marines on the strength of his being married, Mrs. Gladys M. Evans charges, her husband later joined the Navy. Asking divorce, Mrs. Evans, who lives in East Rochester, told Judge Thomas D. Carnahan that she had been married in July, 1924. About a month later, things not going smoothly, Evans joined the Marines. Mrs. Evans hired a lawyer and Evans was returned to his wife. Several months later he left again and joined the Navy. Mrs. Evans, who lived in Tripoli street, North Side, at the time she filed the libel, charges desertion.

Simple Way to Be Rid of Gas

PEOPLE who belch after eating may not realize that the cause is excessive gastric acid. Or may not have been told how easily this may be remedied. Quick and complete relief can be obtained by taking a little "Pape's Diapepsin" after eating or when pain is felt. Remember this for your comfort, and lest that constant gas on the stomach does not drift into gastritis!

"Pape's Diapepsin" instantly neutralizes the excess stomach acid and soothes, heals and strengthens the inflamed stomach lining, thus promoting normal, painless digestion and helping to prevent future trouble.

For many years millions have used and recommended "Pape's Diapepsin" for the speedy and sure relief of indigestion and allied stomach troubles. Follow their example! Get a 60-cent package of "Pape's Diapepsin" from any druggist; no matter how severe your stomach troubles you will get relief.

An Extraordinary Table Linen Sale

Choice of—

2x2½ Yard Cloth
2x2 Yard Cloth
Dozen 22x22-inch Napkins

Plans for this outstanding linen event began back in February when our buyer made a special trip to Belfast, and were completed in March when we closed a deal with a famous linen manufacturer, which now brings us these linens at such a low price.

A timely opportunity—coming at the season for entertaining and gift giving—a wonderful opportunity to save on fine linens. Snowy white, full bleached double linen damask Table Cloths and Napkins, woven of the finest long-line flax to a satiny smoothness.

From dozens of designs submitted, four very beautiful ones were chosen—shadow chrysanthemum, a lovely new rose design, the scroll or acanthus, and a stately Adam.

No more of these wonderful linens are available and as there are but 500 cloths and 200 dozen napkins in the lot, it will be advisable to come tomorrow.

When ordering by mail or telephone, please give first and second choice of patterns.

PITTSBURGHERS GO TO GIVE STORM AID; OTHERS READY

Three trained Red Cross workers, summoned by Washington headquarters for service following the hurricane disaster will leave here tonight for West Palm Beach, Fla.

They have been sent under the auspices of the Pittsburgh chapter of the Red Cross and have been assigned to the rehabilitation work now going on in the devastated region in the Florida east coast.

The workers are Miss Mary Hughes, of 800½ Heberton avenue; Miss Agnes Hartman, of 238 Daragh street, and Miss Dorothy Griswold, of 814 Taylor avenue.

They are going in response to a telegram received at local Red Cross headquarters last night and will be tendered a farewell by their fellow workers in Pittsburgh this afternoon.

At the same time the national headquarters asked that other Red Cross workers hold themselves in readiness for service in Porto Rico and Florida.

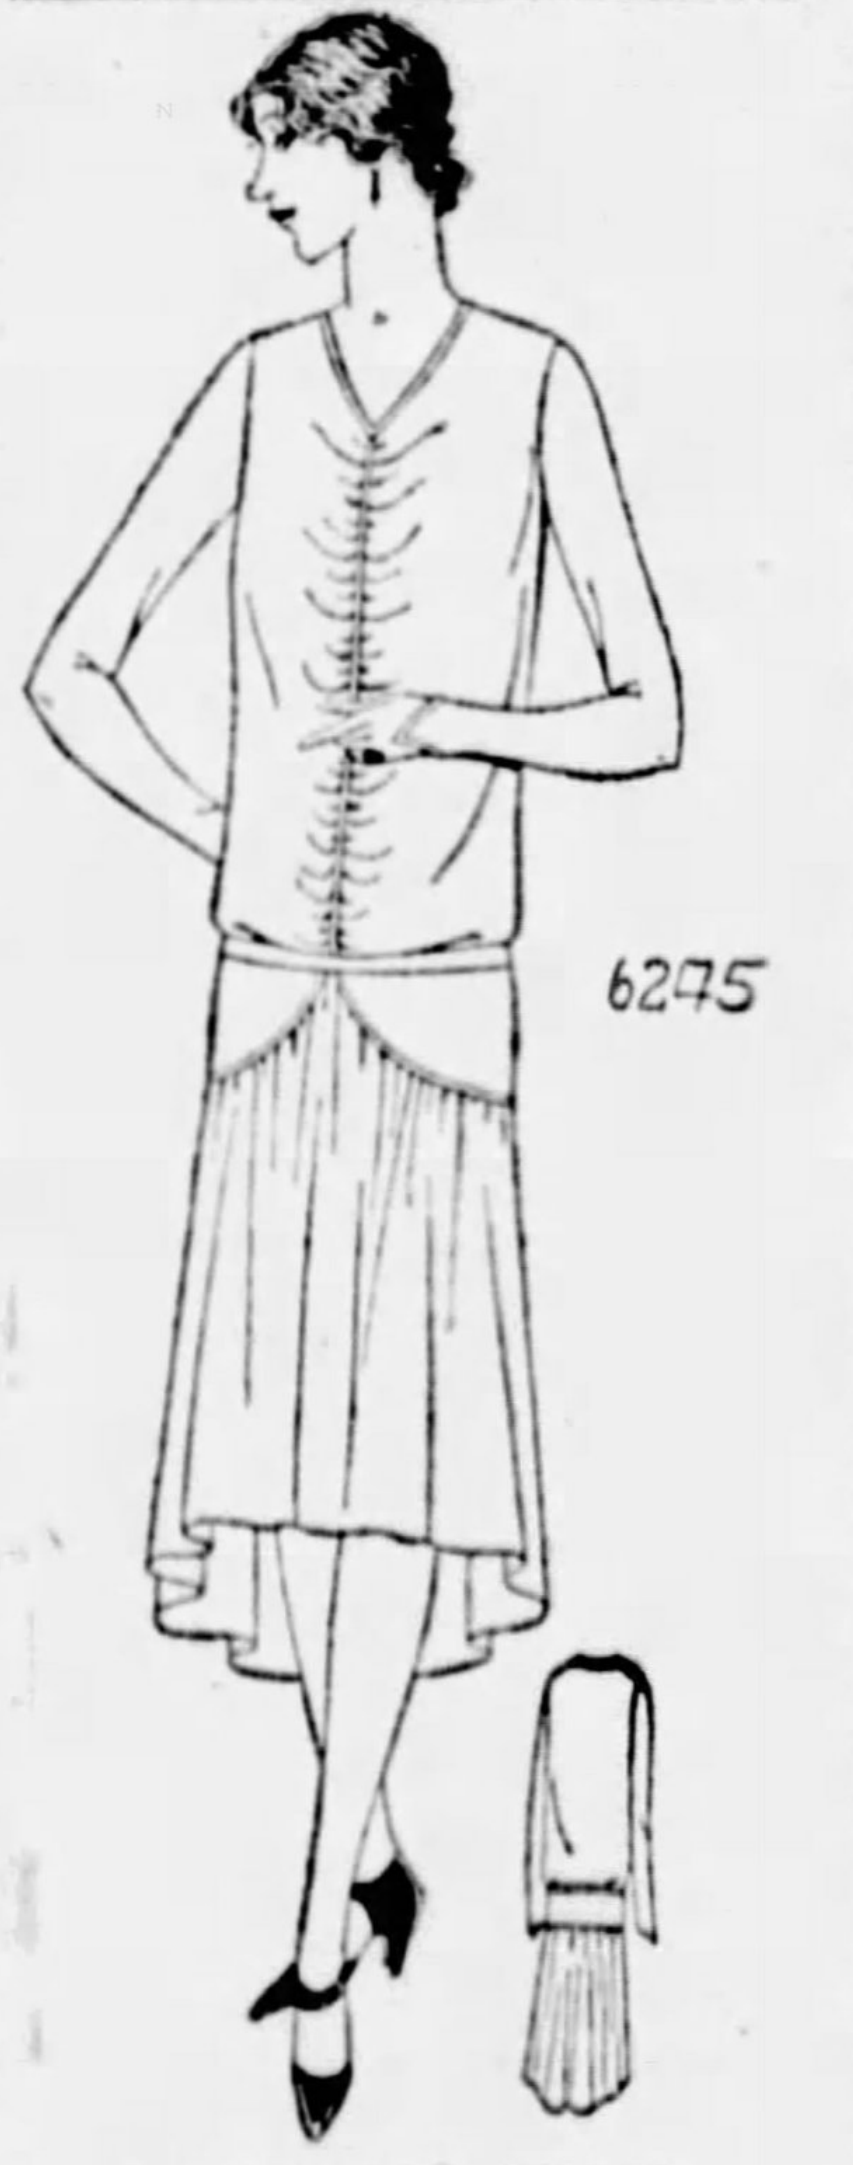
City Violates Own Traffic Rules, Council Told

The Department of Public Safety is violating its own parking regulations on Diamond street, P. J. McArdle charged in Council yesterday.

"The public hardly can use the street because of the number of police and fire automobiles parked there," he said. "It looks raw."

Director of Public Safety James M. Clark was asked by resolution to furnish Council with an explanation.

The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern



A CHARMING FROCK.

Gathers lengthwise over the center of the waist are a new feature expressed in this pleasing design and equally attractive is the dip at the back of the skirt. Hip yokes hold the fulness of the skirt, and a pleasing sleeve completes a distinctive effect. Canton crepe in beige with pipings of white was used in this instance. Satin or taffeta are also desirable.

This model is cut in six sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. A 38-inch size will require 4⅛ yards of 39-inch material. The underbody will require 1 yard of 32-inch lining. The width of the dress at the lower edge with fulness extended is 2⅝ yards.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department, The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Trolleyless Electric Cars

A Message to Employees of the Standard Steel Car Company

THE organization of your company twenty-seven years ago was co-incident with the incorporation of the Mellon National Bank. The Standard Steel Car Company began in 1902 with a capital of $3,000,000. In little more than a quarter century, the assets have grown to $50,000,000. It is an enviable record.

The Standard Steel Car Company was organized to manufacture steel freight cars. Its activities have grown and spread until now it manufactures all types of cars. Standard Steel Cars are in operation in almost every country of the world. One of the latest products of the Standard shops is a trolleyless electric car now in operation on various railroads. This car generates its own electric power by means of a gasoline engine.

In the 27 years of its existence, the Standard Steel Car Company has kept its banking account at the Mellon National Bank. The services of the bank are available, also, to employees of the company. No matter how modest, your account is welcome here.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

CLOISTERED

By KATINKA VAN TYLE

KATHERINE GOODRICH was fed up on her life as it was now ordered. But Katherine never would have expressed it in just those terms herself. She was only a little past 30, healthy, of independent means, and knew from necessary contact with her mirror that she was endowed with what the world is pleased to term "looks."

Yet, Katherine had never in her life received a proposal and now that all her friends were being married and having families, she felt decidedly out of things.

She was thinking about it one morning when her sister-in-law ran in to ask if she might leave daughter Annabelle with Kitty while she went with friend husband on a business trip through the West.

"I simply can't leave her at home, even with a chaperone," lamented Mrs. Goodrich. "Every fool man she meets wants to marry the child. Barely 20 and beleaguered by men—it's impossible! I feel that your influence is good for her and that she'll be as safe here as in a convent."

Katherine's emotions were varied while Mrs. Goodrich sat waiting for her to say what she would do. She wasn't at all sure she relished the inference anent the convent. At the same time another instinct within her vaulted joyously and her pulse was quickened by the soothing thought that if Annabelle did come, she could lay her own case before the girl and find out, if possible, just what it was that seemed to have ordained her to the cloistered ranks of spinsterhood.

The night Annabelle came, a random question of hers paved the way nicely for Miss Goodrich's confidence. It was put with all the candor of youth.

"Aunt Kitty, why have you and Mr. Pennington never married?"

For a fleeting second pride prompted Katherine to evade the answer, but this was followed by the sober second consideration that if she were to interest her niece in her behalf, she had best lay all her cards on the table now.

"Because he never asked me," Kitty finally answered. "To be truthful, as a woman who has had for years the devotion of one man but the proposal of marriage from none, I ask you why? Wherein do I fail to come up to the standards that men demand in the women they seek to marry? You ought to be able to tell—you have had so many suitors."

"Maybe Doug Pennington's afraid of you," Annabelle ventured with a tender smile upon her lips. Annabelle adored her aunt Kitty.

"Afraid of me!" repeated Kitty incredulously. "Impossible!"

"Now see here," the gay young niece went on insistently, "you've asked my advice so I'm going to give it to you naked and unadorned. To begin with, you've thought about nothing else, all your life, but cultivating your mind. In doing so you've forgotten your one best bet. Few would suspect it, Kitten darling, but you've got a face and a figure. Forget that you've got a mind for a while and play up to your other good points."

"Oh—but—my dear!" Kitty Goodrich gasped. "I—I simply couldn't resort to subterfuge to win any man!"

"Then I'll stake my own chances that you stay Kitty Goodrich until you pass in your earthly checks," Annabelle stated. "Men like to be mothered, yes, but they like the clinging vine stuff, too; fairly eat it up—some of them."

Katherine Goodrich really loved Douglas Pennington. She hadn't laid this question before her young niece in any spirit of levity. She was in deadly earnest. And so, to use Annabelle's words, she "listened to reason" and agreed to try out the role of the vine that clings to see what that would bring forth.

She began by purposely forgetting her goloshes one rather damp evening when she and Douglas Pennington were walking to a lecture some blocks away. She was rewarded off hand by his unveiled concern which resulted in his calling a taxi and whisking her right back home to change her shoes.

"This isn't at all in keeping with the common sense you usually display," her cavalier insisted. "It is you who usually have to look after me. Perhaps I'd best be watching after this."

"Score one for the clinging vine," Annabelle laughed when she was told. "The fact that good old Doug didn't get appoplexy when he knew you had done something foolish, shows there's hope for both of you."

At last, in sheer desperation, the clever arch plotter, Annabelle, decided upon the boldest departure of all. Miss Goodrich and her niece were almost exact replicas of each other—same red gold hair, same features, same figure.

One fateful evening when Pennington was due to take Miss Goodrich and her niece to the opera, Katherine went down first to wait for their escort. That was another of her hobbies—never to be late for anything.

Pennington was shown into the library, where Katherine stood with her back to the door. He started suddenly and spoke with so much feeling that a deaf mute could have heard it.

"Why—Why Annabelle!" he said chokingly alarmed. "I—I hope your aunt is not ill?"

Katherine turned slowly to greet the caller and when he saw the radiant smiling girl who was stretched, he sank into the nearstretched, he sang into the nearest chair, speechless with amazement.

"Katherine!" he gasped, his eyes sweeping her from head to feet with a glance she could not help but feel was approving. "What—what have you done to yourself? I—I thought you were Annabelle!"

"Oh," the vine that was trying to cling managed to answer. "I—I've changed dressmakers—that's all. I—I'll put on something else if you don't like me in this, Douglas."

"Like you!" repeated the man, a little catch disturbing the usual smoothness of his voice. "I adore you! This is the first time in my life that I haven't felt afraid of you. This is the first time in my life that—I have courage to say this. If it disturbs you to have me say this, please remember that it comes from one whose deep appreciation of your friendship has been steadily increasing for many years. Katherine, you've seemed so far above me—but tonight, in that pale green thing you're wearing, you're like a little girl—a tender, clinging vine that needs something to lean on. Will you marry me, and lean on me—always?"

"Didn't I tell you?" Annabelle repeated, in the wee small hours when they were talking things over. "It was that dress of mine that put on the finishing touch, Kitten, darling, but any one could see he's been hovering on the edge for a long time."

"I'll never have the courage to reveal the subterfuge," Katherine answered, her eyes glowing with happiness.

"Well," drawled her aunt, "even if we hadn't done what we set out to, we'd have been keeping the men away from you."

"There's never been but one man for me," Annabelle assured her, "and Satan and all his cohorts couldn't have kept us apart. We were married one evening while you and Doug went to that lecture. He's gone to Europe on business."

"Merciful heaven!" exclaimed Katherine Goodrich-soon-to-be-Pennington, thinking of what her sister-in-law had said the morning she called to see about leaving Annabelle. "This certainly is some convent!"

Prescription He Wrote in 1892 is the World's Most Popular Laxative

When Dr. Caldwell started to practice medicine, back in 1875, the needs for a laxative were not as great as they are today. People lived normal, quiet lives, ate plain, wholesome food, and got plenty of fresh air and sunshine. But even that early there were drastic physics and purges for the relief of constipation which Dr. Caldwell did not believe were good for human beings to put into their system. So he wrote a prescription for a laxative to be used by his patients.

The prescription for constipation that he used early in his practice, and which he put in drug stores in 1892 under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a liquid vegetable remedy, intended for women, children and elderly people, and they need just such a mild, safe, gentle bowel stimulant as Syrup Pepsin.

Under successful management this prescription has proven its worth and is now the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. The fact that millions of bottles are used a year proves that it has won the confidence of people who needed it to get relief from headaches, biliousness, flatulence, indigestion, loss of appetite and sleep, bad breath, dyspepsia, colds and fevers.

Millions of families are now never without Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and if you will once start using it you will also always have a bottle handy for emergencies.

It is particularly pleasing to know that the most of it is bought by mothers for themselves and the children, though Syrup Pepsin is just as valuable for elderly people. All drug stores have the generous bottles, or use this free coupon:

"What makes you so tired, Mother?"

Nerve strain and fatigue are relieved by these properly designed shoes that prevent and correct foot troubles

ARE you tired, worn-out at the end of the day? Too tired for the theatre, for dancing, for anything except restless slumber? Perhaps improperly shaped shoes are causing the trouble. Foot-ailments do injure your entire system. They cause headache, nerve-strain, fatigue and other ailments even worse.

And foot-troubles usually are as unnecessary as they are undesirable. It isn't bad feet—it's bad shoes. Shoes that pinch or burn. Shoes that throw your weight forward on your instep. Shoes that bring on fallen arches and flat feet.

You can find in Ground Grippers the same relief from foot troubles that thousands of other men and women have found. These shoes are orthopedically correct. They are scientifically designed to help your feet. They prevent and correct foot ills caused by ordinary, faulty shoes.

1. The Flexible Arch, which allows the foot muscles to exercise and thus strengthen themselves with every step. This flexibility makes the shoe close-fitting and comfortable, easing the foot while assisting the arch to absorb the shock of walking.

2. The Straight Inner Line, permitting the toes to function with a free, strong, gripping action.

3. The Patented Rotor Heel, which helps you toe straight ahead, the normal, natural way.

Back of every pair of Ground Grippers are twenty-five years of promises fulfilled. Back of every Ground Gripper claim are the testimonials of thousands of satisfied wearers.

Try Ground Grippers today. Notice how they ease your feet. How foot troubles dwindle and vanish.

At the nearest Ground Gripper store is a man who will understand your feet and your shoe problems. Give him the chance to help you.

STAGE AND SCREEN ACTIVITIES DETAILED IN PICTURES AND GOSSIP ABOUT PLAYERS

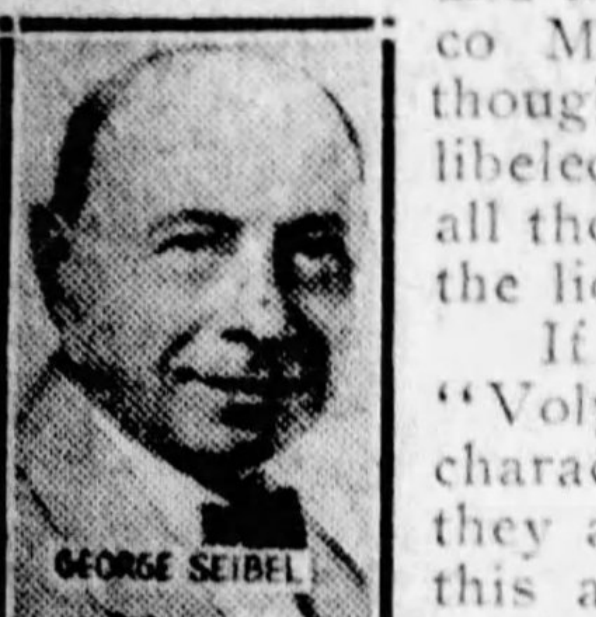
By GEORGE SEIBEL.



VENICE got another splashing of mud at the Nixon Theater last night, when the Theater Guild produced "Volpone," originally written by Ben Jonson, adapted by Stefan Zweig, and translated by Ruth Langner. After "Marco Millions" last week, one might have thought the Queen of the Adriatic had been libeled enough. Now comes "Volpone," and all the waters of the Grand Canal cannot wash the lions of St. Mark clean again.

If ever there was an unpleasant play, "Volpone" is it. The characters are not characters—they are Vices incarnate. Mostly they are variations of one vice—Greed. With this are mingled a few smaller vices, like malice, deceitfulness, lust. They are all scheming, plotting, reaching after Gold. This gold is in the possession of Volpone, the Fox who feigns illness. He flatters all the other slimy creatures who want his gold, and gets theirs from them, making them believe he has named each one as his sole heir. At last this tangled web is torn by the final trick of the Fox, which proves his undoing, and Mosca, the Gadfly he has used to torment others, becomes his own executor and executioner, being the last heir—one that will scatter the gold Volpone has hoarded.

This ribald comedy is played with Rabelaisian boisterousness and gusto, as it must be played. They whine, and roar, and snivel, and whoop, and prance, and buzz, and hoot, and croak to give verisimilitude to their parts. It is as if all Aesop's Animals had come to life to perform their tricks. Such masterpieces of makeup have rarely been seen on the stage in our day. Such vigorous realism of acting is rare at any time. Sardonic satire without a single redeeming smile—license of speech that stops at nothing as too holy—"Volpone" is a riot of farcical fun filled with the smelliest scum of the Grand Canal and the reekiest muck of the Rialto.

Great acting is what makes it go down! Half a dozen people give impersonations that are as vivid and veracious as their makeups. Claude Rains as Volpone is Mansfieldian, but with high animal spirit that Mansfield would have missed. Philip Leigh as Voltore, the Vulture; Henry Travers as Corbaccio, the Raven; Earle Larrimore as Mosca, the Gadfly; Margalo Gillmore as Colomba, the Dove, and Ruth Chorpenning as Canina, whose animal designation we are spared by the program—all gave marvelous interpretations of their thankless roles. As the Judge, Morris Carnovsky was again flawless in carriage and delivery. Altogether a remarkable cast in a most interesting though hardly pleasant play. "Loveless" it is labeled—and it lacks several other graces.

Atmosphere and everything is perfect—a Guild production up to the high traditions of modern stage art. The lighting, the incidental music, the rich furnishings, the stage groupings, especially in the Trial Scene, all were superb. The second week of the Theater Guild's Pittsburgh season bids fair to surpass the first in artistic merit and popular acclamation.

AMONG ARTISTS :-: NOW APPEARING :-: IN AMUSEMENTS

Earle Larrimore, in character, in "Volpone," Theater Guild comedy in Nixon.

FARERLL AGAIN IN ALDINE

"Fazil," featuring Charles Farrell and Greta Nissen, is the screen attraction in the Aldine. It is a story that ranges from Paris to the Sahara in the scope of its scenes. Farrell plays a young Arabian, son of a chieftain, who falls in love with a young French girl. In time she thinks she has become tired of him and arranges that she be taken away by several of her countrymen. Then she discovers that she really loves him and when Arabian troupes overtake the fleeing party, she assumes the blame, and they are allowed to go with an escort. The finale, tragic, unites them forever. It is a picture with emotional depth and its development is marked with strict adherence to artistic demands rather than sentimental factors. The principals both do excellent work. "Talkie" movies carry the audience back to Lindbergh's trans-Atlantic flight and gives it songs by Margaret Lawrence, comedienne. There also are news pictures.

ACADEMY BURLESQUE TITLED "BIG REVUE"

"Big Revue" is the burlesque this week in the Academy. Jerry McCauley, an oriental dancer, presents several dance specialties. Fred Reeb and George Murray, funsters, appear in a number of travesties, including "The National Bank." Lillian Dixon offers songs. Clair Devine is seen in specialties. Jane Vitali, an Italian girl, offers a number, "The Beauty Form Girls," assisted by a chorus. Lew Price portrays Broadway characters.

FILM IS BEST IN DAVIS

Again the photoplay feature in the Davis program is the best thing of the bill—and this time it is really remarkable for ingenious twists of plot, hairbreadth escapes of Bebe Daniels, and rough-house comedy of the wildest sort. "Hot News" the film is called, and it shows the adventures of Bebe as a cameraman, getting scoops for her father's newsreel and capturing an international criminal as well as a handsome husband, who was her rival in the camera game. Full of thrills and laughs, this photoplay makes the rest of the program seem tame, though there are some trick bicyclists, the Six Daunton S ws, who furnish enough thrills of their own. Three of the "Our Gang" kids also appear in person without starting any conflagration. The two Stuart Girls have amusing songs, and Hawaiian melodies are snapped off by Villa and Strigo. Johnny Herman's blackface act, with his partner in a box, also proved entertaining, but the spiciest feature of the vaudeville menu was furnished by Clara Barry and Orval Whitlege—in fact, some of their spice is a bit raw. All throught it is a good bill—with Bebe Daniels' reel feature as the real feature.

GOOD PICTURE IN PENN

"Our Dancing Daughters," photoplay in the Penn this week, besides being an interesting story from a drama standpoint, is an exposition of the danger young people place themselves in by their indiscretions and another illustration of the fact that appearances often deceive. Diana, played skillfully by Joan Crawford, loves to dance and seems to be such a slave to the pastime that the young man with whom she is in love, is easily deceived into believing she is entirely frivolous, whereas she is a girl of real depth of character. So Ben, who has captured her heart and is attracted to her, is easily swept into the arms of Ann, a little gold digger, whose weapon is a baby smile and deceit. It takes a tragedy to straighten all things out, as they ultimately are. Miss Crawford does excellent work in a sympathetic role. Anita Page, very new to the screen, demonstrates real art in her portrayal of the little gold digger, rising to heights really unlooked for, especially in a tipsy scene. John Mack Brown is Ben, which means that Ben is well done. On the stage "High Hat" introduces various acts of comedy, song and dance, featuring Ginger Rogers and others, Teddy Joyce presiding as master of ceremonies.

BIBLE DRAMA IN STANLEY

"King of Kings," photoplay of dramatic tensity illustrating incidents in the last two years of the life of Jesus, culminating in the greatest tragedy of the ages, the Crucifixion, is in the Stanley. The photoplay is interesting especially in the scenes of the Holy Land, with the atmosphere of the day of the Saviour reproduced with what appears to be marked accuracy. In all events the scenes are very effective as a background for the activities of the Christ as familiar scenes of the Bible are portrayed, such as the special thoughtfulness toward children, the working of miracles, including the dramatic raising of Lazarus from the dead, driving the traders from the Temple, etc. Scenically, it is really magnificent and deeply impressive, and the acting of a large cast of principals and thousands who represent the populace is of high order. H. B. Warner plays the Christus role with reverent artistry. Dorothy Cumming is effective as the Virgin Mary and Ernest Torrence is vigorous as Peter. Others include Jacqueline Logan, Rudolph and Joseph Schildkraut, Victor Varconi and many others. The picture is presented with impressive musical accompaniment.

BILL IN HARRIS AMUSES

The Royal Welsh Ladies' Choir tops the bill which opened a three-day engagement in the Harris yesterday. The ladies do quite well, vocally. They managed to get quite a bit of applause at yesterday's opening performance. The photoplay feature is another of those underworld melodramas, titled "Danger Street." Warner Baxter has the leading role, that of a clubman, who, disappointed in love, takes a hand in a gangster war. Tom and Dolly Ward appear in an act of music and nonsense. Tom, with big spectacles and flowing trousers, sings a five-and-ten-cent

GIANT AIRSHIP PREPARES FOR U. S. FLIGHT

International News Service.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, Oct. 2.—The new super-dirigible Count Zeppelin started from its hangar here at 7 a. m. today on what may be its last trial flight before Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the huge craft, essays to pilot it across the Atlantic Ocean to the United States. Seventy-one persons were aboard.

The ship headed northward on today's trip, which may be of 30 hours' duration. A large part of Northern Germany will be traversed. The ship will hover over Berlin for a time out of respect for President Von Hindenburg, celebrating his eighty-first birthday today. The ship may then head northwest and pass over parts of Denmark, Norway, Sweden and the Baltic Sea before heading back here.

A large supply of the new "blue-gas" fuel was taken along. This will be subjected to exhaustive tests en route so that it may be decided definitely whether or not it shall be used on the trans-Atlantic trip.

In addition to the crew of 39, there were 32 passengers aboard. They included officials of the ministry of transportation and two women passengers, one the wife of Herr Von Kardoff, vice president of the Reichstag.

PLACED IN JAIL AS ELOPER

Alleged to have stolen an automobile in Chicago and eloped to Allegheny county with a girl from Gary, Ind., Roy J. Cook, formerly of Homestead Park, was committed to the county jail yesterday by Justice of the Peace Richard E. Lloyd, of Mifflin township, to await the arrival of Chicago authorities. Cook is said to know of the stealing of another machine in Philadelphia and is to be questioned as to his alleged enlistment in the Army.

STAGE AND SCREEN

store dittie and some other comic numbers. More comedy is furnished by Charles "Red" Marshall and his company. "Red" has a terrible, but funny time, hitting the right vocal notes as well as making love to his girl. Frances Kennedy, who is one of the best things on the bill, comes along under a big green hat and emits chatter about the fair sex, trips a few dance steps and does some musical impersonations. Then there's a routine song act by the Four Texans, a male quartet, and an act of xylophone music by Mary Zoller and Company.

"WINGS," WITH SOUND, GRAND ATTRACTION

"Wings," the widely acclaimed photoplay of war and aviation, is being presented in the Grand this week, with sound effects and musical accompaniment, just as it was in its Stanley showing and in its road show presentation. The story, dealing with two small-town boys, who go to the war as aviators, is well known. Their experiences in training camp and high in the clouds in the battle areas contain many thrills. There are moments of human interest and comedy, too. Charles Rogers and Richard Arlen portray the two aviators, one who is "shot down" by his pal over the enemy lines, and the other who lives to come home and find the "girl-next-door" is the girl for him after all. Clara Bow portrays her.

TUNEFUL "GOOD NEWS" IN LAST WEEK, ALVIN

"Good News," peppy comedy, the scenes of which are portrayed as representing the campus and other places in a co-educational college, began the second and last week of its engagement in the Alvin last night. It is a young company that keeps the college spirit in evidence through a series of comedy scenes with a romantic background and there is plenty of the most lively dancing you have seen in many a day. Prominent among the principals are William Wayne and Margaret Lee, who dominate the comedy, Don Lanning, Mildred Costello and Dorothy Fitzgibbons, who have the romantic leads, Charles Hefferman, Edward Gallagher and Lew Bellin, a glee club trio.

TROPICAL ACT TOPS SHOW IN SHERIDAN

A tropical revue, "Under the Palms," headed by Leo Kendell and Bert Hall, top the vaudeville show in the Sheridan Square the first three days of the week. This act has to do with a group of tourists visiting the tropics and it offers dance, song and comedy. Clarence Downey and Company present the skit, "Spoofing Spooks." A dance act is offered by the Four Dancing Kennedys—papa, mama and the children. Spencer and Williams sing and chatter, in an act Putting Over." Loma Worth displays musical versatility by playing a number of instruments. The photoplay is "The Street Angel," co-featuring Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell.

BEBE DANIELS STAR IN LIBERTY PICTURE

"Hot News," a feature photoplay that has to do with this business of making the news reels, is the current attraction in the Liberty. Bebe Daniels is the star and she gets herself into plenty of romance and adventure. One minute she's atop the Statue of Liberty, trying to "snap" a picture of an incoming liner; the next she is seen riding through the air in a breeches buoy to a wrecked ship at sea, with her trusty camera under her arm. These are just a few of the things that Bebe undertakes in the entertaining picture. The Liberty also is presenting a short comedy and news pictures.

STOCK COMPANY IN EAST END THEATER

The Lillian Desmonde Players are making their debut in the East End Theater this week. This stock company plans to be in that theater throughout the winter season. Their opening production is "Naughty Cinderella." This is the Irene Bordoni stage success. Lillian Desmonde and John Vossburg play the leading roles. Johnny Rowe is seen in a comedy role. Other players include Katherene Moore, Ted Osborne, Lois B. Hammond and Ward Mattice.

CROOK MELODRAMA IS REGENT PICTURE

"State Street Sadie," a vitaphone picture, is this week's attraction in the Regent. It is a crook melodrama. Conrad Nagel and Myrna Loy head the cast. The film besides the usual vitaphone symphonic accompaniment, registers the voice of the players in tense moments of action. The story is that of the pursuit of the killer of a policeman. The policeman's daughter goes into the dives of the underworld, in pursuit of the slayer, becoming known as "State Street Sadie."

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIAL HAPPENINGS

Social Calendar Crowded With Affairs for Season's Debutantes and Parties for Brides-Elect

OUR fall brides and our debutantes seem to be sharing honors just now, as far as entertaining is concerned. Almost every day this month will see at least one party for either one or the other, and occasionaly the hostesses are compelled to change their dates lest the affairs overlap. Strikingly unusual for October, isn't it? As a rule, these conditions don't arise until late November and December.

One of the much-feted girls is Eleanor Baton, who is going to be married to Edwin F. Scheetz, of Philadelphia, on Saturday. Just today, for instance, Margaret Hagan, of Aylesboro avenue, is giving a bridge luncheon in the Field Club for Eleanor, and tomorrow, Martha Cooper is going to entertain with a similar party. And tomorrow night, the John S. McCormicks, of Darlington road, will give a dinner dance for the bridal party in the Pittsburgh Athletic Association. Mrs. Robert W. Rapp is planning a bridge luncheon for Thursday in her home and the next day, Christine Griggs will give the same sort of party for Eleanor. The rehearsal is set for Friday night, and it will be followed by a dinner dance in the Athletic Association, given by Virginia Rossell, who is one of the bridesmaids. Another bridesmaid, Winifred Johnston, of New Castle, is to give a breakfast for the bridal party Saturday.

There have been lots of parties for Eleanor during the last few weeks, of course, one of them being a bridge-luncheon, which Sara Lewis gave Saturday at her home in South Pacific avenue. That night, too, Virginia Woolfolk entertained with a dinner dance in the Pittsburgh Country Club.

Eleanor announced her own attendants several weeks ago, but to refresh your memory I will repeat the list. Her sister, Louise, will be maid of honor, and the bridesmaids will include her cousin, Catherine Baton, of Philadelphia; Dolores Osborne, from Boston; Doris Garrett, also from Boston; Winifred Johnston, of New Castle, and Virginia Rossell and Virginia Woolfolk, of Pittsburgh. Mr. Scheetz will have his brother, Henry F. Scheetz, Jr., for his best man and the ushers will be James B. Sayres, Frank Sayres, Ralph Covert and Eleanor's brother, Charles Bickley Baton, all of Pittsburgh; Edward Fell, of Elkins Park, Pa., and John F. Kell, of Baltimore. The ceremony will be performed at 5:30 o'clock in Christ Methodist Episcopal Church and later there will be a reception in the Twentieth Century Club.

AS for the debutantes, the only one who has made her bow to society this fall, Louise Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Oliver Evans, of South Negley avenue, was guest of honor at a bridge luncheon given today. Mrs. Paul B. Straub, of Thornburg, was the hostess, and she entertained in the Twentieth Century Club. The tables—four of them—were decorated with autumn flowers, I've been told.

* * *

MRS. ROBERT LEE WILSON, who lives in the King Edward apartments, is going to have a visitor from the South for a few days, I understand. Her guest will be Mrs. Maurice Deforger, of New Orleans, and she is arriving today. Mrs. Wilson, by the way, has just returned home after spending a week in New York. And before going to New York, she visited her niece, Marion Hutson, who is at Smith College.

A GOOD many of our local folks seem to be out of town. Mrs. William Frew and her daughter, Emily, of Devon road, are in New York for a while, I hear, stopping at the Savoy-Plaza. And down at Virginia Beach are the junior George C. Burgwins, of Bayard street, and J. D. Hailman, of Penn avenue.

MR. AND MRS. B. B. CAROTHERS, of Pennsylvania avenue, North Side, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Clara Louise Carothers, and Joseph A. McLane, of the East End, which was solemnized Saturday at 3 o'clock in Trinity Methodist Protestant Church by the Rev. C. L. Daugherty. Miss Margaret Heyman was maid of honor and Frank Hamilton best man. After a short eastern trip, Mr. and Mrs. McLane will be at home in North Lincoln avenue, North Side.

MISS SARAH ADELAIDE ASHCOM, daughter of Mrs. Andrew Sumner Braznell, of East End avenue, has chosen November 1 as the date for her marriage to Lieut. William Paul Johnson, United States Army, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Paul Johnson, of Johnstown.

* * *

A SHOWER in honor of Mrs. Charles Bertram was given Friday night in the home of her mother, Mrs. J. O. Edeburn, of Southerland street, Sheraden. Before her recent marriage Mrs. Bertram was Miss Ola M. Edeburn.

MISS FRIEDA WIEGAL, of Brookline, entertained at home last night in honor of Miss Portia Morrow, daughter of Mrs. Esther Morrow, of Brookline, whose marriage to Harold Speer Wiegel, brother of the hostess, will be solemnized Thursday. Mrs. Louise C. Clark, of Mount Lebanon, entertained for her sister, Miss Morrow, on Saturday, and Mrs. Ada Greene, of the North Side, also entertained for the same guest last week.

* * *

MEMBERS of the University of Pittsburgh industrial group of the Y. W. C. A. will be entertained tomorrow night at the home of Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Warne, of Avalon street. This is the first in a series of social events planned by the group.

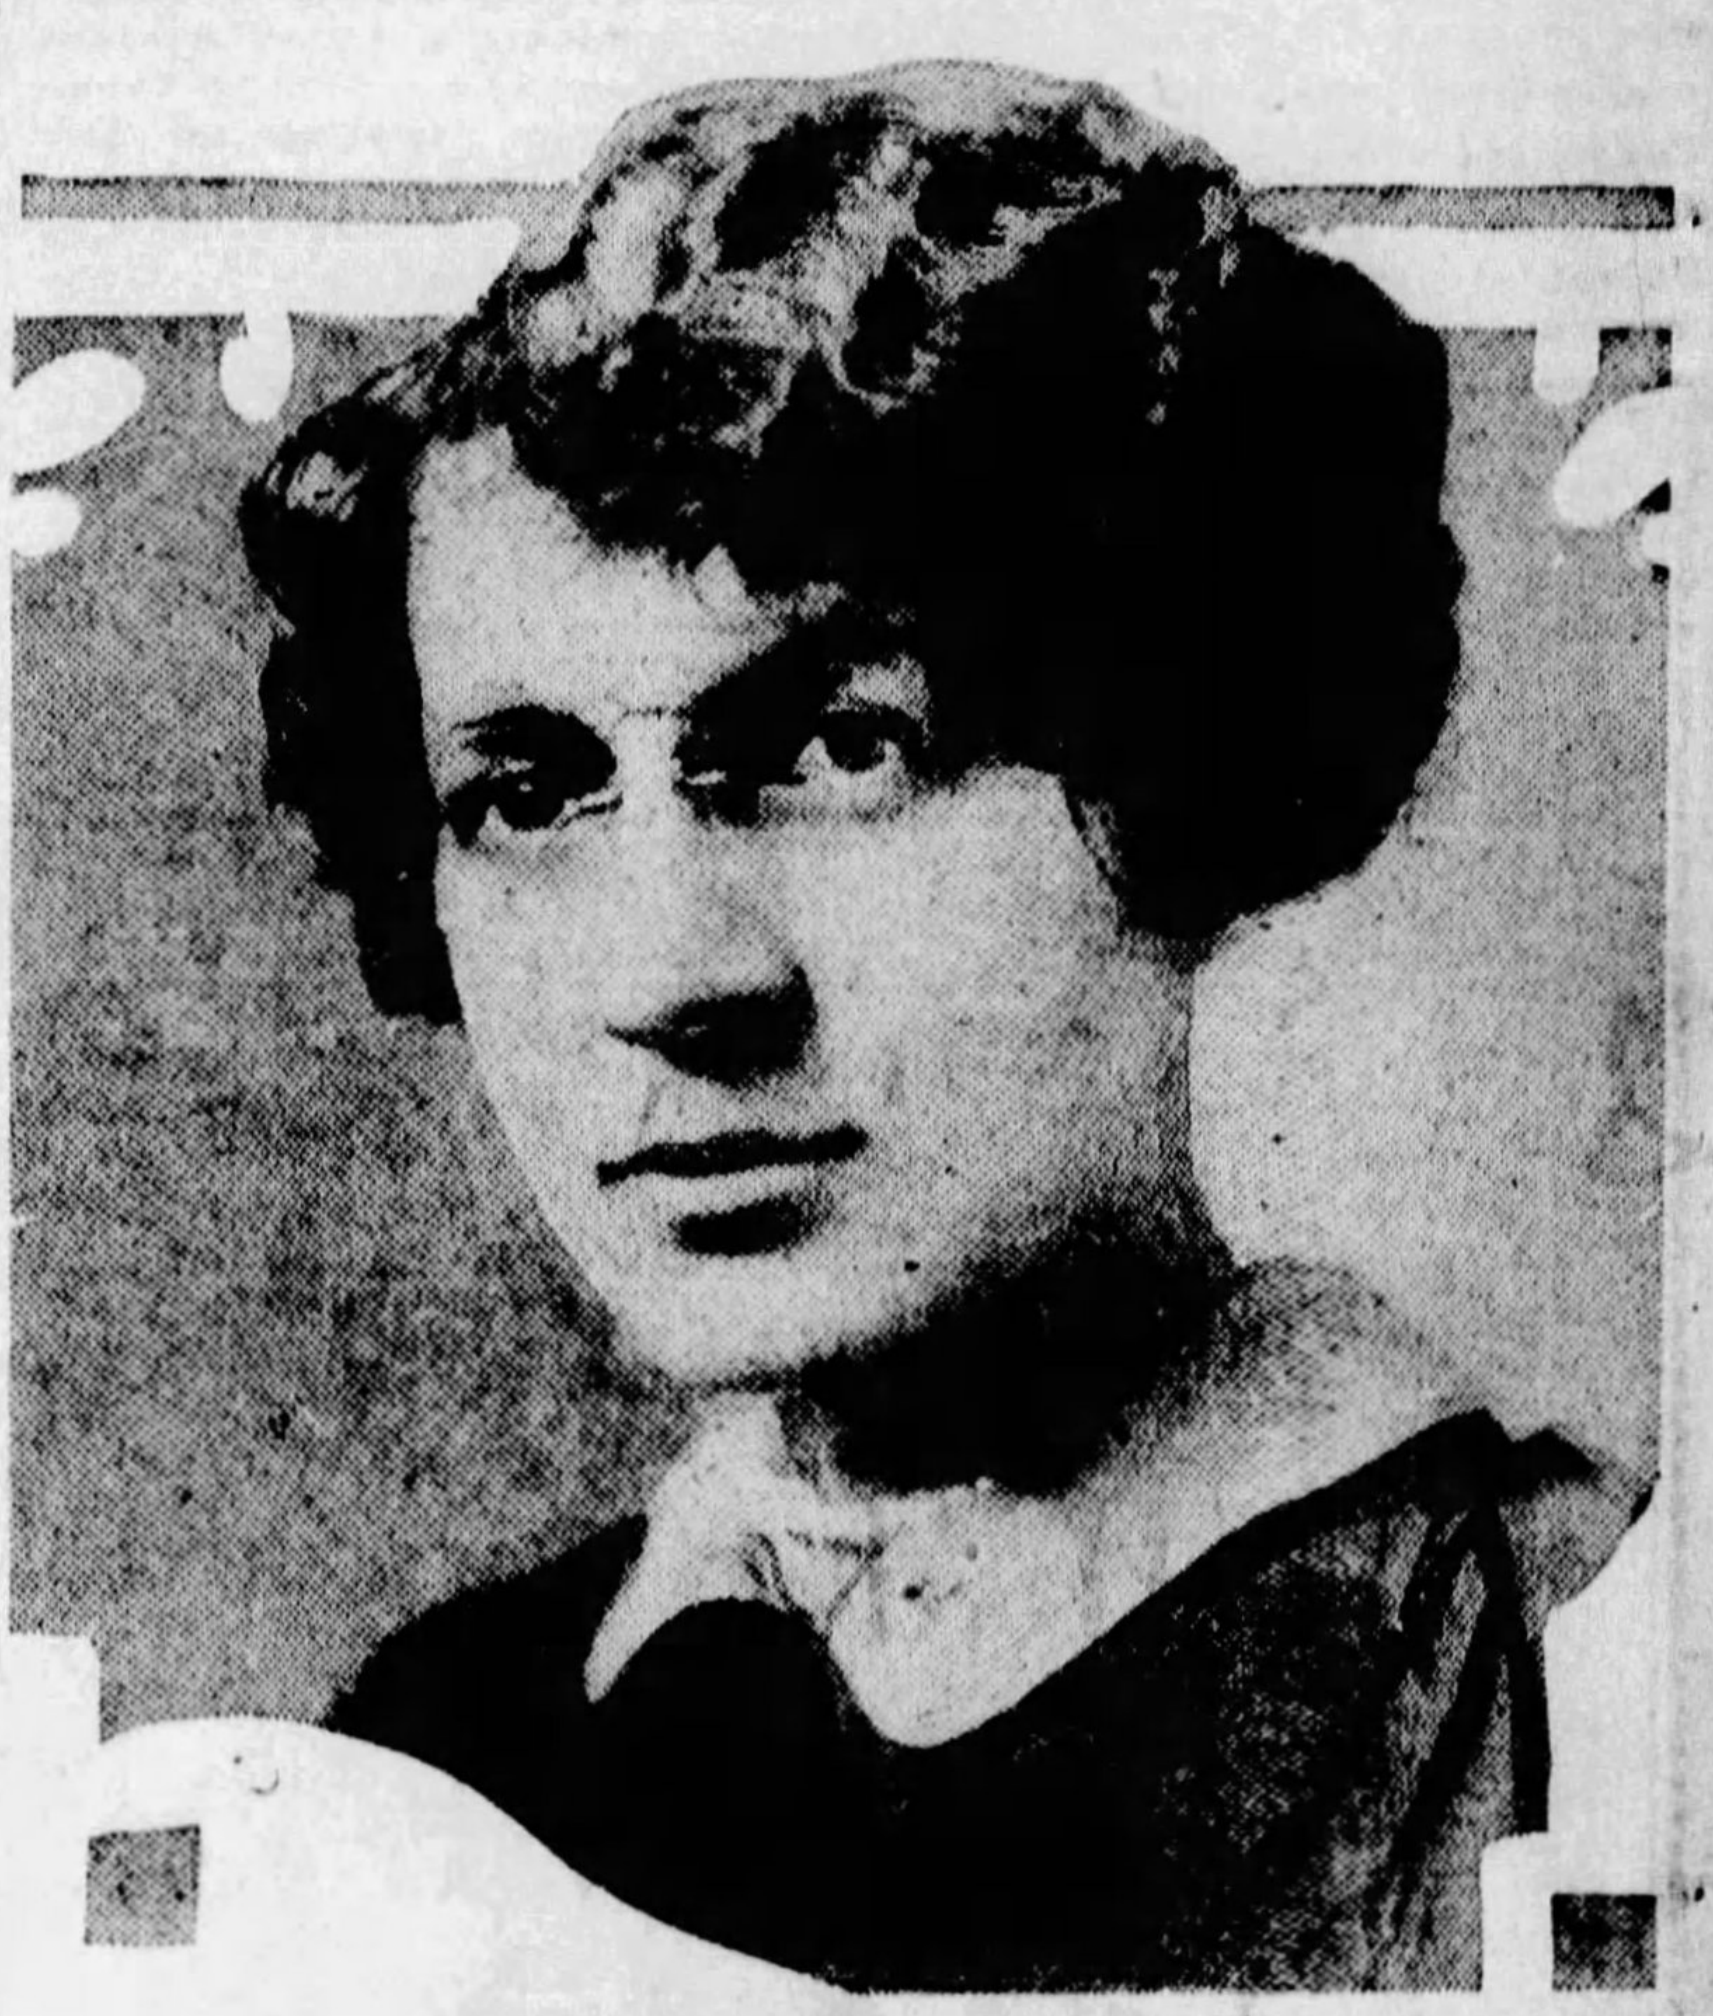
WOMEN'S CLUB MEETS



MRS. HAROLD L. LANG

Mrs. Harold L. Lang is president of the Women's Club of the Carnegie Institute of Technology, which meets tomorrow in the parlors of the Margaret Morrison Carnegie College.

WOMAN'S ALLIANCE ACTIVITIES VARIED

THE activities of no woman's organization could be more varied than those of the Woman's Alliance of the First Unitarian Church.

All-day sewing meetings for the benefit of philanthropic groups, dinners, afternoon card benefits, food sales for the benefit of the social service committee, a minstrel show, congregational meetings, teas, and the usual program meetings are all included in the plans for this year, to open tomorrow with a reception and tea in honor of Mrs. Charles J. Mundo, the president.

Among the notable talks to be given before the club this year are "The Coming Renaissance," by Dr. L. Walter Mason; "Russia's Relation to World Progress," by Dr. Roswell H. Johnson; "Pittsburgh's Bureau of Public Welfare," by Mrs. Enoch Rauh; "My Enchanted Year," by Mrs. George Pearson; "The Current International Situation," by Dr. Louis K. Manly; "What Is Religion?" by the Rev. Dilworth Lupton; "Modern Aims in Education," by James S. Tippett.

In addition, book reviews will be given throughout the year.

Mrs. Mundo will be assisted by these officers: Mrs. H. M. Marvel, vice-president; Mrs. H. Talbot Peterson, second vice-president; Mrs. Harvey S. Fouse, recording secretary; Mrs. Burton C. Royce, corresponding secretary; Mrs. W. W. Austin, treasurer; Mrs Thomas C. Clifford, Mrs. Clara B. McCombs, Mrs. Elizabeth Schneider and Mrs. Walter B. Spellmire, directors.

MRS. J. CHARLES WILSON, incoming president of The Tourists, outlined the club's 42 years yesterday at the opening meeting and president's reception in the Woman's City Club. The musical program was given by Mrs. Philip Franklin, soprano, accompanied by Mrs. J. W. Young, Jr.; Mrs. C. S. Morrow, soprano and Mrs. H. H. Hanna, contralto, accompanied by Mrs. W. B. McCreery, and Miss Helen Machette, pianist. Mrs. G. W. Remensnyder was chairman and Mrs. J. G. Simpson and Mrs. D. N. Bulford poured tea. The retiring president, Mrs. Marvin E. Golding, read a tribute to Mrs. Wilson which was written by Mrs. Edith White Patterson.

THE Brookside Woman's Club is holding its initial meeting today at the home of Mrs. Wilbur Goodrich, with Mrs. Sheddon Edwards assisting. This is a "get-together" meeting and committees are to be appointed.

THE Children's Charity of the Presbyterian Hospital will hold its monthly all-day sewing meeting tomorrow in the East Liberty Presbyterian Church.

PEOPLE of Europe are weary of war, and the military forces there are not in evidence, George Seibel told the Woman's International League for Peace at the luncheon meeting on Saturday in the Congress clubhouse.

THE opening luncheon of the Bellevue Outlook Club was held yesterday in the Congress Clubhouse, when the gavel was presented to the new president, Mrs. Herbert J. Smith. The club sang and there were readings by Mrs. T. H. McGraw, of Oakmont.

MISS RUTH GRINDLE, Miss Eleanor Morgan, Miss Jean Cain, Thomas Baldridge, Robert Wilson and James McGrath will be members of the caste for the musical comedy, "Springtime," to be given in the auditorium of the Westinghouse High School October 11 and 12 for the benefit of the Business Girl's League of the East Liberty Young Woman's Christian Association. Mrs. H. A. Floyd is chairman of the actors' committee.

THE president's day reception of the Woman's Club of Wilkinsburg was held yesterday in the Y. W. C. A. Community House in honor of Mrs. Albert L. Vencill. Mrs. W. C. Hawley, retiring president, presented the gavel to her successor and there were greetings from the presidents of other clubs. A musical program was given by Mrs. Elma B. Sulzner, contralto; Miss Priscilla Long, violinist, and Miss Katherine Sharrar, pianist. It was decided that the club will urge the support of the Kellogg peace pact.

MRS. L. L. HARTLEY, new president of the Homewood Woman's Club, stressed "joyful service" as the club slogan for the coming year at the opening meeting yesterday in the Homewood Carnegie Library. The retiring president, Mrs. G. L. Carson, presented Mrs. Hartley, and there was a talk by Mrs. Carl E. Coslowsky, president of the Congress of Women's Clubs. Joseph Ternyey, violinist, played, accompanied by Miss Katherine Brose, and there were readings by Miss Helen Hotham. Mrs. A. R. Norton was chairman of music, and Mrs. E. W. Kennety was social chairman.

THE Pittsburgh Girls' Club will hold a fall dance at Riverview Inn on Friday evening. In charge of arrangements for the event will be Miss Mildred Oglesby, Miss Mabel Byers and Miss Margaret Prentice.

The club holds gymnasium classes Tuesday evenings at the North School, Duquesne way, under the direction of Miss Jean Kelleher.

Silver Salon

THE GROGAN institution was founded in 1839. We are nearing our ninetieth anniversary. Ninety years is a long span—probably exceeding the memory of any man. Yet the Grogan institution has been ever young, active and progessive.
Today our remodeled and enlarged galleries which invite your inspection seem to express in the finest sense youthful vigor, virility and imagination in merchandising thought and trends, as well as confidence and faith in the future of Pittsburgh.
With floor space practically doubled the company now occupies the entire ground floor with shops and offices on the second floor of the Grogan Building at Wood St. and Sixth Ave.
We are grateful to Pittsburghers for the confidence they have placed in our institution, and it will be our constant aim to give to this city one of the world's outstanding jewelry establishments, both in beauty of appointments and broad range of precious merchandise.

The Foyer opens into a Gallery which is in a sense a museum of fine arts.

RADIO EXHIBIT OPENED

BUILDING OFFICIALS TO MEET HERE IN 1929

The Building Officials Conference of America, will hold its annual meeting here next year, City Council was notified yesterday by H. L. Ley, superintendent of the Bureau of Building Inspection.

BUREAU OF HIGHWAYS ASK FOR NEW AUTOS

The supervisors in the Bureau of Highways and Sewers would like to have new automobiles, they have informed Council. They are now using flivvers purchased in September, 1924. Street cars, they said, are impracticable, and taxicabs are too expensive.

200 NEW MODELS SHOWN; TWO STAGES FOR ARTISTS

Pittsburgh's third annual radio show made its debut last night at Duquesne Garden, thousands of friends of radio attending the inaugural session.

The million-dollar exposition of radio equipment which will continue throughout the week, was officially opened with an address of welcome by A. A. Buehn, chairman of the executive committee of the Pittsburgh Radio Trade Association, which is sponsoring the exhibition.

The show is undoubtedly an improvement over its two successful predecessors and nothing but praise can be said of it. Beautiful and artistically decorated booths occupy every available inch of space, setting off to the best advantage more than 200 new models of receiving sets, innumerable types of loud speakers and other radio equipment and apparatus.

Special features which attracted the favorable comment of the spectators were the two stages on which the artists perform, which were arranged under the direction of Carl Goettman, internationally known decorator. One is a replica of the stage of the Follies Bergere, Paris. The curtain of the set was used in a recent production of the famous Parisian revue.

Vaughn deLeath, the "original radio girl" whose entertaining ability is proved by the fact that no other singer of popular songs has ever been better received or more persistently demanded by invisible audiences, will entertain tonight, assisted by other artists. Her program and a concert by the DeLuxe Orchestra will play, the music going on the air from 3 to 4 o'clock from WCAE.

Director

JOE TYLER

When the Islam Grotto Band, assisted by the Beaus Art Quartet, entertains the invisible audience from the studio of WJAS at 7:45 o'clock tonight, Joe Tyler, director, will be in charge of the program.

TRAFFIC LIGHTS UP TO COUNCIL

The ordinance making a contract between the City of Pittsburgh and the Duquesne Light Company for the construction of an electric traffic control system in the downtown section appeared yesterday in Council.

Under the contract the company would construct the lights. Council has set aside $125,000 for the purpose, but the total cost is estimated at about $200,000.

WHAT'S ON THE AIR

Entertainers at the third annual Radio Show in Duquesne Garden and Islam Grotto's Band will be the featured presentation from Pittsburgh radio stations tonight.

Vaughn De Leath, the original radio girl and the most popular for feminine chain artists, will be the featured soloist on the Radio Show program to be broadcast by KDKA at 8:30 o'clock.

The Grotto Band will be heard, with the Beaus Art Quartet, under the direction of Joe Tyler, from the studio of WJAS. An elaborate program has been arranged for the broadcast. The program will go on the air at 7:45 o'clock.

Uldine Utely, the girl evangelist, will be heard from KDKA at 7:15 o'clock tonight during the broadcast of the Sacred Song program. Martha E Brickman, soprano, and Will Rhodes, tenor, will be the soloists.

Inspired by the occasional scent of burning leaves in the autumn air and the mellowing colors of the hills, the Seiberling Singers will serenade newly - arrived autumn tonight at 8:30 o'clock over WCAE with a special vocal arrangement of Joyce Kilmer's "Trees."

Ordinarily a tenor solo, it has been arranged for part voices by Frank Black, orchestral director of the Seiberling Hour, and will be sung by the famous Seiberling Singers quartet.

For the large audience of radio fans who dial the Seiberling Hour especially to hear James Melton, Seiberling's own tenor, two solo treats are in store—"Were My Songs With Wings Provided," by Hahn, and Irving Berlin's new piece, "Roses of Yesterday."

The program:

Honolulu Moon (quartet)	Wayne
Were My Songs With Wings Provided (tenor solo)	Hahn
The Girl Friend (two pianos)	Rodgers
Trees (quartet)	Kilmer
Roses of Yesterday (tenor solo)	Berlin
Liebeslied (singing violins)	Kreisler
Medely from "Oh, Kay" (quartet)	Gershwin

"Tristram" the narrative poem by Edwin Arlington Robinson, based on the immortal story of Tristran and Isolde, will be presented during the Eveready Hour tonight through WCAE.

The book, which won for Mr. Robinson his second Pulitzer prize, and which was a Literary Guild selection, has been specially adapted for radio presentation. As presented, it will be in fact a musical synchronization of the Wagner music from "Tristan und Isolde," and the Arlington poem. Among the selections of the Wagnerian operatic score which will be utilized will be the "Prelude," "Liebestod" and the love music from the second act. The musical selections will be played by an enlarged Eveready orchestra with Nathaniel Shilkret conducting.

A cast which includes Joan Lowell, has been engaged to enact the roles of the various characters.

"Tristram" is the first Literary Guild book selected by the Eveready Hour and the Literary Guild of America for broadcasting certain books of the latter organization. Announcement of the co-operative arrangement was made a few days ago.

A jolly crowd of dusky funmakers of the Dutch Masters Minstrels, will entertain listeners with a lively old-time minstrel show during the program to be broadcast through KDKA at 9:30 o'clock.

The whole company will join in "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here," at the opening of the show, whereupon Steele Jamison, tenor, will contine the program with "Memories of France," a Berlin-Snyder piece. Mr. Jamison will be supported by a male quartet, the members of which are Henry Shope and Maurice Tyler, tenors; Taylor Buckley, baritone, and Emile Cote, bass.

The quartet also will be heard with Leon Salathiel in the modern ballad, "Half Way to Heaven," and with the two end-men, Al Bernard and Percy Hemus, in their respective feature numbers, "I'm a Jonah Man" and "Not Lately." Both Mr. Bernard and Mr. Hemus are well-known as singers and comedians, and under the leadership of Steve Porter, interlocutor, they will furnish much amusement and fun for their audience.

An accordion specialty, "Tantalizing," will be contributed by Charles Magnante, and "Corn Fed" will be heard as an orchestral selection under the direction of Hugo Mariani. "Roll That Cotton," sung by the company, will close the show.

HEINZ TOMATO KETCHUP
FREE FROM BENZOATE OF SODA

Now— it's ketchup time!

Of course, you'll want to make sure there's a bottle of Heinz Tomato Ketchup on your pantry shelf. Several bottles in fact.

Almost anything you serve—steak, chops, fish, cold cuts—is better for a dash of this thick, spicy, savory goodness. It's full of the flavor of Heinz ripe juicy tomatoes, fresh from the garden—simmered-down to a rich undiluted thickness. And of the tang of rare spices, personally selected by Heinz representatives in the far East.

HEINZ Tomato Ketchup

MAXWELL HOUSE
HIGH GRADE COFFEE

Flavors and shades of choice flavors are mingled to create this special mellow blend

You can't match the flavor of Maxwell House with any single coffee grown. Its mellow richness that delights the critical results from a blend of many rare coffees. From the Old South, where this matchless blend was first perfected, the fame of Maxwell House Coffee has spread all over the country. Today it is the coffee chosen everywhere by America's most important hostesses.

M'KEES ROCKS ASKS RAILWAYS SHOWDOWN

The Pittsburgh Railways Company will be asked for a "showdown" by officials of McKees Rocks borough as to why they have not paid the borough delinquent taxes owed by the company and the company's share on several street improvements. This action was decided upon last night when Borough Council voted to instruct its solicitor to demand a showdown from the company.

George Gast, borough secretary, was asked to inform Council the amount due them from the company and the borough solicitor was ordered to enforce collection of all back taxes. Some members of Council say the last taxes were paid in 1918. The solicitor believes that the full amount is collectable.

The railways company also will be asked to prepare to pay over its share of the cost for the repaving of Helen street, between George and Ella streets. This work is almost ready to be started.

SLUGGING LAID TO DRY AGENT

Albert E. Flack, a prohibition agent, was arraigned before Alderman Thomas Flanigan yesterday, accused of having beaten Joseph Marino, an alleged bootlegger, of 1310 Poplar way, who was arrested recently by Federal agents.

The alderman withheld his decision until Saturday.

KNOX AVE. WIDENING OPPOSED IN COUNCIL

A number of residents of Knox avenue, Thirtieth Ward, yesterday forwarded to Council a communication protesting the widening of that thoroughfare. The widening, they charged, would cause great property damage, would menace life because of the presence in the neighborhood of schools and churches, and would accomplish no good as the grade is too steep for a two-way traffic artery. A petition to widen the street, signed by other residents, was received some time ago.

WAS IN TERRIBLE STATE OF HEALTH

Ten Herbs Relieved Rheumatism and Other Ailments, McKees Rocks Lady Says.

"Although I was in a terrible state of health, I can honestly say that one bottle of Ten Herbs has made a great change in my condition," was the recent statement of Mrs. Margaret Watson, 835 Island

MRS. MARGARET WATSON

Avenue, McKees Rocks, Pa. (near Pittsburgh), to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily demonstrating this new herbal medicine to crowds of men and women.

"My worst trouble was rheumatism in arms and ankles," Mrs. Watson continued. "My ankles would swell until I could hardly walk, and I was in pain most of the time. I had headaches, and sometimes I got so dizzy I feared I would fall over. There were terrible pains across my back, which felt very weak—at times I could hardly stoop. I was a constant user of physics because of constipation. There were pimples all over my body, and for a long time I tried different kinds of medicines, but none of them relieved this condition. I lacked energy and ambition, and no one but myself knows how I suffered.

"That Ten Herbs is a wonderful medicine is shown by the fact that it drove the pimples away in a few days. It seemed to be just what I needed. Rheumatism has been relieved, and I am not troubled with headaches and dizzy spells like I was. Constipation has been corrected so that I do not have to use physics. I have been given relief from those terrible pains in my back, and have more energy and ambition. I gladly recommend Ten Herbs to the public."

The Ten Herbs Man is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine. He will be glad to tell you how to take it to get the best results.

DEATH BRINGS WAR AGAINST FRATERNITIES

Hoover Ahead First Time in Massachusetts Poll

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 2, 1928

UP-STATE'S WEIGHT TIPPING SCALE

By CHARLES N. WHEELER,
Noted Political Analyst.

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—For the first time since the campaign opened Herbert Hoover takes the lead in the Hearst poll of Massachusetts.

While it is nothing to get excited over, the margin being only 104 in a total vote of 34,956, it does show that from a very poor start in the Bay State the G. O. P. ticket is rapidly gaining ground; and that the trend, however slight, is definitely pro-Hoover.

Immediately after the nominating conventions the Smith sentiment was tremendous in Boston. He was 5 to 1 in the lead. In several of the industrial towns out in the state he also was looming large.

The more complete canvass, however, which some erudite observers believe shows a reaction to the Governor's Western speeches, has cut his lead in Boston to less than 2 to 1, whereas the Hoover bulge outside the capital is now more than 2 to 1.

ENGULFS SMITH'S LEAD

That is to say, Mr. Hoover's outstate lead more than wipes out the Smith margin in Boston. There are 339 precincts in Boston and 1,266 precincts in the outstate territory. The canvass, on which today's totals are based, covers the entire state.

The figures are:

	Men.	Women.	Total.
BOSTON.
Hoover	6,243	1,037	7,300
Smith	10,824	1,947	12,771
1924.
Coolidge	5,763	1,762	7,525
Davis	4,207	1,195	5,402
STATE OUTSIDE BOSTON.
Hoover	7,400	2,830	10,230
Smith	2,776	1,879	4,655
Coolidge	11,496	2,864	14,360
Davis	1,272	840	2,112

The totals are: Hoover, 17,530; Smith, 17,426.

How great is the confusion in Massachusetts may be gleaned from an analysis of these figures.

For example, Mr. Hoover is running 4,355 votes behind the Coolidge vote in the state-wide canvass, while Smith is 9,912 ahead of the Davis vote in the same percentage columns. But Mr. Coolidge had 14,371 more votes than Davis.

Smith's net gain, meanwhile, is the total of the Coolidge margin over Hoover—4,355—and Smith's gain over Davis—9,912—or 14,267. This is a net gain for Smith of 8.8 votes a precinct.

But this is only 5 per cent of the vote. Computed on the indicated total vote, Smith's gain would aggregate about 282,000. But again Coolidge carried the state by a majority of 281,374 over both Davis and LaFollette, so that the Smith net gain in the total computation, as compared with Coolidge's majority, would be:

Coolidge 281,374
Smith 282,490

Smith lead 1,106.

Still again, this is giving the entire LaFollette vote to Smith. The soothsayers in the Back Bay district insist that the Tammany folks cannot hope to get all the LaFollette vote although the greater part of it was a Democratic vote of 1924 that could not be induced to vote for Davis.

Some of the Republican generals hold that the LaFollette vote will be assimilated this trip by the old parties in about an even break. On this assumption the percentage totals should be based on the Coolidge plurality, which was 422,658.

To overcome this Smith would have to register a gain of 263 votes to a precinct uniformly throughout the state. And, that, they insist, is not in the cards.

But the confusion is worse than when the indication of the probable total vote this year is considered. The total four years ago was 1,125,604, of which LaFollette got 141,284. This year's total, based on the registration figures, will exceed the million and a quarter mark by many thousands. The experts are not yet agreed as to whether this total means Hoover or Smith.

At any rate, the Hearst poll today shows Hoover forging ahead for the first time in the smashing fight, and with President Coolidge, and Mr. Hoover himself prepared to make one of the greatest drives in the state's history in the closing days of the struggle, the old Bay State, may yet live up to her traditions in national elections.

PREACHES IN OVERALLS

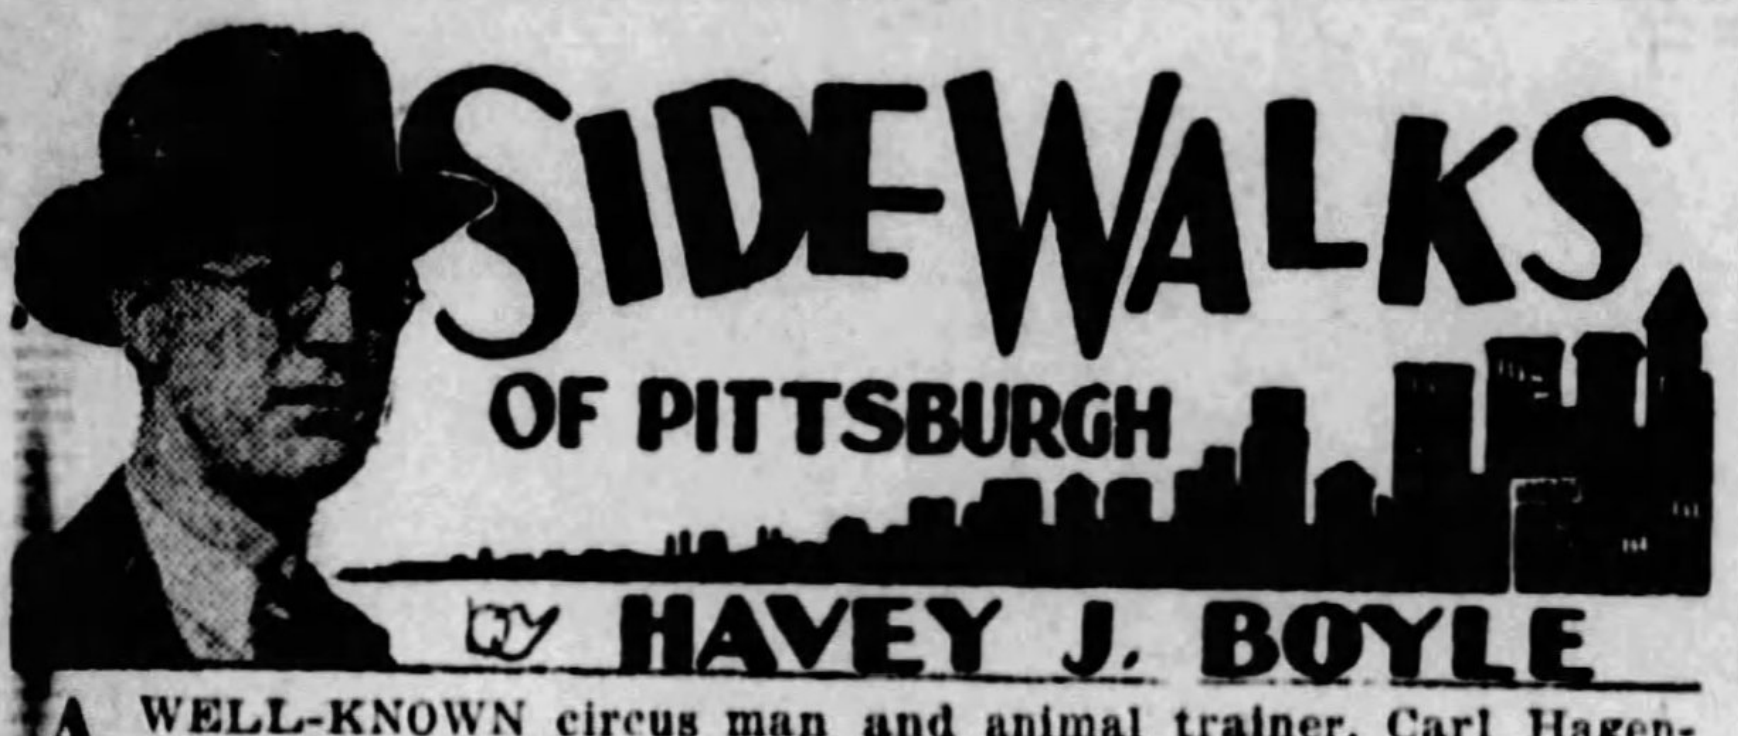
THE REV. MR. ARTHUR L. PRATT

When members of the carpenters' union local attended services at St. Stephen's Methodist Church, San Francisco, the Rev. Mr. Arthur Pratt was equal to the occasion. He discarded his clerical robes and preached in carpenter's overalls; instead of the pulpit, he preached from a carpenter's bench, and the chancel of his church was filled with tools!



SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

A WELL-KNOWN circus man and animal trainer, Carl Hagenback, approached a young attendant at one of his large menageries in Germany and said: "A man in Pittsburgh has purchased some animals and I want you to take them and deliver them safely." The young attendant came to Pittsburgh in that year, 1898, and has remained here ever since. His name is Ernest Tretow, head-keeper of the zoo in Pittsburgh's Highland Park.

WELL YOU AND I ARE GOING TO PITTSBURGH !

The zoo in Pittsburgh started in Schenley Park where a few animals were housed. Under the patronage of the late Christopher Magee and Ed Bigelow, who fostered a public spirit on behalf of a Pittsburgh zoo, and who also contributed their own money to enlarging the zoological gardens here, Highland Park became a place of free entertainment for grown-ups and children who like to see the animals.

* * *

MR. TRETOW, a capable man, speaks authoritatively and intelligently about zoos and their problems. He has been in the "animal" business all his life. He is a specialist, who, although keenly interested in his own specialty, understands that while to him the zoo is about the most important branch of free amusement to the people, the men higher up must consider not only the zoo, but parks in general, and the larger expenses necessary in handling the diversified and intricate business of a city.

If the Pittsburgh zoo is not comparable to zoos in other cities, it is, believes Mr. Tretow, not because the men in control do not think it worth while, but because, they, like other people who cannot afford certain luxuries, cannot give money to the zoo when it is needed so badly in other places.

* * *

MR. TRETOW believes that with the means at hand, Pittsburgh's zoo is satisfactory. He believes the "cat cage" which is the trade description of the cages containing such pets as lions and tigers, has no superior any place.

* * *

Interest in the zoo, the head-keeper reports, is on the rise. Various schools are sending their classes to the zoo and the sight-seeing buses as well as off-shoots of the overland bus business send tourists to Pittsburgh's zoo in increasing numbers.

ANIMALS are not inexpensive. Only recently an elephant was purchased for $2,500 and a camel lately installed cost $900. It was a matter of coincidence, and nothing else, by the way that caused the purchase of two more or less symbolical animals just prior to the current presidential campaign.

It is a large family in Highland Park that Mr. Tretow must look after. He must see that the animals get the right sort of food and at the proper time. Horsemeat is on the bill of fare at the zoo practically every day. Well, Sunday is an exception, on which day animals who ordinarily get horsemeat get nothing at all—to give their restless stomachs a much needed rest.

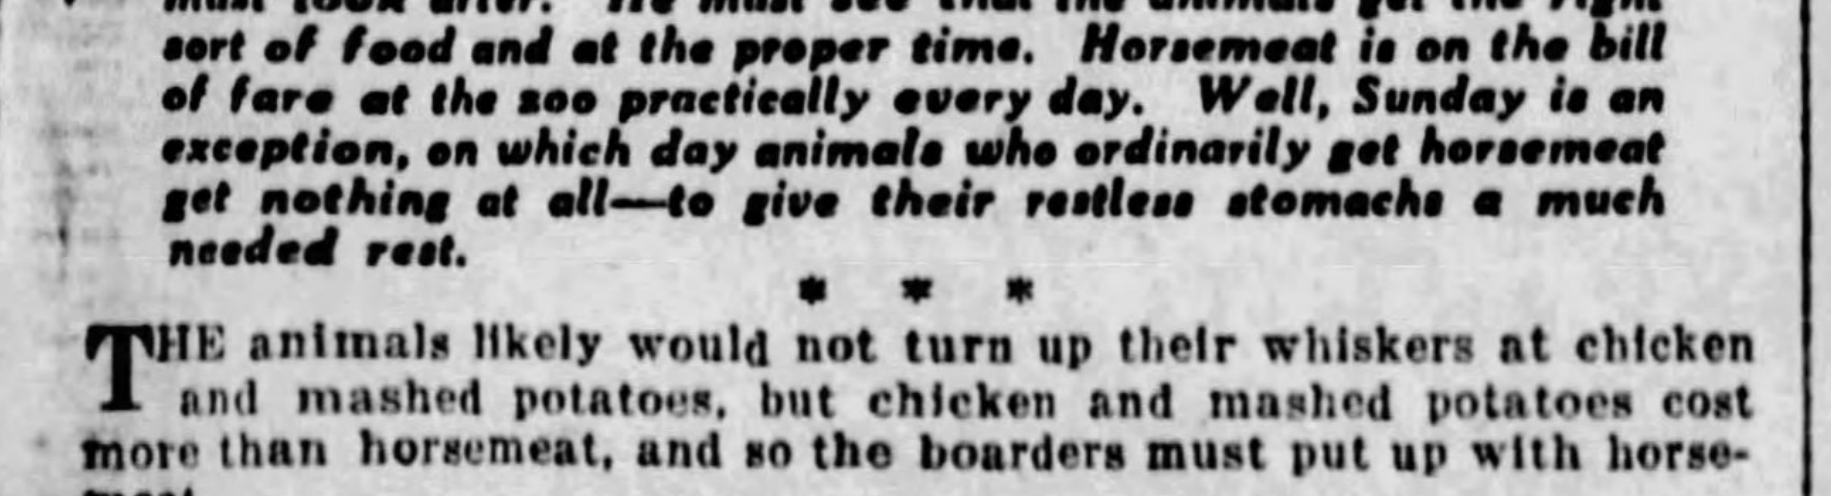
THE animals likely would not turn up their whiskers at chicken and mashed potatoes, but chicken and mashed potatoes cost more than horsemeat, and so the boarders must put up with horsemeat.

We have touched here only sketchily on the economic phase of the local zoo. In a later installment we will talk of the human interest, if we may so call it, phase of the animals. Don't miss one chapter of this thrilling series. The next chapter will deal with the question: "What Is There About a Bug That a Monkey Likes?"



Urge City Accounts' Control

The first move in what may develop into a drive for the centralization of the city's financial system similar to the method now in use in Baltimore appeared yesterday in Council when a committee, headed by Robert Garland, made the first report of its investigation of the eastern city's system.

The committee, pointing out that complete centralization would revolutionize the present methods in force here and would need legislative action from Harrisburg, suggested that at present consideration of any change should be restricted to the control of disbursements.

The changes suggested are improved methods in maintaining the appropriation ledger in the City Controller's office, the printing of a monthly report showing the state of each appropriation and the requirement that all doing business with the city furnish the controller a monthly statement showing the amount of work done and the supplies furnished.

Should the report be approved, the monthly statement of appropriations, which costs Baltimore only $40 for each issue, would include a report from the department of supplies showing the amount of material on hand.

Copies of the report have been sent to Mayor Charles H. Kline and all department heads, with the request that they state their opinions before October 15. The committee is composed of Garland, P. J. McArdle, Robert Alderdice and W. Y. English.

FAUST IS SUNG IN ENGLISH

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—The American Opera Company, organized to present foreign language operas in English, opened its season last night at the Erlanger Theater with "Faust." Natalie Hall was in the part of "Marguerite."

The company not only is attempting to sing all operas in English but to interpret the operas presented as drama.

The company will remain a month in Chicago before touring 23 American cities. It consists of 100 American artists from 23 states and includes Eric Renwick, of Boston, former police commissioner of St. Petersburg, Fla.

PARISIAN SAYS U. S. FILMS CORRUPT FRENCH YOUTH

PARIS, Oct. 2.—(INS.)—American films are corrupting the morals of Frenchmen, according to Paul Reboux, who published an article in the newspaper "Soir" upon the subject.

M. Reboux, who is the son of a celebrated modiste, believes that young Parisians are becoming too demonstrative in public, especially in the subway, as a result of the influence of the American films. He says that the crowds and rapid motion of the subway trains now offer "sufficient excuse for love making."

He adds that, only a few decades ago a kiss was a solemn thing—a symbol of a secret pact. A kiss in those days, said M. Reboux, was something that took place apart from the crowd.

The cinema is to blame, he holds, and this, of course, means the American cinema, with the closing "clinch kiss" in almost every scene. Young French boys and girls are becoming "saturated" with such instruction from the other side of the Atlantic and "are beginning to take the sacred kiss upon the lips as a mere matter of course."

"LAST CHANCE SALOON" IN ASHES

JACK LONDON'S RENDEZVOUS

"The First and Last Chance Saloon" is no more. This landmark along the Oakland (Cal.) waterfront has been destroyed by flames. In "the good old days," Jack London, then a waif, later a world-renowned writer, drank good beer with other hoboes and with oyster pirates. After prohibition strolled in, the place was used as an informal museum.

LADY NANCY DESCRIBES TOSH!

RETURNS TO NATIVE LAND

Any talk that woman is not capable of taking her place in the business and political worlds is just tosh. So spoke Lady Nancy Astor, born in this country, when she arrived from England, where she is a member of Parliament, to visit relatives. With her came her daughter, Miss Phyllis. (See both above.)

Test Mind Of Spehar Slayer

Judge James B. Drew late yesterday granted a petition for alienists to examine Charles Bowers, one of four youths who pleaded guilty to the murder of John Spehar, Butler street saloonkeeper, who was slain during a holdup at his garage, 4520 Stanton avenue, last March 4.

The petition was presented by Attorney Homer N. Young after a hearing before Judge Elder W. Marshall of the evidence in the murder of Spehar. Bowers is now in the Western Penitentiary, serving a term on another robbery charge.

Carl Lucas, Anthony Marino and Frank Skalski were the others admitting the Spehar killing. Judge Marshall also accepted pleas of guilty from the four on various charges of robbery, larceny and entering buildings. They will be sentenced later.

King George Has Fifth Auto in 20 Years

LONDON, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—King George has just bought a new automobile, his fifth in 20 years.

The cars of the British royal family are so carefully kept that they are fit for duty long after the ordinary owner's machine has gone on the scrap heap.

SUSPECT TAKEN, CAR FOUND

Jack Markovitz, 24, of Brooklyn, was arrested by City Detectives Edward Dunn and Joseph Jackson at Fifth avenue and Stevenson street, last night, shortly after a stolen car had been recovered in a garage in Forbes street. Markovitz is being held for Brooklyn (N. Y.) police.

The car, belonging to William Alberg, also of Brooklyn, was stolen from him nine days ago by four men, who had attended a party in his apartment. Alberg said he was drugged and awoke to discover the theft of a diamond ring, watch and other articles. Brooklyn police arrested Max Golart, who confessed and disclosed location of the car, according to Brooklyn Detective Frank Gray, who came here yesterday with Alberg.

CASHIER FACES MORE CHARGES

PLEASANTVILLE, Pa., Oct. 2.—Edwin L. Flick, 25-year-old cashier of the burned and looted Pleasantville Citizens State Bank, today faced new charges, in addition to those of robbery, to which he has pleaded not guilty.

On information brought by State Bank Examiner John T. Stewart, who has completed examination of the bank records, he is charged with embezzlement, there being 14 separate counts involving $4,789.60. To these Flick also pleaded not guilty. He is held in the Oil City jail. The alleged defalcations extend from May 14 to September 10.

SHOT SLEEP DISTURBER; GETS 2-YEAR SENTENCE

WASHINGTON, Pa., Oct. 2.—Eli Vedovich, 35, of Robinson township, who shot and wounded Nick Klechovich, 33, his "buddy" and roommate, because the latter insisted on twisting his arms and legs and pummelling him generally while he tried to sleep, was sentenced to one to two years in the workhouse by Judge Erwin Cummins. Vendovich pleaded guilty. The bullet hit Klechovich in the head, but was never located. Klechovich was discharged from a hospital Saturday.

WAILING WALL STONING BRINGS ARAB'S ARREST

JERUSALEM, Oct. 2.—(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)—Two Arabs of a group who were stoning worshipers at the western wall of the Temple, known as the Wailing Wall, were arrested by the police. Jewish leaders have agreed to the removal from the wall of the ark containing the holy scrolls which had been placed there for the high holiday. The Moslems had protested to the Palestine government against the display of the ark.

Bus Depot Asked of Council

Gen. A. J. Logan, chairman of the Better Traffic Committee, yesterday sent Council an ordinance intended to forbid the use of streets as terminals for passenger and freight busses.

The ordinance, if approved, would go into effect April 1, 1929, and would force all such companies to build their own terminals on private properties. Stops would be limited to a maximum of five minutes for the purpose of discharging passengers and baggage.

Philadelphia and other large cities already have passed similar ordinances, Gen. Logan informed Council.

Beaten as Stones Hurled at Dog Hit Huckster

Beaten with a hammer, Harry Wecker, 28, of 7746 Tioga street, is in Pittsburgh Hospital with a fractured skull. Police are holding Daniel McCloskey, 64, of 7222 Susquehanna street.

Stones which Wecker hurled at a barking dog at Tokio street and Frankstown avenue yesterday at noon struck McCloskey, a huckster, police say. McCloskey, it is alleged, retaliated by beating Wecker with a hammer.

SECOND CHIMPANZEE IS BORN IN CAPTIVITY

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—The animal population of the zoological garden has been increased by one chimpanezee, said by attendants to have been the second born in captivity in this country. Marianne and Sultan, sole occupants of the chimpanezee cage, became the proud parents of a son yesterday. The parents were presented to the zoo in 1924 by the late Wilson Catherwood, former director.

ATTACKS ON FRATS FOLLOW DEATH

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 2.—(AP.)—A complete investigation of the Greek letter fraternity system, with a view of possible abolishment, was ordered at the University of Texas today following the death Sunday night of Nolte McElroy during his initiation into the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

The investigating faculty committee, which the board of regents last night asked President H. Y. Benedict to appoint at once, was instructed also to investigate thoroughly the circumstances leading up to McElroy's death, which has cast a pall over the Longhorn campus.

INITIATION FATAL

The popular 19-year-old football player died in a hospital a few minutes after he had collapsed while crawling over a pair of electrically-charged bed springs.

Former Federal Judge R. L. Batts, of Austin, a member of the board of regents and author of the resolution which asked the faculty committee to determine if all "boarding" Greek letter organizations should be eliminated as rapidly as dormitories can be provided for students, vigorously criticized the fraternity system as now existing.

The judge is a fraternity man himself, as are all but two of the other members of the board.

NOT SOLE CAUSE

The regents indicated the McElroy case in itself did not necessarily furnish the basis for criticism of fraternities, but that it had served to bring out an undercurrent of sentiment in the board against them.

McElroy's fraternity had invited the president to make a thorough investigation of the fatal accident and of its mock initiation stunts. Fraternity officers yesterday said a complete report would be made at once to the national headquarters in New York.

A grand jury investigation was asked yesterday, but this promised to be a mere formality, as District Attorney Moore said no indictments were being considered. He said he was convinced the fatality was "purely accidental and unforeseen."

SHARON CASHIER WAIVES HERE

R. Gordon DeArment, 28, former assistant cashier of the First National Bank, of Sharon, Pa., charged with embezzling $42,000 of the bank's funds, waived a hearing and was held for Federal Court by a United States commissioner yesterday. He was released in $10,000 bail.

He surrendered to the sheriff of Mercer county last week, asserting, it is said, that he had lost the money playing the stock market.

CONSTABLES TAKE 33 IN M'KEES ROCKS RAID

Thirty-three Negroes were arrested last night when constables raided an alleged gambling house in Chartiers avenue, McKees Rocks. Two poker tables and a crap game were in progress when the raiders arrived, it was said. Justice of the Peace Margaret Morgan, of Sewickley, released 29 on forfeits of $5 each. James Benson, Abe Atkins, Dick Whittaker and Cherry Keith, alleged proprietors, gave $300 bond each. All will be given hearings tonight.

Will Rogers Says

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 2.

I haven't made my announcement for either man yet. Myself and Coolidge, I guess, are about the last to come out for anybody.

Some think Calvin will go for Smith in the end.

If he is paying Hoover back for what Hoover did for him in 1924, why, Hoover must have either been sick or out of the country during the campaign.

The Democrats in New York state gathered in Rochester to try to find somebody to nominate for governor. A good many of them are for nominating Al Smith.

Yours,

WILL ROGERS.

Ann Asks Fred if He Will Marry Her After She Gets a Divorce

"I'M going to marry him."

Ann whooped, "Say, some marriage that will be! Does he know it yet?"

"What difference does that make? And you needn't be so scornful. I've learned a few things—especially these last months," she finished bitterly.

It struck the girl that this determined woman was quite desperate enough to carry through her plan. She felt not one grain of sympathy for her mother, only a surge of delight that they would be separated. And with this in mind she stepped to the dressing table, swept up a pile of the jewels, dumped them into Hanna's lap.

"Here—sell 'em and be darned! And don't come back for more, 'cause there won't be any more. And give the blushing bridegroom my compliments."

Hanna dropped the glittering heap into her handbag, her heavy fingers moving slowly, rather distastefully. She kept her eyes down as she rose. "You're hard all the way through, Ann; but I suppose you came by it naturally. I haven't had many scruples. . . . But I wanted things for you. Just hold in mind, though, that there comes a day when you stand face to face with yourself, and God help you if you hate what you see."

It was then the butler announced Mr. Sheldon. Ann fluttered, and Hanna grinned. "You—but what's the use talking to you? After all, though, Ben won't stand everything, and—well, good-by."

She went out, not glancing back, passing Freddie in the hallway. The door was scarcely closed when Ann was in his arms.

"What'll she think?" he kept muttering. "She gave me a look! I say, Ann, d'you suppose this is getting by? If Ben"——

"Oh, Freddie, I tell you I won't stand it. Can't go along this way. I'm going to get a divorce. That's what—a divorce! When I'm free—you want to marry me, don't you, Freddie? You do, don't you?"

He did not, and said so. "Couldn't keep you in cigarets, even if I fancied it, which I don't! For heaven's sake be sensible, Ann! D'you think I'd let myself into that sort of jam?"

She was not cast down by his lack of enthusiasm. Summoning the butler, who looked along his nose, his whole person rigid with disapproval, she ordered cocktails, and they arrived at the third round and a glowing congeniality when a motor horn sounded in the street.

"Ben!" gasped the girl, running to the window. "Here!"— She thrust the tray of empty glasses under a divan, hastily smoothed her hair which had been ruffled by Freddie's embrace.

That young man, looking rather wan, made for a rear door, but she stopped him with a word, "Sit tight, you goof!" Then, as the knob was turning, "The same place—tonight—don't forget."

Benny kissed his wife hastily, fully aware of the alcoholic aroma now; gave her guest a chilly nod.

"He wanted me to dine with him, Benny, love," she cooed. "But mother phoned; she is ill—needs me. I'll have to go to her, dear."

Benny brightened a bit, convinced because he wanted to be. But when Freddie took up his hat, suggested casually, "Make it a party of two then, Ben; you'll dine with me, can't you?" he refused curtly.

CHAPTER XXVI.

ANN took up an evening coat spread over the back of a chair, concentrated on it as her husband came to her and attempted to take her in his arms.

"How can you bear to have that pup hanging around, dear? Little bounder—"

She shrugged into the wrap, ran a brush over her hair. "He's useful. Sorry, but I've got to go."

"Of course we won't quarrel about him. Not worth it . . . You're so sweet, Ann! Why can't we hit it off better? Let's have dinner together, and I'll take you to your mother's afterward. That's a girl."

She stood a tip-toe to kiss him lightly, laid her fingers against his lips. "I'd love to, then, but you know how devoted mother is. I think she's jealous even of you. No, I'll run right over there now."

The old baffled look was on his face as he turned to answer the telephone. Ann hesitated, listening tensely, hearing only his crisp, incredulous, "No—Yes—No." He hung up the receiver, came back to her, stood white and grim.

"Your mother is leaving for the West tonight and wants you to lend her an evening coat. Going to a 'racket' before she starts."

Ann stared, sullen and defiant, and he caught her hands, held them firm, forcing her to look at him, to listen. "Why must you lie to me, Ann?"

"Oh!" Freddie was waiting; she would be late! And all this to go through . . . She played her trump card—hysteria. "I hate you—I hate you! Was it my fault mother changed her mind? Call me a liar—insult my friends—nag—nag! And expect me to forget, to smile!"

He broke in on her screeches, trying to smooth her hair, to put his arms around her again. "If you call it nagging to object to lies. Or to have that pup dangling at your heels! I've got to end this, Ann; you can't go on the way you've started. I forbid you to leave this house tonight!"

She was on her feet, blazing. "How dare you! Ordering me around like a servant—how dare you! I'll not stay here to be insulted—I won't—I won't!" Shrieking, she flung open the door, dashed into the hall. He heard the elevator stop and go on down.

After Benny sat a long time he began to tell himself that he could not have followed his wife into the street. Many things a man could not do. He could not make his wife love him, nor could he build a home on treachery and strife. Where would it end.

Find a way out; there must be a way . . .

Shadows gathered in the room, and the butler came and pulled on the lights. And subdued gleams shone upon a table, picked out a silver bowl, touched a Mercury figure winging on the side . . .

Benny became conscious of the figure at last, and thought of Diana Rand. What a fool—what a complete fool—he had been! He saw it all now—the plots and counter plots which had worked about him, the web into which he had walked like the blind donkey he had been. Diana, as sweet and honest as a mountain breeze—and he had turned from her, hurt her—he had done that. He understood now! For a little cheat like Ann!

Ann was a cheat; might as well face it. Insinuations, smiles, talk that raged and stopped abruptly when he appeared—those, too, he understood now. His wife and Freddie Sheldon. . . . Yes, might as well face it. He had been married for his money and made ridiculous ever since!

He laughed harshly and stumbled to his feet. Have to do something; he was caught and tied fast, but surely there was something to be done. Ann couldn't drag his name in the mud forever . . .

He remembered Beatrice all at once. Marriage had gone wrong with her and Norman for some mysterious reason. Had they found a solution and, if they had, would it help him?

He spoke the Gregorys number into the telephone. Beatrice answered, saying regretfully that they could not dine with him as he wished.

"You knew she was going abroad, Benny? I'm giving a farewell party for her at the club. Won't you come? I'd love it if you will."

He refused, but she seemed to believe he might change his mind. "I'll look for you, anyway. Do think it over and come."

He thought it over. Diana going away! Leaving for a year, Beatrice said . . .

An overwhelming desire to see Diana again; a wish to glimpse her again before time and events carried her forever out of his life. He would sit in the balcony, watch from a distance. He would do that.

Beatrice turned from the telephone and saw her husband drop his eyes to the newspaper he had been pretending to read. Doubt—suspicion—jealousy! How cold he looked, sitting there, how cruel! But another two weeks now and she would be out of it. Diana leaving tomorrow, waiting for her in Paris . . .

Still she hesitated, passing him to go upstairs for her wrap. "That was Benny Black, Norman. He wanted to see us tonight, and I asked him to the party. Sure you won't come?"

"No, thanks."

Words like ice, searing her nerves. She pressed her hands together, struggling for calmness.

"Norman—I'm going away. Did not intend to tell you till morning, but I suppose it's better now. I'm going to leave you."

He looked up, a swift pain in his eyes, astonishment robbing him of speech. She went on quietly: "Things can't keep on as they have been. You see that, don't you? I'm going to Paris and get a divorce."

He ran his tongue over his lips, spoke in a dry, harsh tone: "Divorce me? You—you're going to divorce me?"

She nodded, not looking at him. "The only thing to do; the only fair thing to both of us. I've tried, dear—you'll never know how hard I've tried. Why, I've never had a thought that wasn't loyal. It isn't that I don't love you, you see. I do—oh, I do! But I'm miserable; you don't know how to make me happy—don't care to, I guess. And—that's all."

She waited a moment, but he made no move, and when she left for the party he still was sitting there as in a daze.

CHAPTER XXVII.

ONCE again the Yacht Club was trimmed with bright streamers and gaily fluttering pennants as on the night of the ball Benny Black first attended there. Only now there were no balloons popping up and down against the ceiling, and their color'd buoyancy was missing from his own spirit, he reflected, as he edged into the ballroom and sat down moodily in a far corner.

It was too early for the guests. In his haste to get out of the apartment he had rushed over ahead of his hostess, forgetting that he had had no dinner.

He watched the orchestra file in and settle about the box at the side of the mezzanine; he saw Beatrice pass through the corridor—a tall, handsome woman, faultlessly gowned, the figure of a successful young matron, excepting for the lurking sadness in her eyes.

The silence was broken by sounds from the orchestra, the tumult of arriving parties. And presently the place was filled by groups which formed and dissolved, laughing, calling to each other, all awaiting the guest of honor.

And there she was, poised in the doorway, a slim girl in white, flashing her smile, waving both hands and throwing kisses.

The orchestra crashed into a rushing, joyous air of her dance; a circle formed. Diana could do nothing but swirl into the mad rhythm. Head back, little feet flying, every movement a line of grace, Benny thought of the statuette—thought that this girl was quite as fascinating, quite as certainly the embodiment of beauty as that jewel of art.

She glanced here and there as she performed, laughing with delight. And suddenly her eyes met Benny's, watching so intently from his corner. Amazement swept the smile from her face; she missed a step——recovered quickly—brought the dance to an end. Nor would she give an encore, leading the crowd down the room to a table piled with gifts all bearing hearty wishes for "bon voyage."

Beatrice discovered him then. He had a feeling that Diana had spoken to her hostess, disclosing his presence—and she came to greet him with charming and sincere delight, slipping her hand through his arm as she bore him back to the crowd.

"Hey, Benny!" "Look who's here!" "Where you been keeping yourself?" Such was the welcome he received. All friendly, more than cordial. No one asked for Ann; he thought of this, and a stinging sense of shame crept through him. They despised Ann—his wife. And, he had to admit, with cause. She had abused their confidence, used them as she saw fit . . . No sense of honor anywhere in her acquisitive little body.

Diana was surrounded, and he made no effort to reach her. Just to see her was enough; more, he kept telling himself than such a fool as he had been deserved. Then someone handed him a wineglass; they were toasting the girl whom they all loved.

He drank with the others, allowed his glass to be filled again and again, as new toasts were proposed. And now Diana was about to offer her own. Glass held high, her look met his for an instant as she said clearly: "To our lost loves!" An instant of silence: then someone laughed, and they all drank while the chatter began again, higher, merrier than before.

When the dancing started, Benny moved to the mezzanine, sat in a shadow there, unwilling to leave even though he felt himself apart, outside of all this goodwill. And he saw Diana searching the crowd, moving the gray eyes restlessly, picking him out at last. She seemed not to know he was present after that, romping through the evening, the center of color and movement and noise.

Eventually he got up, stepped through a casement to a little balcony which overhung a dim part of the drive, sat there with his hand against his head.

It was here he came to know the depth of his wife's deceit, for it was in the darkness beneath this balcony that Ann and Freddie separated for the last time—though neither of them was aware that it was to be their final parting.

They had whirled through a crazy three hours together, Ann reckless, bent upon making him promise to marry her the moment she obtained her divorce—a thing he was determined not to do.

"Mother's gone, Freddie. Nothing to stop us now. Watch your lil' Annikins."

"Forget that stuff. I told you I'm not marrying anybody, didn't I? You're crazy."

"Crazy about you, darling."

"Aw—"

They went to the notorious Green Hills Inn, where Ann drank with enthusiasm, not aware of the boy's restraint. For the first time since he had known her he was bored by Ann, annoyed by her rash disregard for the world they lived in, fed up on her clinging.

Of course he had something on his mind—his sister's party at the Yacht Club. He wished to attend this, and the twining, half-drunken girl was keeping him from it, which he resented. He felt no responsibility for her; she had made all the advances, trimmed her own course, since her marriage, and what happened to her was no concern of his. She had been a pleasant little playmate, but now he was tired of playing.

He could not get away from her, however. From the Green Hills Inn they went to another road house, more disreputable, and it was 11 o'clock when he rose abruptly and said he was drifting on. She followed, perforce, settled herself in the taxi he had kept waiting.

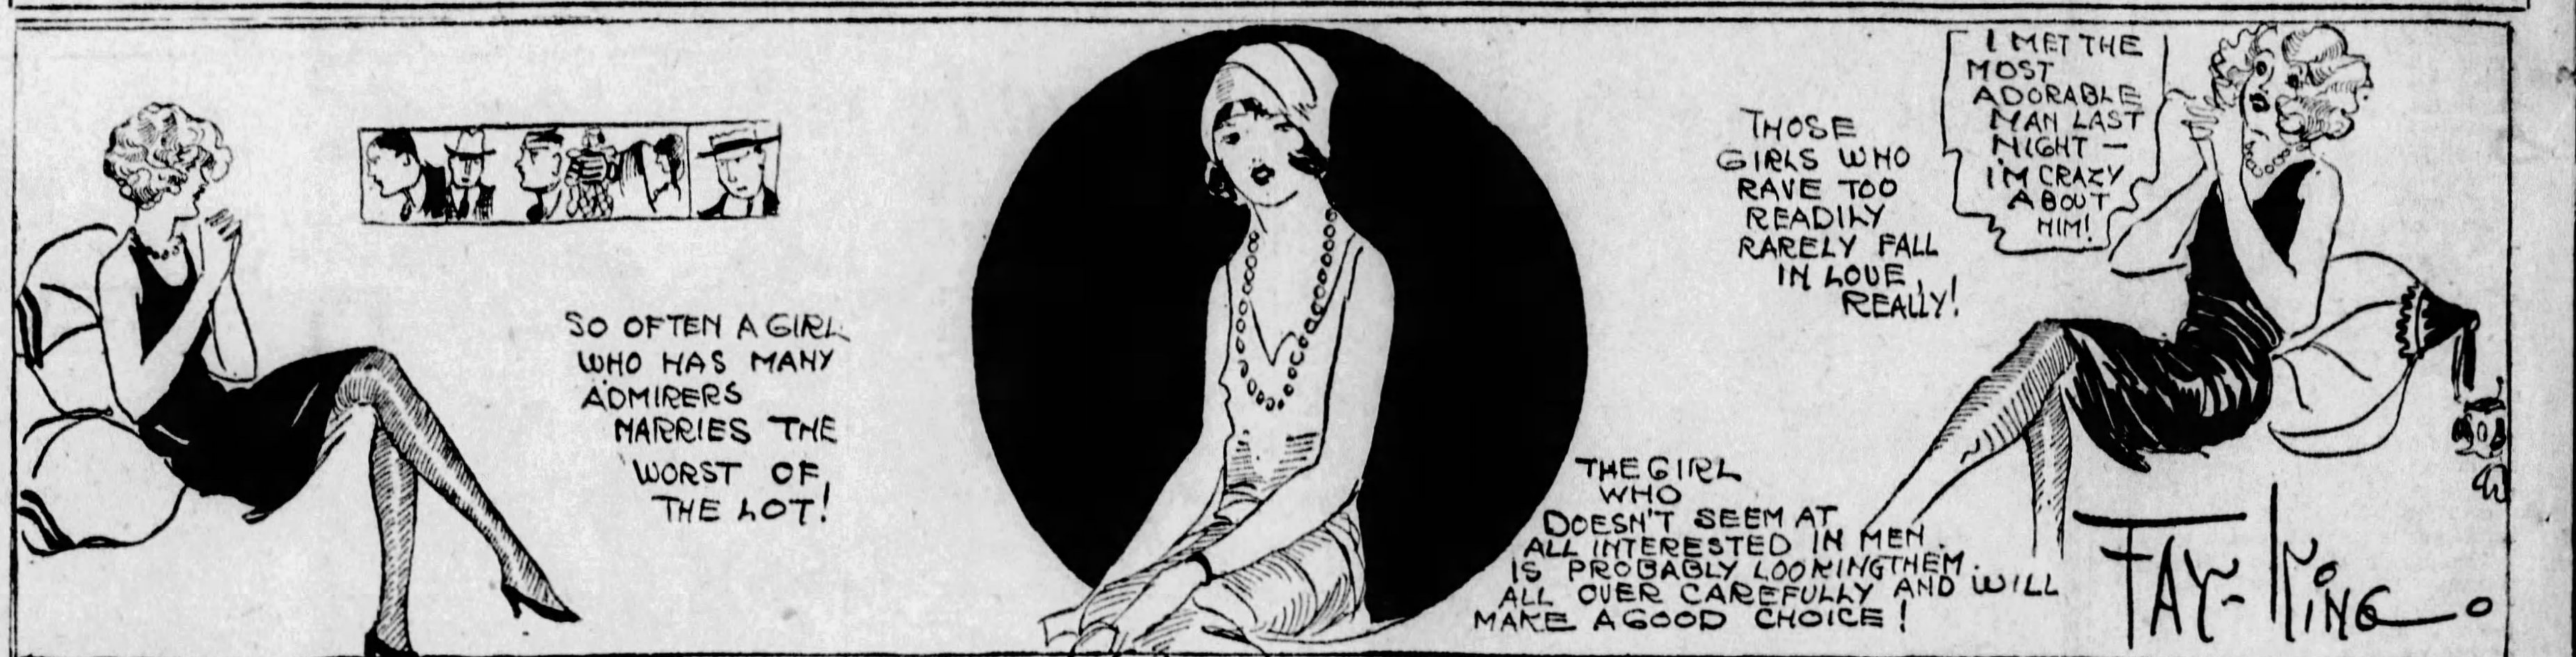
Girls With One Real Suitor Are The Luckiest, Fay King Finds



SO OFTEN A GIRL WHO HAS MANY ADMIRERS MARRIES THE WORST OF THE LOT!
THE GIRL WHO DOESN'T SEEM AT ALL INTERESTED IN MEN IS PROBABLY LOOKING THEM ALL OVER CAREFULLY AND WILL MAKE A GOOD CHOICE!
THOSE GIRLS WHO RAVE TOO READILY RARELY FALL IN LOVE REALLY!
I MET THE MOST ADORABLE MAN LAST NIGHT—I'M CRAZY ABOUT HIM!
FAY-KING

By FAY KING

SOME girls make themselves very unhappy lamenting the fact they have not a lot of gay Lotharios at their beck and call. They should console themselves by observing what poor matches some girls have made who were so popular.

It is better to have one boy, who is the right one, than a dozen that really do not matter. I've known girls who paid little or no attention to beaux meet the finest fellow in the world in time, marry and live happily ever after. Whereas, some of the so-called popular girls with no one of men to choose from it would seem, are being married and divorced and more miserable than happy most of the time.

A tasting test—

and the surprise it gave Mrs. Atherton

MRS. R. E. ATHERTON had been cooking for years but until she saw our suggestion to test Crisco by actually tasting it right from the can, such a test for shortening had never occurred to her.

She was so surprised and delighted with Crisco's taste that she sat down and wrote us all about it.

"I had always considered that for success in cake making the finest grade of butter was an indispensable essential. But one day I found myself short of butter, when I was especially anxious that my cake should be the best of its kind. Rather doubtfully I looked at my Crisco, and then, thinking how clean and creamy it looked, somewhat apprehensively tasted it. Greatly to my surprise I found it distinctly more palatable than the scrap of butter whose meagerness I had been bemoaning. I used Crisco for the shortening in that cake, which proved to be as good as, if not the best, I ever made."

See if the test suggested below doesn't give you, too, the surprise of your whole cooking experience:

Put a little Crisco on the tip of a spoon. On the tip of another, a little of any other shortening. Taste first Crisco, then the other fat.

Had you imagined there could be such a difference in the taste of cooking fats? Is it any wonder that such a sweet, fresh shortening brings out to best advantage the delicate flavor of foods you prepare with it?

Beef Fritters

Bits of cold left-over beef, useless for anything else, make a delicious meal for four people.

1 cup chopped cold beef
1 tablespoon chopped onion
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1 cup flour
1 egg beaten
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon salt

Beat egg, add milk, flour and baking powder sifted together. Beat smooth. Add remaining ingredients. Mix well. Drop by spoonfuls into Crisco heated to 360° F. or when bread crumbs brown in 60 seconds. Fry until brown and thoroughly cooked. Drain on brown paper. Serve with any left-over gravy or the following sauce:

3 tablespoons Crisco
2 tablespoons flour
3 tablespoons minced onion
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon parsley
1 bouillon cube
1/2 cup hot water
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Melt Crisco. Add onion; cook slowly until it begins to brown. Add the flour. Mix well, then add the parsley. Then the cube dissolved in the water. Stir over fire until thick, then add the Worcestershire and lemon juice.

Balloons

1 cup water
1 tablespoon Crisco
3 eggs unbeaten
1 cup pastry flour
1/2 teaspoon salt

Put water and Crisco in saucepan; bring to boiling point. Remove from fire. Add flour and salt. Return to fire, beat until it forms a paste which leaves side of pan. Remove from fire. Add the eggs one at a time, beating each in thoroughly. Drop by teaspoonfuls in moderately hot Crisco 350-360° F. or when a small piece of bread browns in 60 seconds; fry until puffed and well browned. Test with a toothpick; drain on soft paper; cool. Make slit in one side with sharp knife; put in teaspoon of sweetened whipped cream or jam. Dust with powdered sugar. Serve same day.

Fried Drop Doughnuts

A quick, easy way—no tiresome rolling and cutting. They should be fried slowly but you can fry slowly in Crisco without the doughnut soaking the fat or being at all greasy.

1/3 cup sugar
2 cups pastry flour
3 eggs separated
2/3 cup walnut meats
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon nutmeg
3/4 cup sweet milk
2 teaspoons baking powder
2/3 cup whole raisins

Beat egg yolks light. Add sugar. Beat until foamy. Then add milk, then nuts and raisins. Last flour, baking powder, salt and nutmeg sifted together twice. Mix all together thoroughly. Last fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Drop from teaspoon into deep Crisco heated to 360° F. or when a bread crumb browns in 60 seconds. Fry slowly until golden brown. Test with a toothpick. When cool, roll in powdered sugar.

Fried Spinach Balls

A new and delicious way to make a little left-over spinach go a long way. Prepare them any time and fry in Crisco in two minutes when you are ready to use them or fry them when you make them and reheat them in the oven a day or two later.

2 cups cooked spinach, chopped
2 tablespoons Crisco
2 tablespoons grated onion
1 cup dry bread crumbs
2 tablespoons grated cheese
1 egg beaten
1/8 teaspoon allspice
Egg and more crumbs

Combine ingredients and let stand 10 minutes to swell crumbs. Shape into balls. Put egg in bowl with 1/4 cup water. Beat together until mixed. Roll balls in crumbs, then in egg and then in crumbs again. Drop in hot deep Crisco 390° F. or when a bread crumb browns in 40 seconds, until brown. Drain on soft paper and serve.

You taste your milk . . .
You test your eggs . . . .
NOW—taste your shortening

CRISCO

Crisco's sweet flavor will delight you!

STRAUB PATENT HELD VALID ON BLOCKS

The much discussed Straub cinder block patent case has been decided by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the third circuit at Philadelphia. The case involved the validity and infringement of Straub letters patent of the United States No. 1,212,840 for Building block and method of making the same. The patent was issued to Francis J. Straub, of New Kensington, and it is now owned by Crozier-Straub, Inc., which is a subsidiary of National Building Units Corporation, whose general offices are at 1600 Arch street, Philadelphia.

Crozier-Straub, Inc., was plaintiff in the cases before the Court of Appeals. The defendants were:

(a). Thomas Graham and Atlantic City Building Block Corporation of Atlantic City, N. J.

(b). Jacob Melmod and Sea Shore Brick and Building Block Company of Atlantic City, N. J., and

(c). Robert G. Downer, of Westville, N. J.

In its decision the Circuit Court of Appeals definitely holds that Straub patent No. 1,212,840 is valid. It also holds that all of the defendants have infringed, and remits the cases to the lower court to enter decrees for permanent injunctions again further infringement on the Straub patent, and to assess damages and profits from the defendants on account of past infringements.

The Straub patent had been previously declared valid and infringed by the same Court of Appeals in the year 1919, in the case of Straub vs. Campbell.

The defendants in the present cases had the backing of an association of alleged infringers, who employed able counsel and experts. The trial occupied many days. The volume of evidence contained over 600 pages and the book of exhibits over 300 pages.

COULD NOT RELISH A MEAL

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Gave Her Strength

King City, Mo.—"For seven months before my baby was born I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and was able to do my own work and to eat heartily where before I was always sickly and could not relish a meal. Congratulations to the Vegetable Compound, as it is the best tonic I ever took. I have given birth to seven children before this, losing all of them, not being able for some reason to carry them to their full times. I hope this letter will help others to use this tonic."—Mrs. A. Largest Power Belt in the World

WHAT is said to be the largest power belt in the world has been built at Oakland, Cal. It is 1,020 feet long and is valued at $9,000. It contains 10,000 pounds of rubber and 9,000 pounds of cotton fabric in eight plies.

Sayings of Mrs. Solomon

THE GENTLE GRAFTER

BEHOLD, my Daughter, of the Gentle Art of Grafting there is no end. For the grafters there are fifty-seven varieties—and everyone is a certified pickle!

* * *

Yea, verily, there are grafters preferred and grafters common, grafters retail and grafters wholesale, grafters plain and grafters fancy! And to know one of these is a Liberal Education!

HELEN ROWLAND

He maketh the small "touch" as casually as one that saith "Pass the olives." He seeth NOT the dinner check, and bummeth the drink as cheerfully as one that accepteth a match. He borroweth thy car, thy coat and thy cigarets.

Or if, peradventure, it be a woman, she appropriateth thy powder puff, thy rouge, thy hat and thy Boy Friend, and regardeth thine house as a transient hotel.

For the Plain Grafter taketh his graft as that which "the world oweth him" and looketh upon his grafting as "all in a day's work."

But the FANCY Grafter is more subtle.

He reacheth for the dinner check and permitteth thee to prevail over him only after much argument. He furnisheth the cigarets, the apple sauce and a perfectly good match.

He studyeth thy needs and maketh himself SOLID. He knoweth all thy weak moments. He "plucketh" not the Good Things until the harvest is ripe for the plucking.

As the Fox, he goeth softly. As the Dentist, he "taketh it away painlessly."

And, lo, not until thou awakest and findest thy wine cellar empty, thy jewels in pawn, and thy safety vault filled with watered stock and I. O. U.'s dost thou know that thou has met a Master Grafter!

Yet be not sure, neither cast down. For a Higher Education is not to be despised, and a knowledge of Psychology is a wonderful thing.

* * *

And the sooner thou takest thy diploma in the School of Dubs the wiser thou shalt be all the rest of thy days. Yea verily, verily, the Gentle Grafter is peradventure worth his Price!

Love's Embers

Absorbing Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife"

By ADELE GARRISON

The Red-Bearded Man Looms as a Mysterious Figure

I WENT up to my room on leaden feet and with a heart sorely troubled by Lillian's suspicion that Dicky had sent a message by Jim to the red-bearded man in the shack. It was not the first time I had puzzled my head over the reason for the apparent good terms upon which Dicky appeared to be with the man whom Lillian suspected of being concerned in the mysterious danger which was menacing Princess Olina of Transvania. What possible connection could my husband have with this man whom Lillian believed to be a desperate criminal?

But the answer was not to be found in the realm of my own imagination, and with the best knowledge that work is the best panacea for worry, I changed my clothing for a negligee, and brought from its hiding place one of the copies I had made of the cipher-covered paper concealed in the back of Princess Olina's miniature of her royal mother.

I already had locked my door and made sure that the curtains were drawn closely over the windows. I spread the paper over the big blotter on my desk, and, fastening it at the corners with tiny pins, sat down to study it. I had cleared the desk of everything save the paper and the row of notebooks of Sumerian characters which had been given me long ago by an old professor of ancient languages with whom I had worked and who had been much pleased with the material aid which he was good enough to say I had given him. When I first had looked at the code paper hidden in the back of the miniature I had been impressed with the fact that the characters resembled those in my notebooks, and I meant now to verify that guess of mine of it were possible to do so.

A triumphant memory came to me as I took the first worn old book into my hand. It and several of its mates had played a part in the old real triumph of diplomatic secret service work which had been mine. In all other cases where my father, head of his branch of the service and affectionately called the "Chief" had been associated with Lillian Underwood and Allen Drake I had been but an humble assistant. But at that memorable time when the gang of plotters against the government headed by the man Schmidt had seemingly defied capture, it had been my decoding of the Sumerian characters used in their communications which had led to their roundup.

Of course I did not know that this paper held anything criminal. The fact that it was in the possession of Princess Olina made the theory untenable. Yet she had spoken of receiving a "fortune" for promising to deliver a "message" and I had no high opinion of the girl's worldly wisdom or her ability to cope with unscrupulous people. Was this the "message" which she had promised to deliver, and was it also the reason for her mysterious connection with the Transvanian vagabonds in the shack? And how did Dicky enter into it?

I was back in the same old round of questioning, and with a mighty effort I banished everything from my mind save the characters before me, and plunged into a careful comparison of them with those in the notebooks.

Settling to my task, it was with a tingling little sense of finding the beginning of a definite trail that I decided they were in truth Sumerian, and I barely had started upon the long and exhaustive search necessary to find the meaning of the characters when I heard Lillian's low knock upon the door. For fear that some one else should be with her, I carefully covered my whole desk with a newspaper before I unlocked the door. But there was no one with her, and with an approving glance at my precaution, she closed my door behind her and locked it. Then she turned to me, her face and eyes grave.

"Jim did take a note to the red-bearded man tonight," she said.

How to Keep Well

By Royal S. Copeland, M. D.

Learn How to Sleep to Win Good Health

EVERYTHING we know, we have acquired through our special senses. All knowledge comes from seeing, hearing, smelling, tasting and feeling.

DR. COPELAND

Each of these special functions depends upon a delicate and finely adjusted mechanism. Overuse will damage or destroy it. Reguar rest and sleep are essential to its normal activity.

There can be no refreshing and satisfying sleep except under conditions which exclude all calls upon the senses. The brain is not at rest if any one of the special organs is operating.

Nothing can be more important than knowing how to sleep. The first thing to learn is that sleep cannot be satisfactory unless it is taken in a quiet room, one which is thoroughly ventilated. You know this, but perhaps you have not thought about the significance of darkness, the most important of the conditions essential to refreshing sleep.

No mother would sit up all night, using a chicken feather to tickle the bottoms of her child's feet. The board of health would cause your arrest for creating a nuisance if you pounded a drum and blew a horn the whole of every night. You would consider it an insane act if the janitor of your apartment house were to keep stirring some vile compound, raising an unbearable stench through the darkness of the night. What would happen to a nurse who spent hours and hours in dropping into a baby's mouth molasses or some other strongly tasting substance?

These absurd performances would serve to excite the sense of feeling, hearing, smelling and tasting. You will agree at once that any one of them would disturb sleep and rest. Positive illness might follow having any special sense under constant stimulation. If this is true of the other senses, why excite continuously the special sense of sight?

Close your eyes gently, just as you do in sleep. Turn your head about; even in the daylight you can locate every window or source of light. At night through your closed eyelids you can easily tell exactly where the light is.

Even though there is sleep, the optic nerve is under constant stimulation if there is a light in the room. So long as there is stimulation of the seeing part of the eye there are disturbing impulses going to the brain.

Just as you can get used to sleeping on a moving train or in a vile smelling slaughter house, you can get used to sleeping in a light place. But sleep under such conditions is much less restful and restorative than sleep in a dark room.

It is particularly true of nervous and irritable persons, that the sleeping quarters should be chosen with reference to darkness and stillness. Never have a night lamp, and exclude from the room the illumination of an outside street light and the light which shines through a transom. Vigor, efficiency and length of days are promoted by giving the special senses nothing to do during the hours you spend in sleep.

Answers to Health Queries

J. C. Q.—Whenever I comb my hair there appears to be a sound like crossed wires charged with electricity. In a darkened room there are actual sparks flying from the hair and comb. What would you advise?

A.—This is nothing to worry about. Many people have this electricity in the hair.

T. Y. Q.—What causes fibrosis on the hilus of the lungs and peribronchial thickening on each lung and what may cure it?

A.—Bronchitis, T. B. of lungs, etc., etc. The patient should be under the care of a physician, who will outline treatment. The general rules for good health should be effective also.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Wednesday, October 3

THE general trend of events, judging by the planetary operations, is toward lively and stirring conditions. There may be sudden moves and changes with far-reaching effects, especially bearing on domestic or affectional relations. All affairs are under the high stimulus of Mars, inciting to constructive effort; and while employment is most fortunajely expected, new undertakings and projects are under a baneful sway. It would be well to be on guard against treachery and fraud. With this precaution the finances should increase and all should flourish.

Those whose birthday it is are assured of a progressive and prosperous year, with affairs moving at lively pace and involving important change. With protection against fraud and duplicity in new ventures, all should thrive. Personal affiliations may develop sudden and pleasant culminations.

A child born on this day may be original, clever and capable as well as ambitious in many directions. It may reach a place of position and authority and final happiness.

LOVE AND RIVALRY

THE well-laid plans of mice and men often go wrong. And so do Dan Cupid's. For sometimes when he has everything nicely planned out and is ready to sit smilingly by and see two of his subjects strolling down the path of Love and Romance—the ugly sister, Rivalry, steps in, and—Poof! Everything goes wrong!

She's a jealous creature, is Rivalry, especially when she at one time has been the very dearest, bestest friend of the lady in question. She has listened to all the dear confidences with a heavy heart, and when she was alone has raged and wept bitter tears because she is not the chosen one. Then the ugliest part of it all comes to pass. She determines that she WILL be the chosen one and begins a campaign that brings doubt to the Man and heartaches to the other Girl.

Poor Man! He's just sitting on a fence, and doesn't know which way to jump. At least he thinks he is. But Dan isn't going to let anyone in the world spoil HIS plans. So right off he gets busy and straightens the whole thing out. Sometimes it means the loss of one very dearest girl friend; sometimes she sees how mean and ugly she has been and says smilingly, "Bless you, my children! I'm SO happy because you two have found happiness!" Whichever way it is though, the Road to Love and Romance is again peopled with two happy hearts and everything is rosy again.

ADVICE TO THE LOVELORN

By ELEANOR GALE

What to Do?

DEAR MISS GALE:

A couple of years ago I met a boy of whom I never was particularly fond until several months ago. This boy, from the very first, treated me as though he cared. He never came to see me, but, of course, I didn't mind that. Then several months ago he, with some other boys, came to my house and from that night on I cared for him. He came up after that and always treated me as though he cared. But there was one fellow who tried to come between us. He was always telling me how this boy liked another girl and simply raved to me about him until I got sick of it. Suddenly, the boy I liked stopped coming up. I couldn't understand it very well, except that this other boy may have told him things, as he told me. And then again I didn't always treat him right. Well, one night we happened to be thrown together and he was as nice as ever, and Miss Gale, I couldn't doubt that he cared. After that night we were thrown together and he treated me wonderfully, but he didn't ask for a date, as he was with another girl and I a fellow. Three nights later he and another boy came to my house. Just before they left he and I had a talk. He as much as told me he really cares and I believe him, but he was supposed to call and hasn't done so, nor has he come up. This may be my fault, as I had a date with him, and then I had to call him and cancel it. I was rather abrupt and hasty while talking with him and I may have hurt his feelings, so please, Miss Gale, tell me what to do.

WHAT TO DO?"

There is nothing you can do until you see him again, and then you might tell him how sorry you were to have to break the date. Perhaps he thinks you were unnecessarily unkind.

On the Lookout

DEAR MISS GALE:

I am a constant reader of your column and find your advice wonderful. I am a young girl 19 years of age. I do not smoke or drink or pet. This is my problem: I have met many fellows and gone out with many, but none seem to suit me. They all are too fast for me. They smoke, drink and pet and it just spoils my evenings, so I just quit going with them. Now may I say a few words to Ike and Mike. Well, Ike and Mike, as you know we can only correspond through writing to Miss Gale in her daily column, but we can at least be friends. So I would advise you to hold your high standards and you will win your good, respectable girl some day. Either one of you is just the sort of fellow I am looking for. I would love to meet you both. We might run into each other some day and yet we may be friends and don't realize it. But do not pet, drink or smoke and I am sure you, as well as I, will win out in the end. Thanking you, Miss Gale, for your space and time and hoping to see this in print soon. Yours very truly,

"ON THE LOOKOUT."

Of course you will win out, my dear. There are lots of boys with standards as high as yours.

LUCY MERRY

Penn. Mother Was Right

Within a few months there will be no more feverish, bilious, headachy, constipated, pale and puny children! That prophecy would surely come true if every mother could see for herself how quickly, easily, and harmlessly the bowels of babies and children are cleansed, regulated, given tone and strength by a product which has proved its merit and reliability to do what is claimed for it to millions of mothers in over fifty years of steadily increasing use.

As mothers find out from using it how children respond to the gentle influence of California Fig Syrup by growing stronger, sturdier and more active daily they simply have to tell other mothers about it. That's one of the reasons for its overwhelming sales of over four million bottles a year.

A Pennsylvania mother, Mrs. J. H. Merry, 2 Foster Ave., Philadelphia, says: "Before my daughter, Lucy, was a year old, she bagan having constipation. Sister got me to give her California Fig Syrup and in a few days she was all right and looked fine again. This pleased me so much that I have used Fig Syrup ever since for all her colds or little upset spells. It always stops her trouble quick, strengthens her, makes her eat."

Always ask for California Fig Syrup by the full name and see that the carton bears the word "California." Then you'll get the genuine.

Too Much ACID

Many people, two hours after eating, suffer indigestion as they call it. It is usually excess acid. Correct it with an alkali. The best way, the quick, harmless and efficient way, is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained for 50 years the standard with physicians. One spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in stomach acids, and at once. The symptoms disapper in five minutes.

You will never use crude methods when you know this better method. And you will never suffer from excess acid when you prove out this easy relief. Please do that—for your own sake—now.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drug store.

Tooth paste starts Baby's bank account with a $3 deposit

Sounds strange, doesn't it? But it really isn't. Figure it out this way: by using Listerine Tooth Paste at 25¢ the large tube, instead of ordinary dentifrices costing twice as much, your average saving per year is $3. With this $3 you can open a savings account for your youngster. Or you can buy yourself gloves, or hosiery. There are countless items to choose from—the choice is yours.

A remarkable tooth paste at a remarkable price

You be the judge

AS makers of Listerine, we learned much about the requirements for firm, healthy gums, and beautiful gleaming teeth.

We felt that there was room for an improvement in the quality of tooth paste—and a real demand for a lower price.

Therefore we created a first class dentifrice suitable for all types of teeth. Listerine Tooth Paste is its name, and its price is but 25¢ for the large tube. Such a price for such a paste is possible only because of ultra-modern methods of manufacture and mass production.

The moment you begin to use Listerine Tooth Paste, you will be conscious of the delightful, fresh, clean and healthy feeling of your mouth and gums. And in a very short time you will note a marked improvement in your teeth—a new gleaming whiteness.

And remember, Listerine Tooth Paste accomplishes an average saving of three dollars a year per person, assuming that a tube a month per person is used. Think how substantial is the saving, when there are several in a family. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

Resume Play Tomorrow

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—Baseball was taboo here yesterday for Indianapolis and Rochester, contenders for the little world series championship.

Arriving early in the morning from Rochester, N. Y., where the local team won two out of three completed games, the players were permitted to roam wherever they desired, so long as it was not to the ball yard. Both Managers Betzel of Indianapolis and Southworth of Rochester believed the layoff would do their men good.

The series will be resumed tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock Central Standard time. The Hoosiers will practice this morning, while the visitors will get their first feel of the ground at Washington Park in the afternoon.

Players on both teams were reported in good physical condition.

The Indianapolis club, which won the American Association pennant in as stirring a finish as did Rochester in the International, was doubly glad to return home, where the players know the intricacies of their own diamond. The fielding of both Rochester and Indianapolis suffered at the Red Wings' park as a result of an infield which had been badly chopped up by two enterprising football teams just before the series started last week.

A. L. BARNSTORMERS TO PLAY GRAYS HERE

For the third successive year a team of American League barnstormers is coming to Pittsburgh for a series of games with the Homestead Grays. Altogether the Grays will play seven or eight games with the Barnstormers, but only two of the contests will be staged at Forbes Field, they being scheduled for Wednesday, October 11, and Friday, October 12.

BUTLER TO AID CHARLEY WEST

Bill Butler, former Geneva College sprint star, has accepted an offer from Howard University of Washington, D. C., to assist Charley West as track coach. Butler will enter Howard this year to take up the study of law.

The former Genevian held the tri-state amateur championship for the 100 and 220-yard dashes and the 440-yard run until this year when Pete Bowen of Pitt replaced him. He won the junior national A. A. U. quarter mile title in 1927.

SCALPERS GET PLENTY FOR SERIES' DUCATS

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—(INS.)—That many baseball fans, wishing to attend the Yankee-Cardinal world series game here, will have to pay through the nose, as usual, was clearly indicated by the activities of ticket speculators, as the contending clubs took their first warm-up for the opening game on Thursday.

"Take it or leave it," was the independent attitude of the scalpers, as they went about asking $50 for a series seat of three games, originally priced at $16.50. "If you don't pay that now, you'll pay more later."

The current "quote" on a single box seat for the three local games was $60 as compared with the list price of $19.80.

Writes a woman: "Your advertising of used cars as 'family cars' means more to me than I can say.

"A second car would be more than a luxury in our family. After my husband drives away in the morning I have to take our daughter to school.. It's quite a way off and I want to be sure that she gets there safely. Then I have to go to market.. I do my best but I haven't the time to shop for the best I can get for our budget. Then I want to be sure my little girl gets back safely.. Some days it is raining or snowing.. And I must confess that I'd like to see more friends and take a real interest in civic matters.. But what can a woman do? Though her business is outside the home too, she hasn't the use of a car."

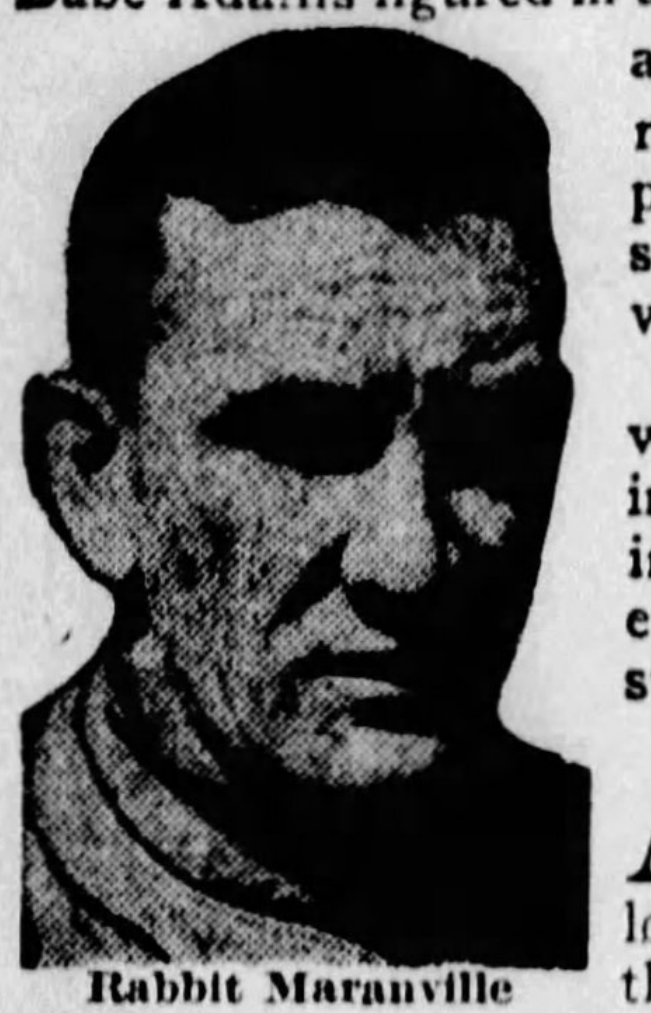
Maranville First Man to Play Regularly in Two World Series So Far Apart as Fourteen Years—Jack Quinn to Pitch Against Smoky Joe Williams Here—Swetonic May Be Pirate.

THOUGH Rabbit Maranville will not establish a time record in participating in two series 14 years apart, inasmuch as Babe Adams figured in a pair of diamond derbies that were separated by 16 seasons, the little shortstop really will set a new mark in the importance of the part he will play in his second titular engagement as compared with that played by Adams.



Rabbit Maranville

For while Adams, the hero of 1909, was used as relief pitcher for only one inning in 1925, Maranville, a series star in 1914, is slated to be a regular in every game throughout the post-season stakes of 1928.

AND not only that, but the former Brave, Pirate, Cub and Robin is looked upon as one of the main cogs in the Cardinal defense and a player who will contribute largely to the hustling spirit of his team.

You will find it a vain quest to search the baseball records for another instance of a player's being such an important figure in a world series 14 years after the first in which he took part. It is a rare example of durability.

GROVER CLEVELAND ALEXANDER is right at Maranville's heels as far as the elapsed time between two world series appearances is concerned.

The veteran hurler has been in two post-season struggles for baseball's highest honors, the first with the Phillies and the second with the Cardinals, and as his initial participation in such an event dates back to 1915, there will be a span of 13 years between that engagement and the series in which he is to take part this fall.

PITTSBURGH fans next week will have a chance to see two of the oldest, and yet two of the best pitchers in organized baseball twirling against each other in a slab duel at Forbes Field. One is Jack Quinn, venerable star of the Athletics, who admits being 42 years old but who is said to be 45 in reality, and the other is Smoky Joe Williams, crack moundsman of the Homestead Grays, who in spite of his 52 years, an age that beats Joe McGinnity's record, is still one of the greatest independent flingers in the United States.

Jack Quinn

THE meeting of Quinn and Williams will be a high spot of one of the games at Forbes Field between the Grays and the American League All-Stars.

The big leaguers, managed by Earl Mack, son of the manager of the Athletics, are to play a series of seven or eight contests with the strong Negro team.

Two of the events will take place at the Pirates' park here, the first on Wednesday afternoon, October 10, and the second on Friday afternoon, October 12, Columbus Day. Arrangements will be made to have Quinn and Williams pitch against each other on one of those dates.

THE favorable impression that Steve Swetonic created among major league observers by his fine pitching for Indianapolis in the American Association during the regular sea-

GARFIELD RALLIES TO BEAT CHUCK

By HARRY KECK,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Sports Editor.

YOUTH triumphed over age in the main bout of the opening boxing show of the season at Motor Square Garden last night when Garfield Johnson, local Negro flash, outlasted the veteran Chuck Wiggins, of Indianapolis, to grab the unanimous decision of the judges and referee at the end of 10 bristling rounds.

Ol' Chuck raised plenty of ruckus in that ring, but he tired toward the finish and then Johnson, better conditioned and many years younger, came like the wind to make up lost ground and forge out in front. It was as rough a battle as the Garden ever has presented, and Chuck was in there to see that it was rough. If he could have made it any rougher, rest assured he would have done so. And the crowd liked it.

WIGGINS TAKES LEAD

For the first three rounds it looked like Wiggins' fight. He set the pace, forcing Garfield about the ring and messing him up in scandalous fashion at close quarters. Chuck was accidentally hit low near the end of the first round, but was not hurt. In the second, Garfield started off fast, but Chuck soon took him in hand and tamed him down. He had the local man bleeding badly from the mouth. Again, just before the bell, Johnson struck low and this time Wiggins took the law into his own hands, ripping away with both fists at close quarters after the bell.

Chuck continued to hold the edge in the third, although Johnson was improving. Late in the round, Chuck slipped in his own corner, but was up at once.

By this time Chuck, who had entered the ring fat about the body and apparently none too well trained, was tiring and puffing badly. In the fourth round, his pace slowed down appreciably and Johnson, taking heart, became the aggressor and won his first round of the bout.

Johnson continued his good work in the fifth session, a great fighting round that had the crowd wild with excitement. They slugged toe to toe, with Garfield battering Chuck badly with smashes to the head against the ropes. For the first time he made the crowding veteran back up. Just to let the young feller know he still was in the fight, though, the slightly bald and none too angelic Chuck dropped in a couple of low punches at the bell.

PACE TIRES CHUCK

With the start of the sixth round, Johnson went out for the kill. He drove Chuck across the ring under a hard right and then a left to the jaw. It was a mistake, for, instead of merely hurting the Hoosier, he also riled him and Chuck put on a great rally. Crowding close, Wiggins held and hit and ripped and backhanded poor Garfield like nobody's business, cuffing him badly to the head and hammering the body and carrying the round.

That comeback took a lot out of Chuck and he had to rest up in the seventh, in which round Johnson set his own pace and scored at will. In the eighth, Garfield stung Chuck at the start with a solid left hook to the jaw, which was another mistake, for once again Chuck proved that there still was some fight left in the old boy by staging a rip-roaring comeback in which he messed up Garfield at close quarters to win the honors.

The last two rounds were all in Johnson's favor. Wiggins continued tearing in and trying, but Garfield had the range and clearly outboxed him and did the sharper hitting.

COLORFUL BATTLE

It was a colorful, zippy battle all the way for big fellows and Johnson earned himself many new friends by his gameness during the trying early rounds and his fine finish. As for Wiggins, he gave the crowd a fine run for its money, despite the fact that he was pouchy and short of breath and had to imbibe stimulants in his corner between rounds. He was making his first appearance here, and it was easy to conceive how, in his younger and more salad days, he was able to step along with Harry Greb, Gene Tunney and all of the other good ones.

Chuck had a 13-pound advantage

Loughran Beats Gross

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2.-(AP.)—Tommy Loughran, of Philadelphia, world's light-heavyweight champion, won the decision over Jack Gross, heavyweight of Salem, N. J., in a slashing 10-round bout at the National League ball park last night. Loughran's title was not at stake, as he entered the ring weighing 185 pounds. Gross scaled 202 pounds.

It was Loughran's first appearance as a heavyweight. The bout with Gross, rugged heavyweight contender, was considered by the champion to be a stepping stone in his efforts to reach the throne vacated recently by Gene Tunney.

The Salem boy landed some hard punches to the head and body, but Loughran shook them off and emerged from the fight practically unmarked.

Gross was cut and bleeding at the finish. Both eyes were partly closed and his nose and lips battered from the barrage of left jabs and right uppercuts that found their mark repeatedly.

IN PAIN

Babe Ruth's bad foot has required the best of attention between games in the close finish of the pennant race and he will need all the rest he can get before the series opens. He will be a hobbling home-run king in the big battles.

CASUALTIES

The New York Yankees are entering the world series next Thursday with probably a record number of casualties for the red-letter event of baseball. Tony Lazzeri, second baseman, has a lame throwing arm, but will be in action. Pitcher Wilcy Moore, a star last year, pitched his arm out working in and out of turn and was such a disappointment this season that he recently asked to be placed on the retired list and will not be available.

OUT

Herb Pennock was the best southpaw in the major leagues before neuritis developed in his pitching wing. He hasn't been of much use to the Yankees all season and will not be available for duty in the series.

TO PLAY

Although he has a badly sprained wrist, which it at first wos thought was broken, Combs will play in the world series.

RETURN OF COMBS BOON TO YANKS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Bill McKechnie and his classy Redbirds continue to reign as favorites with the early world series arrivals, but a note of encouragement appears to have permeated the camp of the enemy since it became known Earl Combs, star centerfielder, might be able to go to his position.

Combs is suffering from an injured wrist. The wound was first reported as a break, but apparently the later diagnosis was more favorable. In any event, Mill Huggins and the remainder of the Yankees are cheered up over the latest news.

COMBS OVERLOOKED

Owing to the ultra-brilliance of Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, the sparkling play of the tall ball hawk often is overlooked. Pirate fans will recall the class shown by Combs last season in helping to encompass the downfall of the Pirates.

Provided Combs is in action, the Yankees will be almost the same club that met the Pirates one year ago excepting Herb Pennock, slab hero of the 1927 banner event. Yes, it may be a defeat story so far as the American Leaguers are concerned.

Skipper Bill has any number of hurlers to throw at the Yankees, while the enemy is handicapped in the sharpshooting department. The Redbirds, as they flutter around the hotel lobbies these days, make no secret of the confidence to paste any hurler Huggins can send to the hill.

Pipgras and Hoyt are the Yankee aces, with Heimach and Zachary ready to do southpaw duty. Pipgras showed Pittsburgh fans some fancy twirling as he downed the Buccos at Forbes Field last season, yet the Pirates helped to defeat themselves. The Cards are a better club today than the Buccos were 12 months back. They are surer of themselves.

Player Comparison Gives Cards Edge

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Player-for-player in the nine positions, Bill McKechnie's Cardinals would seem to have the edge on the Yankees as the two clubs make ready for the titular battles.

In a comparison of this kind the pitchers probably should be excluded as they are generally rated by distinctive standards. But before dismissing them, it is timely to note that most of the experts who have followed the teams are convinced that the National League owns the advantage in the sharpshooters in this series.

The catching division doesn't offer much of a contest. Jimmy Wilson, the fighting maskman, who caught about 140 games for the new National League champions, is generally admitted to be far superior to any one of the three receivers the Yanks might use. Collins, Bengough and Grabowski make up the Yankee trio.

Of much interest to Pittsburgh fans is the possible presence in the Card lineup of Earl Smith. Earl, however, doesn't seem to have much chance to start a game.

BATTING MARKS DOWN

It is quite striking to note that of the five catchers mentioned not one owns a batting average as heavy as .270. Wilson is high with .264.

Regardless of how we National Leaguers like Jim Bottomley, both as a performer and a care-free youth, it would be the better part of sportsmanship to give the Yankees the decision at first base.

Sunny Jim and Columbia Lou Gehrig are fielding stars of the slugging type. The Redbird ace poled out thirty-one homers to tie Hack Wilson of the Cubs, the mark being four better than the year's output of Columbia Lou. But Gehrig has out-hit Bottomley by almost 50 points. The margin of superiority possessed by Gehrig, after all things are considered, may not be heavy, but it's there, nevertheless.

Second base offers a peculiar problem. If Tony Lazzeri were in condition and owning the batting advantage he holds over Frank Frisch, the wreath could be given to the Italian boy largely because he has out-batted Frisch by something like 63 points, although Frisch has scored many more runs than Tony. The latter, however, is in bad shape and probably will not be as effective as Frisch, who generally rises to great heights in a series of this kind.

MAY ALTERNATE

If Joe Dugan were in the same form he displayed against the Pirates a year ago there would be no hesitancy in naming the best third-sacker of the coming fight. Joe has

YOUNG SAYLOR WINS FROM FEDOR ON FOUL

NEW CASTLE, Oct. 2.—Young Saylor of Charleroi, won on a foul in the eighth round of his 10-round bout here last night at Jolly Bowl with Mickey Fedor of Canton.

Alex Simms of Canton won the 10-round semi-final with Walter Dickerson of California, Pa. The six-round bout between Todd Smith of Canton and Joe Todd of Charleroi was awarded to Smith. Frankie Moran of Pittsburgh defeated Joe Corsey of Canton in their 4-round go and in the 4-round opener, Lawrence Mattee, New Castle, won by a technical knockout in the third round from Johnny Thomas of this city.

BUCS RELEASE MULLIGAN

Eddie Mulligan, utility infielder of the Pittsburgh Pirates, has been released outright to the Dallas club, of the Texas League, in part payment of Pitcher Homer Blankenship, according to an announcement this morning by Sam Dreyfuss, treasurer of the local club.

Mulligan came to the Pirates this spring while the Corsairs were training at Paso Robles, being purchased from the San Francisco club, of the Pacific Coast League.

The veteran infielder had previous major league trials with the Chicago Cubs and White Sox.

JOCKEY TO RETIRE

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—Jack Howard, one of the oldest active jockeys, will follow Earl Sande's footsteps and quit the saddle at the end of this fall's season. Next year he plans to campaign a small band of horses of his own. Howard is 40 years old.

CHILLY SAUCE
By CHILLY DOYLE

Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—If the bleacher section of the Yankee Stadium holds empty seats for one or both of the series games scheduled for Thursday and Friday, this writer will not be surprised. Perhaps the deduction is wrong, but I incline to the belief that the recent clashes of the Yanks and Athletics at the Stadium has taken a little edge off the coming scraps.

Baseball weather or lack of it will have a lot to do with the enthusiasm shown here this week. A summer sun would help to bring out the bleacher boys, while cold or moist weather might keep many at the economic radio receiving sets.

The stadium now can handle about 80,000 people. About half of this number make daily purchases of seats. The other half of the seating capacity is a sellout, but this condition prevails at every series.

Unless he is "down" from his strenuous efforts of the season, Jimmy Wilson stands well to be one of the heroes of the series. The erstwhile Quaker and soccer star took part in 141 engagements in the interest of the Redbirds. Jim's achievements in this respect matches the work of Bob O'Farrell, Cardinals' catcher of two years ago, who was credited by Rogers Hornsby as being the biggest factor in the winning of the flag by the 1926 Redbirds.

O'Farrell was selected as the most valuable player that season and the next year he succeeded Hornsby as manager. There is not much chance of Wilson being named as the most valuable player, as that honor seems

Sherdel, Hoyt May Get First Call to Mound

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Although the opposing managers, Bill McKechnie and Miller Huggins, have not announced their batteries for the opening game, it was believed here today that the sharpshooters and catchers would be Sherdel and Wilson, for the Cardinals, and Hoyt and Bengough, for the Yankees.

Manager McKechnie has any number of pitchers ready for the test, and it is probable that Haines, Alexander and Mitchell will each start in the titular clash.

Delvicchio, Burke Even

BALTIMORE, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—A freak hole in one enlivened the morning half of the first round of match play in the National Professional Golfers' Association championship tournament today.

On the 155-yard seventeenth hole, a one-shooter which has no fairway at all but consists only of a tee, a green, bunkers and plenty of rough, Billie Burke, handsome young Port Chester, N. Y., pro, drove to within three inches of the cup after his opponent, Horton Smith, Joplin, Mo., had reached the green. Smith putted and his ball knocked Burke's into the cup for an ace.

With the aid of this unusual hole, Burke led 1 up after the first 18 holes.

After 18 holes, Willie MacFarlane, Tuckahoe, N. Y., and Glenn Spencer, Garrison, Md., had commanding leads of 5 up over their respective opponents, Jim Foulis, Hinsdale, Ill., and Fred McDermott, Shelbyville, Ind.

Walter Hagen, defending champion, finished nine holes 1 up on Willie Ogg, of Worcester, Mass. Jock Hutchison, a former holder of the title, was 1 down to Willie Klein, East Williston, N. Y.

BARNES LEADS ARMOUR

Jim Barnes, the lanky New York pro, who plays in long trousers and shirtsleeves, got the jump on Tommy Armour, former open champion from Washington, leading him 2 up at the first turn. There, the long-driving Bob McDonald, of Chicago, was 1 up on Willie Kidd, of Hopkins, Minn.

Al Alcroft, of Youngstown, reached the turn 1 up on George Christ, of Rochester.

Gene Sarazen, of Flushing, N. Y., and Wild Bill Mehlhorn, of White Plains, two of the favorites for the championship, were waging a close battle which found the square-shouldered Mehlhorn 1 up after nine holes. Both were playing below their usual form, Gene taking a 40 and his opponent a 39.

in the weights, scaling 193 pounds against 180 for Johnson. He also had height and reach on the local man, whose speed enabled him to overcome this handicap. Each won five rounds, but Garfield had more pronounced edges in the frames he annexed than Chuck was able to ring up.

The show was a pleasing one on the whole and drew a fair-sized opening night crowd.

LA ROSE SCORES HIT

Tony LaRose, of Cincinnati, making his local debut, handed a gory shellacking to Bobby Richardson, of Portage, Pa., in the six-round semi-final. Richardson was unable to fathom the southpaw stance of LaRose and won only one round, the fifth, in which he did some heavy countering. The remainder of the time LaRose swarmed all over him, smothering him under choppy rights to the head and left swings. LaRose made quite a hit and should be brought back. He scaled 151¼ pounds against 155¾ for Richardson.

Joe Louder, of the South Hills, 151¾ pounds, rallied after being knocked through the ropes for a count of nine in the third round to defeat Leo Kybursky, of Swissvale, 149¾, in their six-round return battle. It was a close one, but the judges and referee were agreed on Louder. Kybursky recently defeated Louder at Duquesne.

Tom Harris, of Lawrenceville, 141½ pounds, was floored by Georgie Peck, of the North Side, 149, with a succession of left hooks to the jaw in the first round, but got up dazed at the count of three, stalled out the round and then went on to score a brilliant boxing victory. He exhibited some great timing of punches and handed Peck quite a pasting before it was over.

ROBERTSON-TILL NEXT

In the four-round opener, Frankie Lanz, of Sharpsburg, 125¼ pounds, defeated Tony Azzara, of the East End, 132.

Eddie Kennedy and Red Robinson divided the refereeing, with Eddie handling the main bout. The judges were Frank (Bull) Brown and Jock Simco. Homer Robertson and Osk Till, middleweights, have been matched for the main bout next Monday night.

Bottomley, Frisch, Maranville and Wilson of the Cardinals, Lindstrom and Hogan of the Giants, Hartnett of the Cubs, Traynor of the Pirates, Critz of the Reds, Bissonette of the Dodgers, Richbourg of the Braves and Thompson of the Quakers rendered services to their clubs in such a degree as to merit a part of any purse that is donated.

son is being strengthened by his great work against the Rochester International League champions in the little world series."

The fact that Indianapolis leads in the series by two games to one is due to the brilliant slabwork of the Pittsburgh boy. He pitched the Hoosiers to both of their victories and in the two games held Rochester to a total of only three runs.

Steve Swetonic

IT will not be at all surprising if Swetonic is found in the majors next season, and possibly in his own home town as a member of the Pirates. Steve is not subject to draft and can be obtained only by purchase, but it is known that his work has been closely watched by more than one big league club with a view to making a bid for his services. It is believed that the Pittsburgh club will have the inside track if it declares to take him on. When President Barney Dreyfuss was questioned as to the probability of Swetonic's coming to the Pirates he said that it would be up to Manager Donie Bush to decide whether or not an effort should be made to buy the home-bred pitcher.

MANAGER BUSH remained in New York after the conclusion of the Pirates' schedule to witness the world series. He will spend a day or two in Pittsburgh following the series before going to his home in Indianapolis.

Those members of the Pittsburgh team who went to Montreal for Sunday's exhibition game arrived here yesterday afternoon and will scatter for their homeward trips today and tomorrow, following Burleigh Grimes, Dick Bartell, Coburn Jones and others who have already departed. President Dreyfuss said he had not yet asked any of the players to sign for next season.

THE Pirate owner has not yet decided whether or not to attend the world series. If he can complete a couple of business matters that require his immediate attention he will be present at the big games, leaving here with Mrs. Dreyfuss tomorrow morning. Treasurer Sam Dreyfuss will go East tonight for the series.

President Dreyfuss says he is pulling hard for a National League victory in the title stakes and is confident that Bill McKechnie's men will come through.

NOTES of the BOXERS

TOD MORGAN, junior lightweight champion, boxes King Tut in a non-championship bout at Minneapolis tonight.

K. O. Harry Ferry of McKeesport is fighting around New York under the management of Lew Barnett, former pilot of Corp. Izzy Schwartz. He has had four bouts there and won all of them.

Fighting in the preliminaries of the annual West Penn amateur boxing tournament at McKeesport tomorrow night will get under way at 8 o'clock. The semi-finals are scheduled the next night.

Paulino Uzcudun and Otto Von Porat will meet in Madison Square Garden, New York, November 5.

The winner of the bout between Joe Glick and Tommy Grogan in Madison Square Garden Friday night has been promised a match with Jimmy McLarnin.

Andre Routis, new featherweight champion, will return home to France after his bout with Honey Boy Finnegan at Boston, November 15.

Roberto Roberti, the Italian heavyweight, has broken training and the chances are his bout with George Godfrey, scheduled for Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, tomorrow night, will be called off.

Bucky Harris Fired

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(AP.) — Buckey Harris, for five years manager of the Washington Senators, will not pilot the team next year, Clark Griffith, owner of the club, announced today.

Griffith said that it had not been decided whether Harris would remain as a player on the team. No one has been selected to take his place, Griffith added. Joe Judge, veteran first baseman for the Senators, has been mentioned often as a possible successor to Harris.

Harris became manager of the Washington club in 1924, won the American League pennant that year and beat the New York Giants in the world series. He repeated the next year in the American League but lost to Pittsburgh in the world series.

On the other hand, the McKechnie clan, has Sherdel, Haines, Alexander and Mitchell, not to mention Rhem and Johnson, who, accoroding to McKechnie, also are in fine fettle.

The St. Louis club is in good shape, barring minor handicaps. Chick Hafey has a sore side and Rabbit Maranville is nursing a sore finger. Rabbit's hand is giving him considerable annoyance, but he thinks the rest of the next two days will fix him up.

CLUBS TO PRACTICE

The clubs will workout today and tomorrow at the hours customary for world series practice. The Cardinals thoroughly enjoyed their session of yesterday. They were anxious to study the angles of the stadium and they think the three sessions previous to the diamond warfare will have a tendency to make them feel at home on the very hostile soil.

This extravagance menaces health

To brush teeth and forget gums, is an extravagance that demands as its price health and its precious gifts, beauty and youth. In this life of ease and luxury, gums are undernourished and under-exercised. And if neglected, they surrender to diseases that sweep the system and often cause loss of teeth.

Be liberal with yourself. Take advantage of the best modern dentistry. See your dentist every six months. Continue to brush your teeth. But also, every morning and night, brush gums vigorously with the dentifrice specifically made for the purpose . . . Forhan's for the Gums.

When you have used this dentifrice for a few days you'll notice a vast improvement in the way your gums look and feel. In addition, note how effectively and safely Forhan's cleans teeth white and protects them from causes of decay. Get a tube from your druggist and start using it today.

HISTORY—By "HAM"

A friend of mine called up his wife the other evening. "Lo, honey," he said, "I won't be home 'til late." "Can I DEPEND on that?" she asked. I said to him, "What does she usually say when you get home late?" "Oh, she just gets historical," he replied. "Hysterical, you mean," I corrected. "No, I mean HIS-TOR-I-CAL," he insisted. "She digs up all my past."

Which Reminds Me—

Digging up the past in tires—the past 5 years—while the sales of all tires increased only 50%, Goodyear sales increased 100%. And it was about 5 years ago that Goodyear patented the SUPERTWIST cord used only in Goodyear Tires. Compared with the best competitive cord, SUPERTWIST stretches 60% farther before breaking. This 60% greater elasticity enables Goodyears to stand more rough driving without blowouts or sidewall cracks. I think it accounts greatly for Goodyears pulling so far ahead of the field and explains why more AND MORE AND MORE people ride on Goodyears than on any other tires.

FIELDS BEATS THOMPSON

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 2.—Young Jack Thompson, the Negro, who recently knocked out Joe Dundee, the welterweight champion, went down to defeat before clever Jackie Fields in a 10-round bout here last night before 10,000 fans. Fields won seven of the rounds and Thompson was pressed to last the limit.

Sandlot Football

by TOM BIRKS

WITH the opening game under their belts, coaches among the various contenders can wade right in with that elimination stuff so far as some of the material in their squads are concerned, for with the exception of the Burns Club, which functions next Sunday with the Charleroi Scholastics at Community Field, all of the clubs in the district flashed their makeup to the fans over the week-end.

McKeesporters are elated over the showing of Harrison, the new halfback, who reeled off a 60-yard run to open last Sunday's game. Independent gridiron followers will forget all about Billy Doll, chirped the Tube City followers at the end of the Rainbow Gardens tussle, which was won by the Olympics in easy fashion, and then Bill Sullivan's aggregation showed its drilling by totaling 55 points in the Saturday session at Cycler Park.

Zoltac's appearance with the team he first started with, the East Pittsburgh Firemen, settles conclusively the question of whether or not the big plunging fullback will be back with Connelly's club. His couple of games with the Iverson outfit made a hit with the Tube City fans, but Zoltac is strictly an East Pittsburgh product, and as long as the Firemen have a team he will be there. The Firemen evidently did not overlook any bets when Chontos was gobbled up to bolster the halfbacks.

McChesneytown's wonderful offensive was again demonstrated when Blawnox hit the bust by a 26-to-0 score. Kennedy's powerful machine is again going to be the stumbling block for the championship contenders, and when some of the real clubs start to tangle, the fans will see some excitement. Bridgeville will flash a real backfield in Leahy, Dolan, Kasputis, Johnson, Crum, and Simpson, all ball carriers par excellence.

Manager Sam Damascio of Coraopolis will send his charges against the Eighth Ward Traders next Sunday at Coraopolis to try and break into the win column. Last Sunday the team looked good, but needed a workout to throw it in into working order. The Traders bumped into the heavy East Pittsburgh machineand that makes it even There is a chance for both of them to show some stuff.

All of the titular contenders came through all right, but as in other years, it will take plenty of coaxing to get the various big clubs together. This is because no club wants to play a beaten team. But that is the bunk. Plenty of clubs are beaten because they have the nerve to step right out and take the big boys. They all get beat sooner or later, but when a team steps out, it is usually sooner.

taken part in only 94 fights this year and is likely to alternate at third with Robertson, according to the style of pitching served by the Cards.

Little Andy High will play third for the Redbirds. Now Andy is not in the same class as Dugan as a third-baseman, but he is the best hitter among the three mentioned. In view of the conditions it is hard to give either side an advantage at third.

Arriving at the short field we find an unusual situation Mark Koenig, with his better than .300 batting average is far ahead of Rabbit Maranville, but the Swiss athlete is hardly the shortstop that Rabbit is.

Koenig may be given the bulge on the Rabbit by a majority of the writers, but if you ask a vote of the diamond performers themselves as to the respective value of the two short-fielders, the ballot might show the Springfield marvel leading. The game has few players of better team-work faculties than Maranville.

Here's another way to look at it. Match Tommy Thevenow with Koenig and get expressions as to which is the better shortstop. After you have done this, remember that Maranville forced Tommy to a seat on the bench. I can't give Koenig any better than a draw regardless of how brilliant he turns out to be in the series.

Left field may be a stand-off with Chic Hafey, a strapping youngster, competing against Bob Meusel, a strapping veteran. Hafey, however, would get a decision on the season's achievements. Chic has poled out 27 homers as against 11 for Bob and he has out-batted his rival by 25 points. The Redbird star is fleeter of foot, he scoring 101 runs for the new champions.

Earl Combs is supposed to be through so far as the series is concerned. If the Yank center-fielder were available I would give the American Leaguers the advantage in center, despite the brilliance of Taylor Douthit. In this writer's opinion Combs is one of the greatest players in the game.

BOTH BALL HAWKS

The rivals who roam the middle pasture are both ball hawks and fast base runners. Combs is much more dangerous at the plate. But if Earl is out and Paschal or Durst plays center, the Cards will have the favor in the position.

Ruth will be in right field, and that means there is no argument so far as he compares with Harper, Holm or Orsatti.

The Redbirds have the better of it in reserve strength. In fact, Bill McKechnie's success is partly due to boys like Holm and Orsatti. Outfielder Roettger also was big factor until he broke his leg.

A general summing of this kind shows a close result, but inasmuch as the Yanks will go into battle with some of their stars on the hospital list, the Cardinals are and deserve to be the favorites to win.

Vance to See First World Series

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—Curiosity killed a cat and now it's got Dazzy Vance. He's going to see his first world series. Dazzy, of the Dodgers, has been one of the major leagues' greatest pitchers for seven years, but he's never seen a world series game.

He explains it this way:

"After the Giants nosed us out back in 1924, I vowed I'd never attend a world series until I could pitch in one. But curiosity seems to have got the better of me, so I'm going to remain around a while to see what the big series is like."

LAST YEAR FRESHIE SHOWS FORM

By JESS CARVER.

THEY are having a tough old time out at Pitt keeping a certain young chap out of the varsity lineup. Jess Crissinger, a sturdy 188-pounder, guard and tackle on the frosh eleven last year, is giving both Demelio and Capt. Fox, the regular guards, a tussle for their berths. He isn't trying to play on both sides of the line, of course, but he threatens daily to replace either man. Criss' only weakness is on the offense, as he has not learned to come out of the line quite fast enough as yet.

Crissinger's weight may come in handy against the husky Bethany varsity here on Saturday. It took Wash-Jeff an entire half to wear down the Bisons and Pitt showed little in the game with Thiel to indicate that the Panthers will get past the Big Green line any sooner.

Pitt scouted the Bisons well, and is drilling this week on offensive play, paying strict attention to the aerial game and to the defense against that sort of attack, at which they were woefully and almost fatally weak against Thiel.

TECH DRILLS LINE

Carnegie Tech was disposed to take the Ashland College eleven, the Saturday foe of the Tartans, lightly following the 6-0 setback suffered by the Ohioans in the opening game of the season with Slippery Rock. Last week, however, Ashland bumped off Wooster by an emphatic score. The game may still develop into another warm-up, and again it may turn out to be a tough assignment.

Advisory Coach Steffen has returned to his judicial duties in Chicago, leaving Coach Bob Waddell in full charge. The Tech line, which did not function with the smoothness that is desired and demanded by the Plaid mentors, is in for a tough week of drill. The coaches are also trying to dope out a way to play Moorehead, Letzelter, Eyth, Harpster and Karcis in the backfield at the same time.

DUKES FEAR FOE

The boys up on the Bluff eyed with no little concern the 12-0 defeat that the big Temple University eleven of Philadelphia handed Jack Harding's St. Thomas College team last Saturday. It was the first opportunity that the Dukes had to get a line on St. Thomas this year, and as the Dukes are to meet the Saints in Scranton this Saturday, the evidence of strength on the part of Harding's boys was not secured any too soon.

Temple, boasting a powerful eleven that went through the 1927 season with only one defeat and scored an overwhelming victory over Bucknell in the closing game, had its hands full in beating the Saints, scoring both touchdowns as the result of fumbles.

Cardinal Pitchers Best

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—Pitching has played a predominant part in the decision of the world series through the baseball ages, and the star boxmen largely have run true to form. In the impending battle between the Cardinals and the Yankees, however, two frayed and overworked staffs will be pitted against each other, and the big question is whether the rival hurlers will be able to match the form they have shown through the regular campaign.

Although Miller Huggins says his pitching "will take care of itself," any edge in the box rests with the Cardinals. Jess Haines had an erratic season, but finished with nine straight victories and eight complete games.

Wee Willie Sherdel lost two tough games to Pennock in the 1926 series, which is one good reason for supposing that he will win this time. If there is any justice in the law of averages, Willie will take the close ones in the forthcoming battle.

Old Alex the Great is 41 instead of 39, but he is still Alex the Great—and many of the Yankees remember it. Another veteran, Clarence Mitchell, the southpaw spitballer, has a mean way of making strong batsmen weep over that dinky curve. He "hasn't got a thing," but many clubs can't hit it, particularly the Giants.

YANK STAFF "SHOT"

Against this array, Miller Huggins must hurl an over-worked Hoyt, an uncertain Pipgras, a veteran Zachary—and no Pennock at all. The Cardinals will depend upon the above-mentioned quartet to start all games, and Huggins will be tempting a fate of which he already is suspicious if he ventures forth with anybody except the "Big Three," who helped the three-time champions stagger under the wire.

Yank Batting Edge Offset by Injuries

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—The Yankees enter the world series with a paper offensive 13 batting points greater than that of the Cardinals, but with much of this theoretical advantage offset by injuries to star players who helped compile it.

The announcement yesterday that Earl Combs had suffered only a sprain and not a fracture of his right wrist in Detroit last Thursday bolstered Yankee hopes, as his .310 bat did much to help the American League champions along to their team average of .295.

Babe Ruth, Mark Koenig and Tony Lazzeri, who outhit their respective Cardinal rivals by generous margins, are handicaped by injuries of one degree or another, and the loss of any one of them would more than eat up any batting margin which may be left to the Yankees. Alarm was felt particularly over the condition of Lazzeri, but the signor gamed his way through the last three weeks of the American League season when the Yanks had to have him. Perhaps he can repeat in the title series.

The tradition of hitting has remained about the Cardinals ever since 1926 when Hornsby first scaled the heights. The fans at large have looked upon the St. Louisans as uncommonly dangerous with the willow—regardless of the actual averages. The new champions are by no means poor batsmen, but they fall far short of being the hardest swatsmiths in even their own league and in dual league statistics rank fifth to the Pirates, the Giants, the Yankees and the Athletics.

MAKE HITS COUNT

Cardinal teams of recent years have known the knack of making the most of their hits, however, and the runs have pattered over the plate when needed. The National League invaders will be forced to make the most of their drives when the championship series starts at the Ruppert stadium on Thursday, if the teams bat anywhere close to their season's performances.

The St. Louisans will be substantially outbatted individually at five of the nine positions on Thursday, with Combs in center field. Unless Dugan resumes his post at third base, six Yankees will enter the game with a margin over their various Cardinal rivals.

The series will bring together the respective league leaders in runs batted in, and will pit the American League home run champion against the man who tied for four-base honors in the National. Babe Ruth's margin of 54 home runs to 31 over Jim Bottomley gives the Yankees a big bulge in long distance clouts. But Sunny Jim's 133 runs batted in compare more favorably with Gehrig's 145.

Chain Banking Is Coming; Thousands of Bankers Meet.

By B. C. FORBES

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2.

AMERICA'S bankers, gathered here by the thousands for their annual convention, are confident concerning the general industrial and business outlook, uneasy over the ongoings in Wall street, hopeful regarding agricultural improvement and entirely unexcited over the presidential election.

They don't like the lending of so much money on call in Wall street by outsiders, non-bankers, first, because it cuts down banking profits, and, second, because the presence of so much "unregulated" money in the nation's chief financial center is viewed as full of potential danger. But I doubt whether the assembled bankers will attempt any official remedial action.

THOMAS R. PRESTON, the Southern banker who is presiding over this year's annual gathering of the American Bankers' Association, will this week step aside in favor of Craig B. Hazlewood, youthful Chicago banker. John G. Lonsdale, of St. Louis, will then rank as next-in-line for the presidency, and I understand that Rome C. Stephenson, of South Bend, Ind., will be nominated as the new vice president, which means that he will be in direct line for the presidency.

New York is often accused of dominating American finance and banking overmuch. But it has supplied few presidents for the bankers' national organization. It has had only one—the lamented William P. Knox—in 19 years, whereas Chicago gave the association its president (Melvin A. Traylor) two years ago and is again supplying the helmsman this year.

It is significant that, without exception, the men who have received the highest honor within the gift of American bankers have in modern times been men who started at the very bottom in humble circumstances. Birth and inherited money don't make great bankers.

AGRICULTURE is more on the minds of our bankers than any other one subject. They analyze the problem as an economic, not a political one. They do not take seriously all the fine sounding promises of a political panacea for the farmers' troubles. This convention will not attempt to wave a magic wand and present every struggling farmer with a sure-fire extinguisher of his woes. The bankers are convinced that what most of our unsuccessful farmers need is education to fit them to cultivate their land more intensively, more effectively, more efficiently and, in many cases, with more diversification. Also, they need helpful, sympathetic banking support. Then, too, they must be taught how to co-operate with other farmers wherever co-operation can be made profitable.

AGRICULTURAL states, as we all know, have too often suffered from the wholesale failures of small banks. With a view to modifying this evil, the American Bankers' Association is vigorously getting behind a movement to establish regional clearing houses. By organizing all the banks in a number of counties, especially in rural sections, it is feasible to provide a permanent bank examiner, whose duty it would be to keep in the closest touch with all the banks and do his utmost to prevent them from indulging in practices likely to lead to failure. Already two regional clearing houses have been established, with promising success.

BRANCH banking, which has been a bone of contention at several recent conventions, will not figure prominently in this year's program because the federal government finally passed a law which is now being tested.

Group banking may not come to the front at the official proceedings, here, but it is very much in the minds of progressive bankers at this moment. Influential bankers see great possibilities in acquiring either stock control or outright ownership of banks in cities or towns or smaller communities, particularly the last. We are going to witness the growth of what will in reality be chain banking, although it may not go under that name.

This, in my opinion, is by far the most important coming development in American banking.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 4 to 12 points with the active months showing net gains of 8 to 13 points right after the opening on reports of rains in the Eastern belt and unfavorable crop advices. The market met increased offerings around 19.30c for December, however, and prices eased after the early demand had been supplied, with some Southern selling as well as realizing in evidence, while there may have been a little further selling on disappointment over the failure of efforts to settle the new Bedford Mill strike. December eased off to 19.18c or within a point of yesterday's closing quotation, but the volume of the business tapered off and the market showed a fairly steady tone at the end of the first half hour.

Selling became a little more active later in the morning. Private reports showing a reduction in crop prospects for the month and considerable difference of opinion as to the actual yield failed to inspire more active buying. December eased off to 19.04c and March to 18.83c making net declines of 13 to 19 points and the market at midday was within two or three points of these figures. Three of the private crop reports were issued during the morning with condition figures ranging from 54.3 to 57 and indicated crop figures from 13,595,000 to 14,554,000 bales.

STOCK MARKET MOVEMENTS JUMPY

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—Extreme nervousness characterized the trading in today's stock market, which experienced frequent shifts of speculative sentiment. Prices headed upward at the opening but ran into a heavy volume of selling around midday when banks called $35,000,000 in loans and sent the call rate from 8 to 9 per cent. A partial recovery set in during the early afternoon, but the line of least resistance appeared to be downward.

Much of the midday selling is believed to have been inspired by commission house advices, suggesting the possibility of adverse market developments this week, particular stress being laid on the criticism being voiced at the annual convention of the American Bankers' Association in Philadelphia of the huge volume of credit tied up on securities collateral. Although the high call money rates are believed to be temporary, Wall Street apparently is becoming disturbed over the brokers' loan situation. The monthly report of stock exchange member loans is expected to set a new high record, as is the weekly federal reserve report on Thursday.

There were a few stocks which showed independent strength. Lambert ran up 6 points to a new peak at 132⅞, and Grasselli Chemical moved up 4 to a new top at 75⅞. The can shares, Murray Corporation and Chrysler also received strong buying support, but encountered stiff selling resistance around their old highs.

Weakness of several of the high-grade investment rails had a disturbing effect on speculative sentiment. Pittsburgh and West Virginia dropped 4 points, and Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific, Atlantic Coast Line and Rock Island sold down 3 points or more.

Wright Aeronautical dropped from an early high of 169½ to 160, and General Motors from 217 to 212¾. Adams Express broke 9½ points below last night's close, Atlantic Refining and Mathieson Alkali about 5 each, while Allis Chalmers, Johns Manville, Curtiss, A. M. Byers and Union Carbide dropped 4 points or more.

Mr. John R. Hermes, President of Liberty Dairy Products Corporation, has summarized his letter to us as follows:

History and Business: Liberty Dairy Products Corporation is a consolidation of the following companies:

Ohio and Pittsburgh Milk Company
(Trading as Hermes-Groves Dairy Company)
Shadyside Milk Company
Reinhold Ice and Ice Cream Company
Kittanning Pure Milk Company

The consolidation forms one of the largest and most important units engaged in the production and distribution of dairy products in Pittsburgh and contiguous territory. The business of the Corporation includes the wholesale and retail distribution of milk and cream and manufactured dairy products, including ice cream, butter, buttermilk, cheese and other products. A large portion of the Corporation's business is transacted on a cash basis with little inventory risk and slight credit losses. Products are distributed to over 65,000 consumers and through more than 2,500 established dealers.

Property: The properties of the Corporation include four modern plants equipped with the latest type of labor saving machinery, Braeburn Certified Milk Farms, five country receiving and manufacturing plants, garages, repair shops and stables. Plants are located in the downtown and East End districts of Pittsburgh, and in Oakmont, New Kensington and Kittanning.

Sales and Earnings: Net sales for the year ended April 30, 1928, if these companies had been consolidated for this period, amounted to $4,152,513.48. Net income, after eliminating non-recurring interest charges of $31,633.16 and after deducting depreciation and Federal Income Taxes at 12 per cent, as certified by Messrs. Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Company, amounted to $156,804.30. This was equivalent to 2.2 times the dividend requirements of the 7% Cumulative Convertible First Preferred Stock outstanding under the above stated capitalization. After allowing for preferred dividends, it was equivalent to $1.60 per share of Common Stock outstanding under the above stated capitalization. The certified average annual net income for the three years from 1925 to 1927 inclusive, computed on the same basis, amounted to $126,508.85, equivalent to 1.8 times the average annual dividend requirements of the 7% Cumulative Convertible First Preferred Stock and, after providing for preferred dividends, to $1.04 per share on the Common Stock.

Assets: The properties of the Corporation have been appraised as of April 30, 1928, by the American Appraisal Company at $1,693,521.90. Net assets, after giving effect to present financing, as shown in the balance sheet dated April 30, 1928, as certified by Messrs. Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Company, amounted to $2,106,002.95 equivalent to $210 per share of 7% Cumulative Convertible First Preferred Stock.

Purpose: The net proceeds of the sale of 7% Cumulative Convertible First Preferred Stock will be applied to the liquidation of liabilities of the companies consolidating to form Liberty Dairy Products Corporation. All of the net assets, except a small part for which cash will be paid, will be turned over to Liberty Dairy Products Corporation in exchange for Common Stock. Management and control of the Corporation will remain in the hands of the men who have been responsible for the successful growth of the predecessor companies.

The Corporation will make application to list this stock on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange.

This stock is offered when, as and if issued and accepted by us, and subject to the approval of all legal proceedings by Messrs. Smith, Buchanan, Scott & Gordon.

HARBISON WALKER NEW SHARES RISE FURTHER

Trading was quiet and prices were narrow with a slight downward tendency in the early session of the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today.

The dealings here were partly a reflection of the start of the market in New York where an 8 per cent call loan opening caused some further selling in the general list, although some of the speculative favorites were kept in hand by the bull element and strongly supported near the best levels.

Some commentators on the money market contend that the recent rates for loans are artificial, and for this reason many followers of the stock market are doggedly holding on to their stocks in the hope that credit conditions will ease back to normal as the winter season progresses. However, there will be another Treasury operation the middle of this month and many observers fail to see how the situation can be relieved before that time at least.

Scattered trades in the local market during the forenoon showed only moderate changes from the level prevailing in the late market yesterday. Odd lot transactions were the rule with no issue on the board showing as much as a full point's change from the previous close.

Blaw Knox Steel staged an individual rally on the announcement that interests connected with that company had gone on the Universal Pipe board and that an association with Pressed Steel Car interests had also been formed. The stock sold up about three points, but the move halted around 120.

Harbison-Walker new shares also moved higher following the buying yesterday at a figure equivalent to a rise of more than 10 points from the price at which the old stock last sold. Standard Sanitary continued firm at a small gain over yesterday's best price.

NEWS AND VIEWS

Federal Reserve Security Loans.

Concentration of the present large volume of credit in the security market places a grave responsibility upon the Federal Reserve system to maintain equitable distribution of funds in all lines of business, according to Lewis T. McFadden, chairman of the House Banking and Currency Committee, who spoke before the clearing house section of the American Bankers' Association convention at Philadelphia yesterday. He said the proven stability of the security market as a temporary depository of liquid funds may necessitate the Federal Reserve's recognizing this class of loans and establishing what are known in Europe as "Lombard loans," or advances by the central institution against securities. He admits this might lead to inflation, but it may be necessary to alter the Federal Reserve law in accordance with changed conditions.

Galena Deal Approved.

Stockholders of the Galena-Signal Oil Company of Pennsylvania, at a special meeting, approved the sale to the Texas Corporation of the foreign holdings and various properties of the company located in the United States. The stockholders also passed favorably on the plan of reorganization under which holders of preferred stock will receive cash at the rate of $75 for each share of preferred and two shares of common stock of the new corporation to be formed for each full share of preferred. Holders of common stock will be entitled to receive one share of new common for each full share held. More than 52 per cent of the preferred stock and more than 39 per cent of the common are owned by the Rockefeller Foundation and American Republics Corporation. These concern approved the plan.

Rights are offered to holders of record October 17. A meeting of the stockholders has been called for October 13, when a vote will be taken on increasing authorized capital stock from 400,000 shares of $25 par to 1,200,000 shares of no-par value. The plan also calls for liquidating all current bank loans and retiring $5,000,000 of 8 per cent gold notes outstanding.

Atlantic Refining.

Oil circles for some time have voiced the opinion that the Atlantic Refining Company would negotiate for the acquisition of additional properties. Credence was given to this when, early in September, the company announced that its stockholders would meet October 15 to vote on a proposal to increase authorized common stock to 4,000,000 shares of $25 par from 500,000 shares of $100 par. Under the arrangement, the present common (all outstanding) would be split four for one, accounting for 2,000,000 of the new shares and leaving 2,000,000 shares to be issued at the company's discretion. Several oil units have been mentioned as likely candidates for absorption by Atlantic. Up to a short time ago, Union Oil Company of California was prominent among these. But current reports in the oil trade substitute the name of Mid-Continent Petroleum Corporation as the unit which eventually may come into Atlantic Refining's fold. These reports, while unofficial, intimate that proceedings already are planned looking toward a merger of the two companies.

Furnace Oil Consumption.

Consumption of furnace oil used for domestic heating has had a rapid growth over the past seven years. Demand for this grade of fuel oil in the winter of 1927-1928 approximated 35,700,000 barrels, compared with about 6,000,000 barrels in the winter of 1921-1922. In the latter season about 100,000 burners were in use, with an aggregate consumption of 2,500 gallons each, or an aggregate of 250,000,000 gallons. Last winter domestic burners in use totaled about 600,000 and it is estimated 150,000 additional burners will be installed during the coming season. This should result in consumption of about 45,000,000 barrels of furnace oils in the winter of 1928-1929.

New Construction Gains.

New construction and engineering projects started in the 37 states east of the Rockies in the last nine months amounted to $5,132,944,100, a 7 per cent increase over the same period in 1927, the F. W. Dodge Corporation reported. Contracts awarded last week totaled $166,895,000, exceeded only by three other weeks since the first of the year.

Rails Feel Competition.

Passenger traffic on the Southern Pacific is continuing to suffer from automobile, airplane and Panama Canal competition said Paul Shoup, executive vice president. Outlook for freight traffic on the Pacific Coast, he said, was fair for the rest of the year.

NO. 569.

AN ORDINANCE — Authorizing and directing the Mayor and the Director of the Department of Public Works to enter into an agreement with the Pittsburgh Railways Company for the reconstruction of a certain portion of the retaining wall on and along the northerly line of Warrington avenue.

WHEREAS—Ordinance No. 164, approved March 27th, 1928, authorizes the reconstruction of retaining wall on Warrington avenue, between a point 131.4 feet eastwardly from the easterly curb line of Montooth street, thence extending in an easterly direction along said northerly line of said Warrington avenue for a distance of 90 feet, and in conformity therewith the Department of Public Works has prepared contract plans and are ready to advertise for proposals and award a contract or contracts therefor, and

WHEREAS—Due to the proximity of a 72-inch diameter brick sewer, the design of wall necessitated an extension of the footing of the retaining wall on a strip 4 feet 6 inches in width in a tract of land owned by the Pittsburgh Railways Company, said tract or parcel of land being situated in the Nineteenth Ward of the City of Pittsburgh, Allegheny County, Pennsylvania, and bounded on the south by the northerly line of Warrington avenue and extending in an easterly and westerly direction beyond the center line projected in a northerly direction of Belmont street and Montooth street, respectively, and,

WHEREAS—The City of Pittsburgh desires to secure the consent of the Pittsburgh Railways Company to erect, maintain and use said footing on said land of the Pittsburgh Railways Company in the location shown on Plan, Acc. No. GL-452 in the location shown in red on blueprint copy of plan of the Bureau of Engineering, of the City of Pittsburgh, dated June 4th, 1928, and revised June 20th, 1928, attached hereto and made a part thereof, and the Pittsburgh Railways Company is willing to grant such license and permission subject to the conditions and terms hereinafter mentioned.

Section 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the City of Pittsburgh in Council assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same. That the Mayor and the Director of the Department of Public Works be and they are hereby authorized and directed to enter into an agreement on behalf of the City of Pittsburgh with the Pittsburgh Railways Company, said agreement to be in the following form, to-wit:

ARTICLES OF AGREEMENT.

Made and entered into this ...... day of .... 1928, by and between the Pittsburgh Railways Company, a corporation of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, hereinafter referred to as "Licensor," party of the first part, and The City of Pittsburgh, a municipal corporation of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, hereinafter referred to as "Licensee", party of the second part.

WITNESSETH.

That the Licensor for and in consideration of the sum of One ($1.00) Dollar, to it paid, the receipt of which is hereby acknowledged, does hereby give and grant unto the Licensee license and permission to erect, maintain and use said footing on said land of the Licensor in the location shown in red on blueprint of the Bureau of Engineering of the City of Pittsburgh dated June 4, 1928, and revised June 20, 1928, attached hereto and made a part hereof.

This license and permission is given upon the following terms and conditions which the Licensee agrees to keep and perform.

FIRST. All work shall be done under the direction of the Superintendent of Way of the Licensor, or such person as he may designate, who shall direct the time and manner of doing the work, which shall be so done and completed as not to interfere either during the progress of the work, or afterwards with the free and safe passage of cars upon the tracks of the Licensor, providing, however, that nothing in this paragraph contained or any acts done by or on behalf of the Licensor in the way of the direction of the work shall in any way modify, effect or alter the obligations of the Licensee under the provisions of Paragraph "Fourth" hereof.

SECOND. All the costs and charges of whatsoever nature caused by doing the work, including the cost to the Licensor of inspectors and watchmen placed upon the work while the same is in progress shall be borne by the Licensee and all bills rendered therefor from time to time by the Licensor shall be paid by the Licensee within a reasonable time after receipt thereof. In event the Licensee shall fail or neglect to do any of the things herein set forth, the Licensor shall have the privilege and right to do said work forthwith and the Licensee covenants and agrees to reimburse the Licensor for any and all expenditures in connection therewith on presentation of bill or bills therefor.

THIRD. All the terms and conditions of Paragraphs "First" and "Second" hereof shall apply as well to any work done by the Licensee in maintaining and repairing said footings.

FOURTH. The Licensee agrees to prosecute said work at all times in a careful manner, so as not to cause nor contribute to the causing of damage to any property or injury to the passengers and employes of the Licensor, or any person or persons lawfully upon or using the place of work and streets or highways adjacent thereto. For all damage done to any persons or property as aforesaid, the Licensee shall indemnify and save harmless the said Licensor.

The Licensee hereby assumes any and all risk of damage or injury to its property and agrees to indemnify and save harmless the Licensor, its successors, and assigns, and each of them from and against all damage, claims, suits, costs and expenses of every kind or character which may arise or result from the installation, maintenance, presence, use, renewal or removal of said wall and footing.

FIFTH. Upon completion of the said work of erecting the footings and wall, the Licensee hereby agrees, at its own cost and expense to remove all debris, excavated earth and refuse from the premises of the Licensor and leave the said premises in a condition satisfactory to the said Superintendent of Way of the Licensor.

SIXTH. It is understood and agreed that nothing herein contained shall be deemed to give the Licensee a permanent right or easement on said land and that the license and permit herein granted by the Licensor shall be revocable or terminable at any time by the Licensor upon giving to the Licensee three (3) months written notice to vacate said land, whereupon the Licensee shall, within the said three (3) months, remove the said footings and all material used in connection therewith and restore the land to its former condition.

SEVENTH. This agreement shall be binding upon and inure to the benefit of all the parties hereto, their respective successors, leasees and assigns.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties have executed this agreement all done the day and year first above written.

Bus Charge Here Gives Double of Fair Return

A study of the financial statement of the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company discloses that it had a return on investment of 12.49 per cent in 1927, instead of 11 per cent, as was stated in one of the early articles the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph has been publishing about the injustice of the 25-cent bus fare here. This, too, based on a depreciation charge that creates an equipment replacement surplus in four years, whereas experience in other cities, where they charge a dime for a 'bus ride, shows that the vehicles last six to ten years.

The company must expect to hear eventually protests from businessmen of Pittsburgh. Unless they voluntarily modify their rates, which certainly would seem the proper way to retain public good will, there will be a movement to force a fair charge, with consequent ill-feeling on both sides. The carrier cannot say that there is any necessity to maintain a charge that makes the public pay it an earning that is twice what would be fair gain for a utilities company.

The public has been patient in submitting to the overcharge, but it cannot be expected to pay two and a half times what the same service costs in other cities and continue to be patient. Businessmen will not be content forever to see the carrier placing a tax on business by imposing an excessive 'bus rate on persons en route to do their shopping as well as on those going to and from their daily work.

Saturday Last Day To Register as Voter

Keep Saturday, October 6, in mind as a date on which you have a duty to perform—providing you have not attended to it already. The coming Saturday is the final day for registration in order to cast your vote Tuesday, November 6. There already has been a heavy enrollment, the record of the first two days indicating that the number of voters this year would be greater than ever.

A special effort has been made this year to stir the interest of citizens and to make them realize that the good citizen is a voter. It is hoped that no person privileged to vote will fail to qualify for that prime duty of a real American.

Gene Tunney Disguised

"A Goldfish in a Bowl."

TUNNEY, WITH SPECTACLES TO DISGUISE HIM.

Mr. Tunney, retired heavyweight champion of the world, and earnest Shakespearean student, complains of "too much attention."

In England, to escape notoriety, he wore a loose suit, a hat that came far down on his forehead, and big goggles, with plain glass. His sight is perfect.

When asked why he didn't want people to see him, he said, "I am tired of it, I feel like a goldfish in a bowl."

You know the goldfish in a bowl floats round and round, in plain sight of everybody.

Every man has a right to feel as he chooses.

But, if instead of feeling like a goldfish in a bowl, Mr. Tunney were like most humans, he would find notoriety not so unpleasant.

To be absolutely unnoticed does not suit the average man. People struggle to get into the limelight and onto the front page.

After you get there it is easy and customary to say, "Please respect my privacy." By and by, when Gene Tunney no longer interests the crowd, he may long for the day when he was the big goldfish.

Usury the Fashion

How About Bigger Interest on Savings?

Some savings banks announce interest for the full time of deposit, beginning the day money is put in the bank. This becomes feasible, presumably, when that same saving money earning 4 per cent at most can be lent "on call" for 9 per cent or lent for regular business purposes for 7½ per cent.

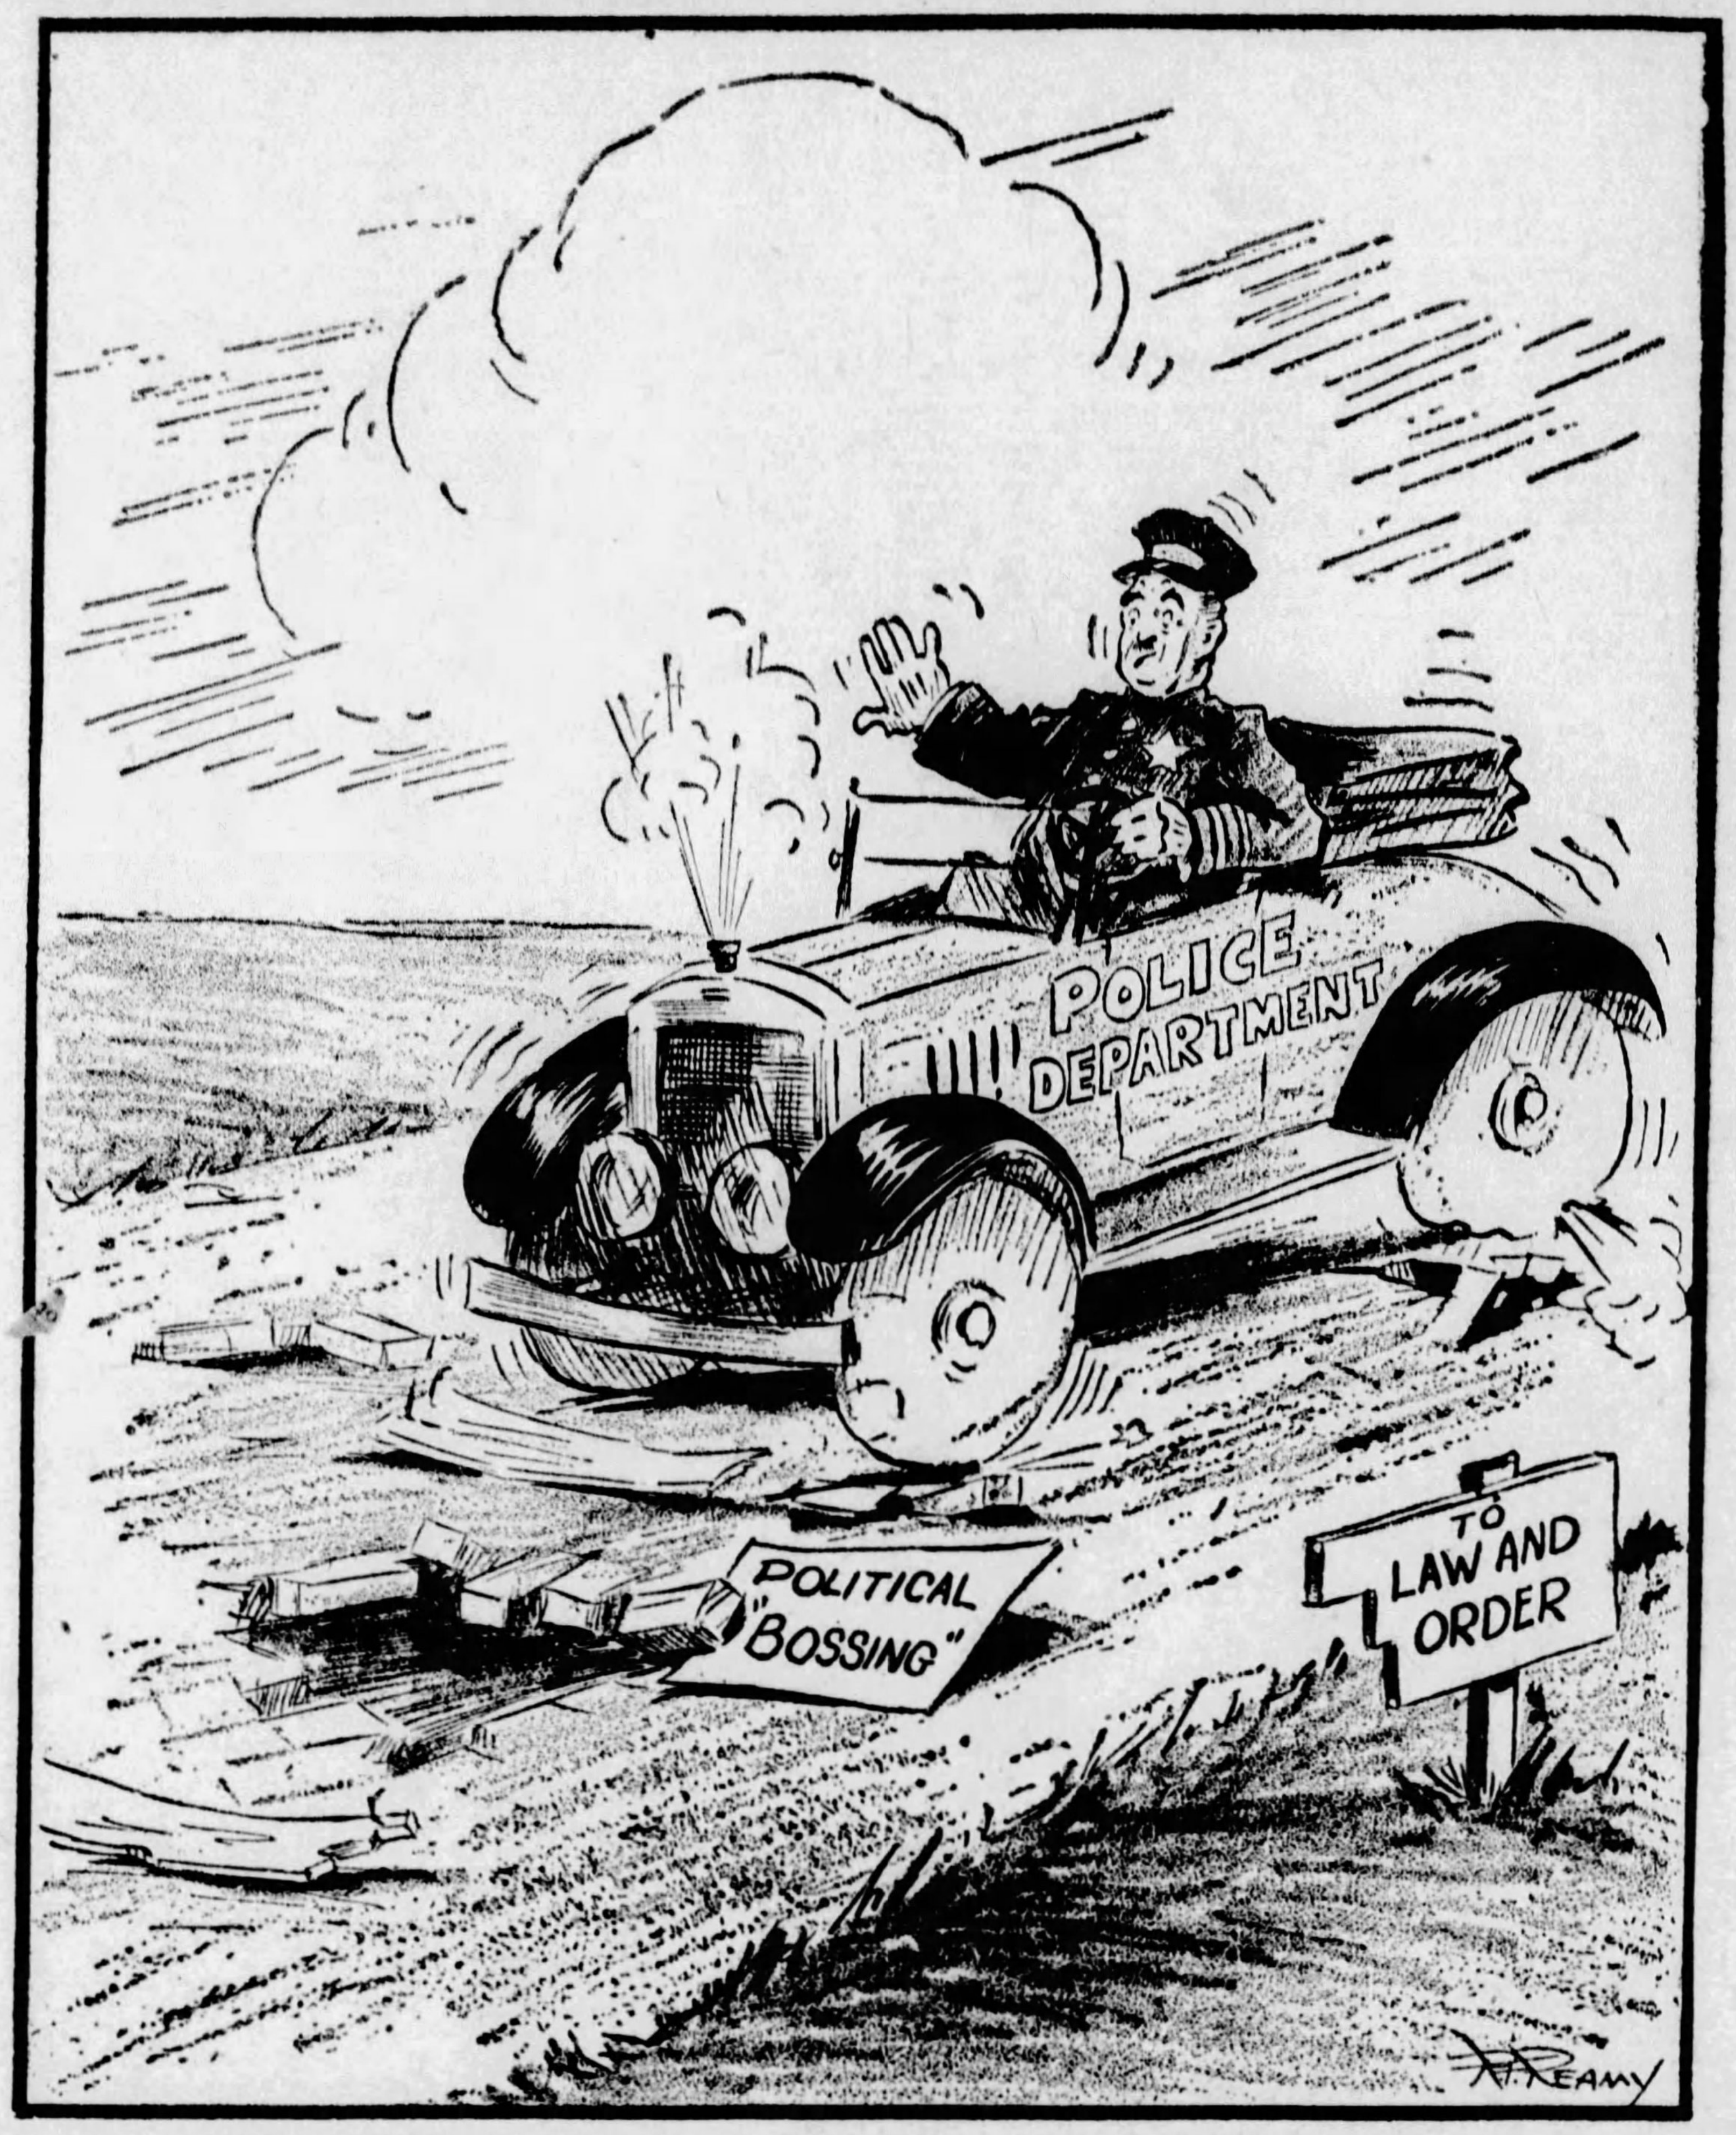
Possibly some financier will find a way to give savings bank depositors a little more interest, since usury seems to be the fashion in the United States. Or is the little man, as the politician put it, "only there to be worked."

SUN-TELEGRAPH'S PLATFORM

For Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania

1—A better, cleaner, more beautiful city.
2—Settlement of coal strike.
3—Rapid transit.
4—Repeal or modification of "blue law."
5—Establishment of Pittsburgh metropolitan district.
6—Community Fund for charities.
7—Town Hall, seating at least 15,000.
8—Voting machines to insure honest elections.
9—Development of river transportation.

ROAD IMPROVEMENT NEEDED!



Garrett P. Serviss Says:

The Worker and the Hunter

"HARVEST MOON," September 29, a week after the autumnal equinox; "Hunter's Moon," October 28, a month later than the Harvest Moon. Here astronomy becomes poetic, if anywhere. It is the poetry of Virgil's delightful country scenes under the aegis of Roman peace, and of country life under the stars everywhere and in all times.

When the autumn harvests come on, while the heats of July and August are tempered into the delicious warmth of the "Indian summer" (a traditional season of undetermined location in time, except that it is an autumnal phenomenon), the course of the moon is such that the part of her orbit opposite to the sun lies in northern latitudes, nearly parallel to the eastern horizon.

Since the moon is necessarily "full" when opposite the sun, it follows that, at this time the full moon appears each evening for several successive days at not very far from the same hour after sunset. Thus her light prolongs that of day, poured from her full round orb in golden splendor over the autumn harvest fields, thereby enabling farmers (at least farmers of the old kind) to continue their labors uninterrupted in the cooling breath of the coming night, an hour or more after sunset. Perhaps the workers in the fields who take advantage of this celestial favor have become almost as much of a poetic tradition as the Harvest Moon herself. Still, I have no doubt they exist somewhere.

The date of the Harvest Moon varies from year to year. There are two considerations which determine it: First, it must be a full moon; second, it is the full moon whose date happens to fall nearest to the autumnal equinox, i. e., to September 22. (The date of the equinox itself moves back and forth a trifle). Sometimes it is the full moon preceding the equinox that gets the distinguished title; sometimes, as this year, the one following the equinox.

A month later, the moon is still to be found in that region of the ecliptic which has in the autumn but a small inclination to the eastern horizon, so that then again the full moon is seen rising for several evenings so near the same hour that, like the Harvest Moon, it may be said to prolong the light of day. This is called the "Hunter's Moon," for it is (at least poetically) supposed to favor the hunter looking for his game in the shadows of the autumn trees and along the borders of the cornfields where "coons" and other interesting predatories of the four-footed world are apt to undertake their inroads. The thrills of a "coon hunt" under the gilding rays of the Hunter's Moon are among the joys of country life that have now, in all probability, become almost unknown in the transformed East, though they may, I hope, still be experienced in the agricultural West. Wherever they may exist they are closely associated with the romance of the Indian corn, the apple harvest and the cider season—but, alas! Where is the old cider mill now? Retreated into shadows that even the light of the brightest moon cannot penetrate.

Proud Bathing

PARISIANS, counting one and all, take on an average three baths a year. Yet Paris is the cleanest city in the world in appearance and its health record is very high. Daily bathing, in fact, is a matter of comfort more than of essential cleanliness; and in winter it is not even a comfort, often. A hot bath in winter is more likely to result in colds than sponging off, after the English fashion. Appreciation of the fact that multiplying the number of bathrooms in a private house is an illustration of what Prof. Veblen once called "conspicuous waste" is shown in the reminiscence of an Illinois legislator who was once defeated for reelection because he built himself a new house and it got about that he had six bathrooms in it.

Isn't It So?

Once Overs

By J. J. MUNDY

Be Enthusiastic

HAVE you reached the point where you cannot become enthusiastic over anything?

Every avenue that might have provided a "kick" you have traveled.

Your disappointments have been so many that nothing ahead thrills you.

In your business have you been so hard, and so set, and so driving and engrossed that you feel as if you were in a treadmill that can be halted only when nature refuses to go?

But that is a poor way to look at life and the things in which you are engaged.

Not so many persons but can get excited over something.

Yes, some are so insincere that there is no opportunity for them really to be enthusiastic.

Many think enthusiasm a revelation of childishness.

But there's not much to live for when enthusiasm is dead.

When joy of this kind leaves the heart, it is barren.

What has the world in store for the person who can't be thrilled?

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELS

The Bluebird

THE courtyard is a narrow place,
Its smoke-dimmed walls are high;
Its one poor tree, devoid of grace,
Can faintly glimpse the sky.

Yet, winging hither day by day,
A joyous bluebird sails
To make once-weary hours gay
With fair and glowing tales.

His song is of sweet orchard ways,
A steep hill's wooded crest,
And, perched within a leafy maze,
A safely-hidden nest.

The court is dim, the walls are high,
Yet, when the bluebird sings
His lyric brings wide sweep of sky
And stir of mother-wings.

Where Candor Pays

LET a husband playfully introduce friend wife as his daughter and she is pleased. Yet in this era of equal rights the converse is not always true.

Recently a wife, it is charged, sought to pose friend husband as her father, and now the two are in a divorce court.

Perhaps the safest rule, after all, is: Be yourself.

Great Passages from the Bible

"What Is Man?"

(Psalm 8)

O LORD our Lord, how excellent is thy name in all the earth! who hast set thy glory above the heavens.

Out of the mouth of babes and sucklings hast thou ordained strength because of thine enemies, that thou mightest still the enemy and the avenger.

When I consider thy heavens, the work of thy fingers, the moon and the stars, which thou hast ordained;

What is man, that thou are mindful of him? and the son of man, that thou visitest him?

For thou hast made him a little lower than the angels, and hast crowned him with glory and honour.

Thou madest him to have dominion over the works of thy hands; thou hast put all things under his feet:

All sheep and oxen, yea, and the beasts of the field;

The fowl of the air, and the fish of the sea, and whatsoever passeth through the paths of the seas.

O Lord our Lord, how excellent is thy name in all the earth!

Tales that are Told

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

THEY tell a lot of stories about how unreasonable women are. I guess they ain't half as unreasonable as they are said to be, but it's a mighty good superstition to keep to it anyhow. It gives the man an awful good out in case of trouble.

Well, this here Mrs. Jackson had just recently got married. She called up her husband at his office and said she wanted him to go out shopping with her, and he said all right, and so they made a date for him to meet her on the corner at 1:30.

She got there at 2:30, just an hour late. She says to him, "Oh, I'm awful sorry that I kept you waiting so long!"

He says, kinda gay like, "Oh, I ain't been waiting I just got here 10 minutes ago."

Then she kind of started to crying, and when he asked her what was the matter, she said, 'I thought all the time that you loved me, and here you promised to meet me at 1:30 and don't get here until 10 minutes to half past two! I don't think you can love me very much, or you would be here when you said you would!"

How She Put It

LITTLE Lucy had been punished by her mother for breaking one of her toys.

The little girl took herself off to indulge in childish tears, and when her father came home he was quick to note her tear-stained face.

"What's the matter, Lucy?" he asked.

"Nuffin', nuffin'," replied his daughter sorrowfully.

"Oh, all right. If you must know, I've just been having a row with your wife."

The Klan Sign

"MAN," whispered Mose. "I've discovered de headquarters ob de Ku Klux Klan."

"Where?" gasped Sam.

"Two blocks down on de right."

"Why dat ain't no headquarters. Dat's a beauty parlor."

"Huh," said Mose. "Dat am no place for colored people. If yo value your life, you'll stay away from dat place. I'se done read de sign. It says, 'Blackheads Removed Here.'"

Good for the Ailment

Eph—Good foh it? Ah should say so! Dem ole pains jes' been gettin' stronger an' stronger till Ize got de mos' interestin' case ob rheumatiz anywhere aroun' de doctah say.

New York Day by Day

by O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—New York is often hootingly dubbed the most inhospitable American city. The stranger, upon stepping from his train or steamer, is popularly supposed to be taken over the jumps by everybody from the taxi gypper to the Broadway racketeer.

The truth is that no other city has such a tax upon its hospitality or responds so gallantly. There are, exclusive of commuters, about 75,000 visitors daily streaming into our midst, expecting to be entertained by friends and acquaintances.

Their attitude is: "Well, here we are" and they expect the cliff dwellers to do their stuff. Now in the smallest communities people have engagements as a rule for several days ahead, and in cities, on account of distances and multiple activities, often weeks ahead.

Not much of a gad-about, I have at the moment engagements that require my attention for the next 10 days. Yet the average visitor will call up from the station to announce he is in town and what form of Old Harry will be raised tonight.

It is, as a rule, the suggestion to attend the reigning theatrical hit, seats for which at the outside cannot be secured in less than a week, and spend the rest of the night in a scamper juice den. If the native hems and haws he finds a decided drop in temperature, and later hears he has grown terrifically high hat.

Despite all this, life in New York consists largely in entertaining out-of-town friends. The burden falls heaviest on those who live in tiny apartments and must sleep on the floor or in the kitchen sink to make the visitor comfortable.

It takes many years for the New Yorker to tire of entertaining his out-of-town visitors. There is an endless thrill in revealing the wonders of the metropolis. New York would not be the same without this feature. But the visitor should display the same consideration he expects of the New Yorker who visits him.

The New Yorker who calls up a friend in another city usually receives a hearty, "Glad you are here," and a vague intimation that "we must get together." But reverse the situation and the visitor to New York is hurt if he does not receive a spot invitation to don the war paint that very evening.

* * *

An example of quick thinking was displayed by a banquet speaker the other evening. In the midst of his talk, an excited guest saw a mouse and could not refrain from pointing and shouting: "There goes a mouse!" When the assemblage looked the mouse was gone. "Please pardon the condition of my esteemed friend," said the speaker quickly, and went on with his speech. Trigger stuff!

* * *

The latest in heaven-knows-what was displayed in a supper rendezvous the other evening when a lady wearing glasses with tortoise shell rims flecked with chip diamonds popped in.

And according to a Broadway dentist there have been three burlesque ladies in the past year who have diamonds set in their teeth.

* * *

The most entrancing figure of childhood memory was a burly steamboat mate with every tooth capped with gold. He was known locally as "Youkon Charlie," and the legend was he had mined the gold for his teeth in Alaska. He was a rare favorite with ladies of the levee—a Cameo Kirby of his day. We often wonder what his status would be today with gold teeth not rated so hot among ladies.

Socrates and America

By DR. FRANK CRANE.

One of the best criticisms of our times and manners consists in imagining what another person wholly removed from us in time and place would think of us.

It is a favorite device to imagine how a man from Mars might look at us were he among us. And if a man of 50,000 years ahead of this time were to move among us what would he think of us?

It is no less diverting to think how a man who lived some years before Christ would regard us.

A series of books have been appearing during the last few years which have stimulated a good deal of thinking.

An interesting volume is "Plato's American Republic," by Douglas Woodruff, one of the cleverest volumes in the whole stimulating series.

He "looks into" the American attitude toward women, wealth, advertising, education, public opinion and government.

He notes our reverence for large numbers, for facts rather than ideas, and concludes to his friends that the way to get a hearing in the United States is: First, proclaim yourself an expert, and second, call everything you say the facts.

When he addressed the Hootsville Business Men's Club at its weekly noon gathering and attempted to treat the failings of Hootsville in an impartial, Socratic manner, he barely escaped with his life.

In fact, Xantippe, who accompanied him, made a far bigger hit with the American public.

She lectured on woman's rights, and belabored Socrates before the woman's clubs from coast to coast. When she returned to Athens she carried a monster scrapbook filled with favorable press clippings.

Summing up, Socrates says that nowhere in the world "is there so much fellow feeling and willingness to help combined with so much competitiveness and so great a desire to excel in contests."

But, he concludes that the only way to introduce philosophy is to inaugurate a Philosophy Week with the slogan: "Philosophy is the Key to Bigger and Better Business."

Gilbert Chesterton says somewhere that satire that condemns everything misses the mark, for to reach the secret foibles that men recognize themselves it must "pass and salute a whole army of virtues."

OH, THESE WOMEN

By LEOLA ALLARD.

A BLACK Chow dog in New York is so dearly loved by both Mr. and Mrs. Alex Pagel that now that they are separated, the dog divides his time between them, living six months with each of them during the year.

Isn't that just too sweet? It's time for Mrs. Pagel to have the chow now, and she's all athrill over his home-coming.

Would they be reunited and remarried, because they couldn't be away from the dog six months? No indeed, Mrs. Pagel says that she no longer is interested in matrimony. She wants a career.

Madison avenue in New York is lined with lovely little shops, some of them no bigger that closets, where women are having careers, selling glass, wall paper, gowns, hats, jewelry, antiques—and dogs.

As soon as one shop dies, another one something like it pops up. And that happens often. A new shop on the avenue is a gamble.

On a street down near the river there are crowded together hundreds of families, all with children, many, many children, and they play in the streets. Keeping them fed and clothed, and out from under trucks, and keeping some of them clean and in school, is a job that doesn't give these mothers any spare time.

But, there isn't any gamble about their business. They are in it to stick till they die, or the children grow up and leave them. They have no choice unless they are quitters and they almost never are that.

They don't look pretty like the women in shops, and they don't go to the theaters and fashionable cafes, but when they all gather to eat sop and bread, the children say such funny, surprising things, and when the small ones crawl into an ample lap and fall aslee so warm and soft, and arms are so clinging and helpless, that any one of these mothers will tell you their job is the greatest job on earth. The income is, of course, ONLY love and kisses.

Women who choose careers like this, look at the women in shops, with the hair line eyebrows, smart frocks and finger waves, then squeeze the little hand in theirs and smile sympathetically.

Mothers always feel a little bit sorry for the childless women with "business" ambitions.

I have in mind now a woman with four little dogs (a colored maid walks them morning and evening). She has an apartment with Chinese red taffeta curtains, black satin pillows, a dressing table with five kinds of rouge and lipstick, and the snippy air of a mannikin.

Don't tell anybody, but I saw the colored maid slap one of the pups yesterday when she got out of sight of home, and the only reason she picked on the pup was that she couldn't slap her income. She petted him afterward, and I suppose she was sorry, but it was one of those irresistable impulses. Can't you understand?

Chasing Time

NOW, that the airplane, as developed in America and piloted by American aviators, has made it possible to have luncheon in Los Angeles and breakfast the next day in New York—what next?

Aero Digest, that entertaining, intelligent champion of things aeronautical, ventures the prediction that "within another year pilots and passengers will breakfast in Los Angeles and have luncheon in New York."

It says: "Give these American air engineers and pilots enough encouragement, and they'll accomplish anything—and then some."
